KILL TWO WHITES AND SIX NEGROES IN FLORIDA RIOT

ONE CAUGHT AND LYNCHED

NEGRESS REPORTED SLAIN

She Was Said to Have Been in Burning House—Two White Victims Were Soldiers.

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 3.—The full casualty list at Ocoee, twelve miles from here, where two whites were shot to death and one negro lynched yesterday in an election riot, and several other negroes perished when the buildings in which they sought shelter were burned, had not reached here tonight. Armed whites were reported patrolling the region and closing in on negroes who fled to the woods, the pursuit being accompanied by intermittent firing.

More than twenty buildings in the negro settlement were burned. Reports from Ocoee tonight said that explosions of considerable amounts of ammunition occurred as the flames swept the buildings and that numerous firearms were found in the ruins later. Some reports said five negroes died in the flames. One negro woman was among those, it was said, but no children.

The battle was precipitated by the attempt of July Perry, a negro, to vote after he had been refused the privilege by election judges on the ground that he had not paid his poll tax. He returned later, armed with a shotgun; but it was taken from him and he was driven away.

After dark last night, according to reports from the scene, Perry again approached the polls, accompanied by a number of other negroes. The white citizens at once formed a posse and dispersed the negroes, who fled to the negro settlement. The posse followed and witnesses said the negroes opened fire from the buildings. A member of the posse was wounded, but reinforcements arrived and it proceeded when the firing became general.

The attackers centred on Perry's house, intent on his arrest. Two of the whites, Leo Borgard and Elmer McDaniels, both former soldiers, were killed in the backyard of the house, their bodies being found hours later. A negro woman said seven or eight armed negroes were in the Perry house, which ultimately was set on fire to dislodge them, the flames spreading to other buildings.

Perry himself apparently was captured and later taken by a mob and lynched. It was stated tonight that he was taken from an automobile in which he was being carried to the jail after having been treated at a hospital. Details of his capture were lacking.

4 OF 'WILLFUL TWELVE' REMAIN IN THE SENATE

The Others Denounced by Wilson Have Gone or Will Retire on March 4.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Only one member of the "little group of willful men," denounced by President Wilson on the night of his inauguration for a second term because of their opposition to his armed ship bill, was a candidate for re-election to the Senate on Tuesday. This was Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, who, in spite of early reports indicating that the chances of his election were poor, managed to come through with a handsome majority.

Of the original group, twelve in number, five were Democrats and seven Republicans. Four of the Democrats are either dead or not members of the Senate now. Of the seven Republicans five, including Cummins, are still in the Senate, but one of them will retire with the end of the present Congress, March 4, 1921. The one Democrat of the group who remains in the Senate, Kirby of Arkansas, was defeated for renomination this year and will retire next March.

Of the other Democrats, Stone of Missouri and Lane of Oregon are dead, Vardaman of Mississippi was defeated for renomination prior to the present campaign, O'Gorman of New York retired from the Senate.

Of the Republicans, La Follette of Wisconsin is still serving the term, which began on the day President Wilson issued his denunciatory statement. Kenyon of Iowa and Norris of Nebraska were re-elected to the Senate after the President denounced them, and are still serving in that body. Works of California retired voluntarily and Clapp of Minnesota was defeated for renomination. Gronna of North Dakota will retire in March, having been defeated for re-election.

On inauguration night, 1917, President Wilson issued a statement concerning the filibuster engineered by La Follette, which blocked action in the Senate on the armed ship resolution. The President said in his statement that more than 500 of the 531 members of Congress were ready and anxious to act on the measure, that the House had already acted and that the Senate was ready to act.

"A little group of willful men, representing no opinion but their own," he said, "have rendered the great Government of the United States helpless and contemptible."

When the men who had participated in the filibuster had been counted it was found that there was an even dozen of them, and they became known throughout the country as "the willful twelve."

Soviet Reply on Submarines Unsatisfactory to Britain

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Replying to the Russian Soviet Government's recent note concerning the operation of submarines by the Soviet navy, Earl Curzon of Kedleston, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, says the British Government's belief in the proposed aggressive action of the submarines was based on a Soviet Minister's statement when the submarines were launched in the Black Sea that he hoped they would sink Entente vessels.

The British Government, Earl Curzon added, did not feel justified in running any risk, and now had found its fears confirmed by the vague statement of the Soviet note, which would permit of a Soviet submarine torpedoing a British ship under the excuse of mistaken identity.

The note asserts that the Soviet forces in the Black Sea are still engaged in acts of open hostility against British interests, and it demands definite assurances.

A LONE DEMOCRAT IN JERSEY HOUSE

One Also Is Elected to the State Senate and One to the New Congress.

HARDING WINS BY 280,045

Hudson County Swept Into Republican Column—Warren Alone Is Democratic.

The election results in New Jersey are notable for a situation which is without parallel in the history of the Legislature of that State. One lone Democrat, who has succeeded in getting elected to the Assembly, is Harry Runyon of Warren County. The smallest previous minority was in 1914, when the Democrats had fourteen members in the Assembly.

Efforts to obtain light on the identity of the Democratic standard bearer in the New Jersey Assembly last night were not fruitful. But at Trenton the report has been spread that Mr. Runyon was a minister.

Mr. Runyon defeated John H. Hoyt, Republican.

Under normal legislative procedure, Mr. Runyon is entitled to become a minority member of every committee of the House. It will be his duty, as the only Democrat in the House, to nominate a candidate for Speaker.

Only one Democratic candidate was elected to the State Senate. He was Thomas Barber, also of Warren County. With five holdovers he will give the Democrats a vote of 6 to 15.

The county which the Assemblyman and Senator will represent is one of the middle-belt counties, and with Hunterdon, which adjoins, is known as the most stalwart Democratic county in New Jersey, yet it has gone for Harding. It embraces a rural community, and is not very populous, and probably never has elected a Republican.

Returns from 1,093 out of 2,040 election districts in New Jersey gave Senator Harding a plurality of 280,045 and indicated the election of eleven of New Jersey's twelve Congressmen. Every one of the State's twenty-one counties was carried by the Republicans, including Hudson, heretofore considered to be a Democratic stronghold. The one Democratic Congressman is Charles F. O'Brien of the Twelfth District.

W. Irving Glover, of Bergen County, Speaker of the Assembly, was returned by a large majority, and Clarence E. Case, President of the Senate, also was reseated.

Princeton, the home of President Wilson, was deluged by the Republican tidal wave. The Seventh Election District, in which the President's vote was cast, was carried by Senator Harding by 518 to 145, or more than two to one. This is normally a strong Democratic District, but Mayor Charles Brown, Democratic candidate, was able to carry it by only two votes.

Although the Hudson County situation had been regarded as hopeless by the Republicans, it ran true to its Democratic form only in the early returns. Later tabulations indicated the Harding and Coolidge plurality would be at least 10,000, while Elijah C. Hutchinson, Republican candidate for Congress, and the entire list of Assembly candidates would be elected.

Complete returns from Newark, the most populous city in the State, show Harding has a plurality of 74,408.

It is being rumored that the Republican victory in New Jersey will be seized upon by the dry forces to have the Legislature pass a resolution favoring the Eighteenth Amendment, and it is further reported that the prohibition element will try to induce the Legislature to enact a measure in conformity with the Volstead act. By some, the landslide is regarded as a rebuke to Governor Edwards.

In a statement yesterday morning, Governor Edwards said:

"Governor Cox made a valiant fight against tremendous odds. It is evident the people desire a change in the administration of their national affairs. As good Americans, we must bow to the will of the electorate and join hands in an effort to enhance the prospects of the country."

The election officials of New Jersey were so overwhelmed with the task of tabulating the returns that they made no effort to announce the results of the two Statewide referendums.

Little doubt was expressed that the proposition for a $35,000,000 bond issue to pay the State's share in constructing the Inter-State vehicular tunnel under the Hudson River and the Philadelphia-Camden bridge will pass. Both projects are covered by one measure. The result of the vote on the soldier bonus is still in doubt.

ROOT PICKED FOR CABINET

Offers to Lowden, Hoover and Sutherland Also Expected.

WOOD IS BEING CONSIDERED

TALK OF HONOR TO SIMS

He May Be Made Chief of Operations—Harding Not to Attend Senate.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—So confident was Senator Harding that he would be elected President that some time before Election Day he began to take counsel over the selection of his Cabinet. Senator Harding has indicated that he intended to have a Cabinet composed of men of such proved ability that it would have the confidence of the country, and his discussion of the subject with prominent Republicans has shown that he was adhering to that intention.

It has been understood also that Senator Harding would announce his selections before the day of his inauguration as President, March 4, 1921, in order that the people might have an opportunity of expressing sentiment over his choice of official advisers.

Information which comes to THE TIMES from the best informed sources goes to show that Senator Harding has practically determined to offer three of the Cabinet posts to the following:

Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, Secretary of the Treasury.

Herbert Hoover of California, some portfolio that will give him an opportunity to display his ability as a business administrator, probably Secretary of Commerce.

Post to be Offered to Sutherland.

Ex-Senator George Sutherland of Utah, one of Senator Harding's advisers in the Presidential campaign, is also to receive an offer of a Cabinet position. It is the understanding that Mr. Sutherland will be asked to become Attorney General unless Mr. Root declines the offer of the portfolio of State, in which event Mr. Sutherland is likely to receive this senior Cabinet post.

The name of Major General Leonard Wood is under serious consideration by Senator Harding in connection with the position of Secretary of War. Ex-Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts is regarded as "a very likely possibility" for the Secretaryship of the Navy by those with whom the President-elect has consulted.

Two former leaders in the Progressive Party are believed to be under consideration by President-elect Harding for Cabinet places. One of them is Walter F. Brown of Ohio, who was Chairman of the Ohio Republican State Committee from 1906 to 1912. He quit the Republican Party in 1912 and espoused the cause of Theodore Roosevelt in his contest for President as a Progressive. He became Chairman of the Progressive State Central and Executive Committee of Ohio and, was a member of the Progressive National Executive Committee. Mr. Brown practices law at Massillon and is widely known throughout the Buckeye State.

The other former Progressive who appears to be in Senator Harding's mind as a Cabinet possibility is Raymond Robins of Illinois, a social economist, who went into the Progressive Party with Roosevelt in 1912 and attracted much attention by his energetic support of Bull Moose principles. He was Chairman of the Illinois State Central Committee of the Progressive Party in 1912 and was the defeated Progressive candidate for United States Senator in his State in 1914.

Mr. Robins went to Russia in 1917 as a member of the American Red Cross Mission and subsequently became its commander. "Who's Who in America" says of him that he is an "advocate of organized labor and land value taxation." Mr. Robins took a deep interest in the Russian revolutionary movement. The supposition is that he is in President-elect Harding's mind in connection with the post of Secretary of Labor.

Believe Root Reluctant.

Among some of those who have knowledge of Senator Harding's Cabinet intentions the belief prevails that Mr. Root will not be inclined to accept again the office of Secretary of State, in which he served under President Roosevelt, resigning a few months before the beginning of President Taft's Administration to become Senator from New York. It is said that Mr. Root's family is opposed to having him again enter public life.

Champ Clark Is Defeated In Race for Congress

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 3.—Champ Clark of Bowling Green, Mo., veteran and former Speaker of the House of Representatives, to which he has been elected more times than the average voter can remember, tonight surrendered his post of honor to Te W. Hukreide of Warrenton, Mo., young Republican candidate in the Ninth Missouri District.

Facing a handicap of 5,000 votes with five-sixths of the precincts in his district in—including Democratic strongholds—Mr. Clark sent a telegram to Hukreide congratulating the Republican "on his victory." Two hundred and twenty of the 268 precincts had given Hukreide a vote of 30,421 to Mr. Clark's 25,679 before backers of the incumbent admitted he had fought a losing battle.

MESSAGES FLOOD PRESIDENT-ELECT

GLAD OF CONGRESS GAINS

He Considers Them of Prime Importance—Would End Sectionalism and Court South.

Special to The New York Times.

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 3.—Senator Harding's chief interest today lay in studying the Congressional returns, and he expressed pleasure that he would have a clear working majority in both houses to co-operate with the Executive.

The President-elect has already intimated that he will not concern himself with the selection of a Cabinet and other important Federal appointments until about the middle of December, when he returns from a holiday in Texas and the Panama Canal Zone.

Senator Harding repeatedly has said that he had made no pre-election promises and that he had not pledged himself to any appointments. He has promised, however, in campaign speeches to reduce by several hundred thousand the number of Federal employes in Washington, and this reduction may serve to hasten the scramble of would-be office holders and intensify political pressure brought to bear on Mr. Harding in the matter of Presidential appointments.

Despite the number of prominent men that have visited Marion during the campaign, few have remained with the Senator to advise with him concerning matters with which they are familiar long enough to warrant any safe predictions that they may be considered as Cabinet possibilities.

Three Cabinet Possibilities.

Since the beginning of the campaign Henry C. Wallace, editor of Wallace's Farmer, of Des Moines, Iowa, has been mentioned as a possible Secretary of Agriculture. He has had charge of the Farm Bureau at Republican National Headquarters, he has been consulted frequently by Senator Harding in the preparation of agricultural addresses, and since he is not only the editor of an important farm journal but a practical farmer as well, he fulfills Senator Harding's requirement of a "real dirt farmer" as Secretary of Agriculture.

Former Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts is available as a Cabinet officer. The fact that he is connected with the banking firm of Hornblower & Weeks might have some effect upon his being considered for appointment as Secretary of the Treasury.

Senator Harding has shown high regard for Mr. Weeks's peace reconstruction policies. Frequently during the campaign Senator Harding attacked the Administration for discouraging the Weeks bill, introduced in the Senate just before the armistice, which called for "preparation for peace" by a detailed study by experts of the reconstruction problems confronting the country. On the other hand, as Mr. Weeks is a graduate of Annapolis and served as a member of the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, he has been mentioned in gossip around Harding headquarters as of especial fitness for the position of Secretary of the Navy.

Former Senator George Sutherland of Utah, who spent several months at Marion advising Senator Harding on campaign matters, is another outstanding Cabinet possibility. Senator Harding has shown regard for his judgment. An eminent lawyer and during his term of service one of the outstanding members of the Senate, Mr. Sutherland has been regarded not only by observers at Marion but by members of Harding campaign headquarters as a likely possibility for consideration as Attorney General.

Wood or Pershing for War Post.

Generals Pershing and Wood have been mentioned as dividing the offices of Secretary of War and Chief of Staff of the Army, but there have been no developments on the surface in Marion to give any indication of just how much Republican Victories Likely in the Few Districts Still in Doubt.

TEXAS SENDS A REPUBLICAN

Many Familiar Figures in House Retired—Moon and Browning Beaten in Tennessee.

Additional returns received yesterday and up until early this morning on the elections for United States Senators and Representatives increased the totals of Republican gains in both Houses. Returns have been unusually slow and there is still some doubt as to the outcome of the contests for the Senate in several States and in a greater number of Congressional districts. The Republicans will certainly control the Senate by a majority of eighteen, but it is probable that this majority will be shown to have been increased to twenty when all the returns are in.

Every hour has brought information of the growth of the Republican majority in the House. It now amounts to 143, with some likelihood that this majority will be increased as the chances appear to favor Republican candidates in most of the doubtful districts. The Senate and House tables prepared by THE TIMES, based on the latest returns, indicate that the Senate, in which the Republicans now have a majority of two, will be composed of 58 Republicans and 38 Democrats, while in the House, where the Republican majority in the present Congress is 39, the Republicans probably will number 289, Democrats 142, Independents 2, Independent-Prohibitionists 1 and Socialist 1, giving a Republican majority of 143.

The following table contains the names of Senators apparently chosen in Tuesday's elections, with the results, however, somewhat in doubt in Arizona, Nevada and Oregon, but with latest returns indicating the election of Republican candidates whose names are included:

SMITH DEFEATED BY ABOUT 74,000

Miller Wins by 58,047 on the Actual Returns So Far, but His Lead Is Increasing.

RECORD VOTE FOR SMITH

With all but 187 election districts out of a total of 7,308 in the State heard from, ex-Judge Nathan L. Miller, Republican candidate for Governor of New York, had last night a plurality of 58,047 over Governor Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic nominee, on the actual returns. And all the missing districts were in up-State counties where the Republican candidate has been running stronger than the Democratic Governor. Miller should win, therefore, with a plurality of approximately 74,000, provided he maintains in the missing districts the average lead over his Democratic opponent that the up-State election districts have shown.

With 207 districts missing, Senator Harding had a plurality of 1,051,158 over Governor Cox and should therefore carry the State by approximately 1,200,000.

Nevertheless, although Miller is elected, the Democratic State leaders look upon the remarkable run made by Mr. Smith after two years in the Governor's chair as a triumphant victory in the midst of defeat, and it was admitted yesterday, by Democratic and Republican leaders alike, that his per-

HARDING LEADS IN TENNESSEE BY 18,074

VOTE STILL INCOMPLETE

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Thursday, Nov. 4, 3:30 A. M.—Revised reports received here early this morning give Harding a lead in the State of 18,074 for President. Three counties are yet to be heard from, including Davidson (Nashville), but it does not appear possible that Harding's majority can be overcome in these counties.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 3.—Ratification of the Suffrage amendment by Tennessee, urged by many leading Democrats when the question was before the State Legislature as "the one way to save the League of Nations," has apparently proved a boomerang to Democrats, and is felt by thousands in the State as responsible for the very heavy vote for a Republican Presidential nominee by Tennesseeans, and the danger of the State being swept into the Harding column.

Returns received up to 9 o'clock tonight indicate, however, that the concession was premature and perhaps incorrect. On the face of available figures Cox has carried the State by 1,500 to 3,000.

Last night's talk of a Harding victory was based on incomplete returns from Shelby County (Memphis) and a few other smaller counties. The count in Memphis today gave Cox an unexpected majority of about 8,000, which is thought sufficient to overcome the normal Republican majorities in the missing small counties and assure the State for Cox. In 1916 Tennessee gave Wilson a majority of 37,000.

"Alf" Taylor, Republican candidate for Governor, has defeated Albert H. Roberts, Democrat, the incumbent. His majority is estimated tonight at 10,000. Never before has the Gubernatorial candidate of an undivided Democratic Party been defeated in Tennessee.

On the face of late returns the Republicans have made a net gain of three Representatives in Congress from Tennessee. The election of Carroll Reece, an ex-service man, in the First District, and the re-election of J. Will Taylor in the Second District, both Republicans, is certain.

In the Third District (Chattanooga), Joe Brown, Republican, has been elected over John A. Moon, Democrat, who has been in Congress twenty-four years and served many years as Chairman of the Committee of Post Offices and Post Roads. Supporters of Moon attribute his defeat to the women. At one time he voted against the suffrage amendment. He also opposed a bonus bill in Con-

Big Majority For the Soldiers' Bonus Shown by Incomplete State Returns

The proposal for a State bond issue of not more than $45,000,000 to pay bonuses to ex-service men, which was voted on Tuesday as Proposition No. 1, was apparently carried by a large majority, scattering returns from the State indicate.

Estimates based on returns from 228 election districts in this city indicate a vote of 752,000 for and 296,000 against the proposition. Reports from up-State cities show that the vote was from 2 to 1 to 4 to 1 in favor of the bonus.

	For.	Against.	E.D.s Rptd.
Bronx	103,000	48,000	23
Brooklyn	252,000	128,000	60
Queens	75,000	32,000	50
Richmond	15,000	1,000	25
Total	752,000	296,000	228

Up-State cities voted strongly in favor of the bonus. While only scattering returns were received from villages and rural districts, the vote in every county heard from was for the proposition.

Albany City cast 34,530 votes for the bonus and 7,190 against. Albany County, including the city, voted 46,930 for and 8,970 against, with thirty-nine districts missing out of 220.

Onondaga County, including Syracuse, favored the proposition by a vote of about 3 to 1, according to figures available.

Incomplete tabulation of the vote in Monroe County indicates that the bonus was carried there by 15,000. The vote favoring the proposition was large in Rochester, but in the farming communities it was adverse. Only about 40 per cent. of the 125,000 voters in the county recorded their views on the bonus.

Orleans County returned a majority of 3,026 for the bonus. In Broome County members of the American Legion claimed a majority of 4 to 1 for it. Fully half of the Broome County voters did not mark their ballots on the proposition, it was said. From figures available it was estimated that 16,062 votes were cast in Broome, of which 12,497 were for and 4,165 against.

Buffalo also rolled up a big majority for the proposal. The vote was 58,306 for and 15,829 against.

The proposal was whether the State should issue bonds to pay a bonus to each resident of the State who served in the army or navy during the war. It provides for payment of a bonus of $10 for each month, or major fraction thereof, of service, with a provision that no single payment shall exceed $250 and that officers above the grade of Captain in the army, or Lieutenant, senior grade, in the navy, shall not be entitled to any bonus. Provision is made for a commission to distribute the money and for the establishment of a disability fund.

HARDING VICTORY GROWING

SOLID SOUTH THREATENED

NEW MEXICO ALSO DOUBTFUL

Socialist Claim of 2,000,000 Votes—Harding Plurality in This State 1,080,000.

The overwhelming victory of Senator Harding becomes more overwhelming with every addition to the election returns. It has far surpassed the Republican high water mark of 1904, and in the electoral college Harding's margin has been exceeded only by the sweeping Republican victories of reconstruction days, when much of the South was still disfranchised.

Returns up to midnight indicated that Harding and Coolidge will receive 380 electoral votes. Cox and Roosevelt seem sure of 127, and 15—the 12 of Tennessee and the 3 of New Mexico—are still in doubt. Returns from New Mexico have come in slowly, but it is expected that the final count will show that Harding has carried the State.

Tennessee, if Harding carries it, will be the first Republican inroad into the hitherto solid South. At midnight the returns indicated that the result would be very close, and the State Chairman of each party was claiming it for his candidate by plurality of from three to five thousand. The Republican candidate for Governor, however, had a lead of 13,000.

Oklahoma, settled largely from the South and hitherto regarded as more or less Southern in its political alignments, has apparently gone Republican. With two-thirds of the State heard from Harding had a lead of 10,000.

Most of the other "border States" also went Republican. In Missouri Harding's plurality will apparently reach 75,000, and the Republican landslide has carried Champ Clark, former Speaker of the House of Representatives, along with it.

Maryland, usually safely Democratic, has given Harding a plurality of 50,000. West Virginia is also safely Republican. Only Kentucky among the border States has stood by the Democrats.

Harding's Plurality 6,200,000.

Definite figures on the pluralities in the various States were slowly coming in last night, but in only a few had the count been completed. In most States, however, fairly safe estimates could be made, and as a rule these tended to go higher than those made on election night. Senator Harding's popular plurality cannot be determined as yet, but it is very likely to surpass the early estimate of 6,000,000. On figures already received it is 6,200,000.

In New York State Harding will probably have a margin of 1,080,000 over Cox. With 203 up-State districts out of a total of 7,308 in the entire State missing, he had a margin of 1,057,445.

Massachusetts seems to have given him 400,000, instead of the 300,000 estimate of the first night. New Jersey, which early yesterday morning seemed to have gone 260,000 Republican, had gone up to 280,000 last night. The plurality in Pennsylvania had risen from 750,000 to 800,000.

In many of the smaller States where the margin was less, there had been corresponding increases. Oregon, whose Republican plurality was at first estimated at 5,000, now seems to have gone for Harding by 50,000.

Only in one case does the first night estimate seem to have been excessive, that was in Ohio, the home State of both candidates. But here the revised figures brought only a very small reduction, from 400,000 to 362,000.

In the Senate the Republicans will probably have a majority of twenty, and in the House of Representatives their lead over all is likely to be 143.

The Socialist Claim.

The Socialist National Committee still claims that their vote the country over will reach 2,000,000, but evidence to support this is still lacking. The biggest Socialist vote ever polled was the 900,000 cast for Debs in 1912. Four years ago Allan Benson, who has since left the party, received 581,000.

Of course, since then woman suffrage has spread over the entire country, but if New York City is a specimen this has not made any great difference. The Socialist vote for President in this city yesterday was 131,856. But in 1917, before women voted in New York State, Morris Hillquit received 141,726 for Mayor. To be sure, Hillquit carried with him a good many voters who were not Socialists.

One Socialist Congressman only appears to have been elected. Meyer London, who sat in Congress some years ago, was again successful in the Twelfth District of this city. Victor Berger, elected from Milwaukee two years ago and unseated by the House because of his conviction for violation of the espionage act, was defeated for re-election.

Returns on the vote cast by the new Farmer-Labor Party are lacking. The national headquarters of the organization said last night that it had polled 65,000 votes in Missouri, but the figures of the vote of the minor parties are not yet available and this could not be substantiated. No Farmer-Labor candidates appear to have been elected to Congress; Jeremiah O'Leary, well known during the war for his anti-English activities, seemed at first to have a lead for the Congressional seat in the Eighteenth District here, but J. F. Carew, the present Democratic incumbent, has beaten him according to late returns.

The latest returns on the State election indicate that Judge Nathan L. Miller will have a plurality of 74,500 for Governor and that Senator James W. Wadsworth will be reelected by about 140,000. The Republicans will have 38 of the 51 State Senators, and apparently 117 of the 150 Assemblymen.

CONNECTICUT.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 3.—Every town save Ansonia had completed its count of ballots by daylight today, and the figures showed that Senator Harding carried the State by about 112,000 over Governor Cox. Senator Brandegee ran about 30,000 votes behind Mr. Harding, while nominees on the Republican State ticket had pluralities well over the 100,000 mark.

To the General Assembly returns the Democrats have elected but a single Senator and only thirteen members of the House, one a woman, Mrs. W. A. Jewett of Tolland. The Republicans chose three women, one the Rev. Grace Edwards, of New Hartford. Last session the Democrats had 69 House members and 11 of the 35 Senators.

The vote for President was: Harding, 237,840; Cox, 120,074; for Senator, Brandegee, 216,502; Lonergan, 131,219. Mr. Lake for Governor received 232,494 and his opponent 121,464.

NEBRASKA.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 3.—Senator Harding, on returns from 990 of Nebraska's 1,877 precincts compiled early today, had a lead of 71,529 over Governor Cox. The vote stood: Harding, 139,965; Cox, 68,436.

For the Governorship, Governor S. R. McKelvie, Republican, had 84,504 to 59,028 for former Governor John H. Morehead, Democrat. Arthur G. Wray, an Independent, with the Non-Partisan League's support, had 47,956. All six Republican candidates for Congress were re-elected.

INDIANA.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 3.—The returns for 3,007 out of 3,384 precincts in Indiana for President give Harding 618,361, Cox 452,193. On the basis of these figures Harding's final plurality should be 186,000.

GERMANS REJOICE IN WILSON'S DEFEAT

Rid of the Man "Who Was to Blame for Our Misfortune," Lokal-Anzeiger Says.

HOPE FOR A QUICK PEACE

Bernstorff Writes That President Will Now Accept Republican Reservations.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—The German afternoon papers characterize the result of the American election as "the defeat of Wilsonism." The Zeitung am Mittag says:

"In 1916 he who 'kept us out of war' was elected. In 1920, he who 'got us entangled with the world's troubles' was defeated in the person of Cox, with a tremendous majority.

"To hope anything for Germany from this result would be foolish. The utmost we can expect is that instead of making life impossible as Wilson did, his successor will probably not display a great interest in whether or not we can exist."

BERLIN, Nov. 3 (Associated Press).—Of the American election the Lokal-Anzeiger says:

"We have got rid of Wilson, who, in the last analysis, was to blame for our misfortune. Mr. Harding will play politics and mix in world affairs only so far as they concern American interests."

The Vossische Zeitung says:

"It is not Harding's victory or Cox's defeat, but the complete disavowal of Wilson. Germany's chief interest turns on Mr. Harding's campaign utterances favoring the quickest possible re-establishment of peace-time relations between Germany and the United States."

Vorwärts thinks it advisable to await President-elect Harding's message to Congress for an indication of his position toward the treaty and his attitude toward Middle Europe.

The Tageblatt says:

"If today we shake hands in spirit with President-elect Harding across the sea, it is because we see in him a man who can quickly bring us peace with union and who has the vision and the desire for a better League of Nations."

Official quarters here decline to discuss the election. Financial and industrial circles, however, express the view that the victory of Senator Harding is favorable to "the mobilization of capital," basing the belief on their experiences with former Republican Administrations.

Bernstorff Gives His Views.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—The Berlin press indulges in a good deal of comment on the American election. Count Bernstorff, former German Ambassador in Washington, writes in one of the papers that Harding's victory will do much to bring peace to the disturbed world.

"It will," he goes on, "bring order and definiteness to the foreign policy of the United States. Wilson would have won the world to his policy had he been mentally alert enough for the task, but unfortunately for the world that was not the case. He committed the error of going to Versailles, where he lost touch with American public opinion, and came under the influence of the West European statesmen. He made concessions after concession in order to erect his League of Nations, which was to put everything right, but pleased nobody. That brought back American opinion to a belief in the traditional policy of isolation."

Harding, the Count believes, adopts what was largely the attitude of the recent German pacifists' congress at Brunswick, who wish to put a reformed league in place of that proposed at Versailles. That signifies, he thinks, that Harding will not return wholly to a policy of aloofness.

"Americans," the Count goes on, "are judicially minded, and, doubtless, prefer an international court of arbitration to a gathering of diplomats, as the former is more likely to base its decisions on law, but America is a pioneer of the league of nations idea, and Harding will probably work around to a plan for some such court."

The Kreuz-Zeitung, organ of the high conservatives, expresses pleasure over a United States President who is against the League of Nations, "an anti-German instrument."

"The result," its says, "will be a severe verdict on the evil nature of Wilson. That the United States should not sign the Versailles Treaty is far more important for us than that she should enter the League of Nations. That will be better for our commercial relations. The Versailles hangmen must be made to recognize that Germany will regard those who signed the treaty of murder far differently than she will those who did not."

Germania, the Roman Catholic mouthpiece, and the financial Boersen Courier both upbraid Governor Cox for hostility to German-Americans while the Lokal-Anzeiger, organ of big industrial interests, believes there is a special reason for Germany to rejoice over a Harding victory as he will indulge in whatever is best for America and nothing else.

MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—Massachusetts gave the Republican national ticket a plurality of 401,811, more than double the largest Presidential plurality previously recorded in the State. Returns complete, except for two precincts in Boston, one of which, it is said, will have to be recounted, show:

The Socialist Party appears, on scattering returns, to have trebled its vote of four years ago and the Socialist-Labor Party to have doubled its. In 1916 these parties cast a vote for President of 11,058 and 1,096, respectively.

Returns from 357 precincts out of 1,206 in yesterday's election give Debs 9,731. The vote for Cox and Gilhaus, the Socialist-Labor candidates for President and Vice President, shows an average of approximately two votes to a precinct.

With a little less than a third of the vote tabulated, the totals on the referendum on the bill to permit the sale of light wines and beers were: Yes, 120,605; no, 110,296.

KENTUCKY.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 2.—Returns failed this morning to change appreciably the lead obtained by Governor Cox over Senator Harding. Returns from the mountain regions, however, showed a Republican trend in that section. United States Senator J. C. W. Beckham maintained his lead over Richard Ernst, the Republican candidate.

The vote for President in 2,707 precincts out of 3,226 in the State gave Harding 381,648, Cox 408,127. For United States Senator, 2,512 precincts gave Ernst, Republican, 355,892; Beckham, Democrat, 386,897.

Judge Ralph W. Gilbert, Democrat, won the only victory over present Representatives by defeating Representative King Swope in the Eighth District. Eight Democratic and three Republican Congressmen will represent Kentucky.

Returns from 75 precincts gave Debs, Socialist, 531; Watkins, Prohibitionist, 129. No vote was reported for Christensen, Farmer-Labor candidate.

WASHINGTON.

SEATTLE, Nov. 3.—With nearly half the precincts of the State heard from, Washington bids fair to give the greatest Republican pluralities on national, State and Congressional tickets in its history, according to Republican leaders.

On returns from 1,185 of the 2,376 precincts Harding has a vote of 127,469 and Cox 46,548.

In the Senatorial race Senator Wesley Jones has, from 1,106 precincts, a vote of 110,805 to 48,215 polled by C. J. France, Farmer-Labor, and 33,750 by George F. Cotterill, Democrat.

WISCONSIN.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 3.—Republican candidates were successful in practically every contest in yesterday's election in Wisconsin. Senator I. L. Lenroot was re-elected over James Thompson, Independent, and Democratic and Socialist opposition, and the delegation of eleven members of the House is Republican.

Senator Harding was leading Governor Cox by almost 5 to 1 and Debs, Socialist, was polling a heavy vote on the face of returns from about half of the 3,425 precincts in Wisconsin.

Socialists lost the two places in Congress that early returns indicated as possibilities. In conceding his defeat, Victor Berger declared woman suffrage and a "desire to get rid of the Wilson Administration" was to blame for the result.

COLORADO.

DENVER, Nov. 3.—With returns in from more than a fourth of the State early today, Governor Shoup, Republican, had a two to one lead over James M. Collins, Democratic-Non-Partisan candidate for Governor. The ratio of Harding's plurality over Governor Cox was nearly as great.

Returns in the Congressional contests indicated the re-election of Congressmen Valle, Timberlake and Hardy, Republicans. In the Fourth District, Congressman Taylor, Democrat, had a slight lead over Merle D. Vincent of Grand Junction.

Four hundred and two precincts of the 1,483 in Colorado gave Cox 26,107, Harding 46,710.

PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—Senator Harding's total vote in Pennsylvania has gone over the million mark, and his plurality tonight was more than 633,000, the greatest vote ever given a candidate in this State.

Returns from 6,206 districts out of 7,219 in the State give Senator Harding a total of 1,070,014 and Governor Cox 436,535. The nearest approach to Harding's total was the support given Theodore Roosevelt in 1904, when he received more than 840,000 votes.

Senator Penrose's plurality in 6,180 districts was 534,245. His total vote had mounted to 836,273, and that of John A. Farrell, his Democratic opponent, to 402,028.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—California went overwhelmingly for Senator Harding on the face of returns from more than half the State this afternoon. The only question left seemed to be the extent of the majorities that Harding and Samuel Shortridge, successful Republican candidate for Senator, would receive.

Senator Harding's growing lead over Governor Cox caused Republican leaders to express the belief that he would pass the 296,615 plurality given to Senator Hiram W. Johnson four years ago.

Harding's majority on returns from 4,229 of the 6,154 precincts was 270,448. The vote was: Cox, 170,105; Harding, 440,638; Debs, 26,058; Watkins, 5,340.

OREGON.

Special to The New York Times.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 3.—Returns for President from 911 out of 1,099 precincts in Oregon give Harding 58,107, Cox 31,553. Harding's final plurality, on this basis, will be about 30,000. Returns for Senator from 1,036 precincts give Chamberlain (D.), 54,052; Stanfield (R.), 60,513. Representative C. M. McArthur (R.), will be returned to Congress from the Third District by a substantial majority and Representative W. C. Hawley and N. J. Sinnott, both Republicans, of the First and Second Districts, respectively, will win easily.

NEW MEXICO.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 3.—Returns from about one-third of the State, as compiled by the Albuquerque Journal, show Cox leading Harding by 2,444 votes with approximately the same margin for Democratic candidates for Governor and Congress.

Senator Harding will consider these two officers' qualifications, nor is the status of Herbert Hoover in Senator Harding's consideration sufficiently clear at present to speculate upon his chances for a Cabinet post.

The same is true of Elihu Root, Senator Knox, and Senator Lodge, although Mr. Lodge, veteran of many years' service as member of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, easily might round out a long public career as head of the State Department.

Further than Mr. Wallace and the former Senators, Weeks and Sutherland, there is little ground for speculation at present on Senator Harding's Cabinet until it has been demonstrated just how far he will consult on governmental affairs with advisers who have conferred with him on political matters. Should these conferences continue to be as numerous after election as before, the names of Harry M. Daugherty, Will H. Hays, Governor Lowden, Senator Medill McCormick, Charles E. Hughes, Senator Harry S. New, and Raymond Robins should be prominent in speculation of this sort.

Little credence has been placed by Harding headquarters in published reports that Richard Washburn Child might be secretary to the new President. Mr. Child, who has been attached to Harding Headquarters for several months, left here on Monday for New York to vote.

All indications point to the supposition that the Senator's present secretary, George B. Christian, Jr., will continue to act in this capacity when Mr. Harding goes to the White House. There has been no announcement of this, nor is it expected that there will be for some time, but Mr. Christian, next door neighbor of the Senator and his secretary at Washington, long has been regarded by both Senator and Mrs. Harding as almost one of the family, and Senator Harding has a deep-seated loyalty for his friends.

To Resign from Senate in January.

The election of Harry L. Davis, as Governor of Ohio, has made it virtually certain that Senator Harding will give up his Senate seat. He will be paired with some Democratic Senator until Davis's "inauguration" next January, when, it is expected, Senator Harding will resign and the new Governor will appoint Frank B. Willis, Senator-elect, to fill his place until March 4.

Senator Harding received thousands of congratulatory telegrams last night and today. The flood of messages still continues, although it would seem as though almost every prominent man and woman in the country already had sent best wishes.

The Senator received the following from Governor Cox this morning:

"In the spirit of America I accept the decision of the majority, tender as the defeated candidate my congratulations, and pledge as a citizen my support to the Executive authority in whatever emergency may arise."

Senator Harding replied:

"As the successful candidate I thank you for your message of congratulations and pledge of support."

Senator Harding received a message from William Howard Taft that was garbled in transmission, but congratulated "you, the nation and the world on your triumph by an unprecedented majority" and felicitated the Senator upon the dignity and self-restraint of his campaign.

"It looks as though this submerged Commonwealth would give you fully three-quarters of a million majority," Senator Sprout of Pennsylvania wrote. "Of course, that is not new for Pennsylvania, but it indicated the trend of the nation."

Elihu Root wired:

"Hearty congratulations. God give you strength and wisdom."

From Charles E. Hughes came: "My heartiest congratulations on your splendid victory."

Former Senator John W. Weeks, of Massachusetts, wrote: "The hunch you told about at Chicago has come true. The country has made you a magnificent birthday present."

"As I telegraphed you the first instant of your candidacy," H. P. Davison wired, "so I telegraph you on the first instant of your election my cordial congratulations. Needless to say, I, with millions of other Americans, am happy for myself and for my country."

Senator Harding also received a message from another Warren G. Harding in New York.

Congratulations from Louisiana.

Senator Harding's newspaper, The Marion Daily Star, today received a telegram from J. E. Brown, city editor of the New Orleans States, telling him that he had received the largest vote ever given a Republican in Louisiana and had carried the Congressional district and polled 15,000 votes in New Orleans alone. The telegram continued:

"Will Senator Harding send the New Orleans States some comment on the unprecedented political upheaval? When the President-elect comes here in November how long will he stay in New Orleans? Thanks and congratulations."

To the foregoing Senator Harding authorized the following reply:

"Senator Harding asks our office to express his most grateful appreciation of the fine vote given him in Louisiana, particularly as it manifests a growing belief in the Republican position. He asks me to say to you that he has one ambition, which he has often expressed, to wipe out the last vestige of sectionalism in America, in thought, in politics, in our economic life and in government. Senator Harding is planning a trip to Texas for rest and recreation, but it is wholly personal and his present plans do not contemplate a routing through New Orleans."

Surprised by Landslide.

Senator Harding said today that, although he expected a heavy majority, he had not looked for anything approaching yesterday's landslide. One factor in his unprecedented Ohio majority he attributed to the foreign vote which he feels was assisted in large measure by his front porch speech to a delegation of foreign born representing all European countries.

The Senator took satisfaction in this support today from the fact that it was composed of all, and not one national group. There are indications that the German vote was not as solid for Harding as his opponents had charged. Cincinnati, for instance, with a large proportion of German voters, failed to come up to Republican expectation. The Senator received only a normal vote, and nothing like the 60,000 majority Cincinnati was expected to have given him.

On the other hand, Cuyahoga County, which takes in Cleveland, rolled up a big Harding majority and went Republican on the national ticket for the first time since 1904. Nearly 70 per cent. of the population of Cleveland is of foreign descent, and more than forty languages are heard on its streets.

Senator Harding also took satisfaction today in the vote received in Marion County, which normally is Democratic. Not a single Democratic candidate came out on top in this county.

In an editorial headed "A Mighty Rebuke to Slime," Senator Harding's paper, The Marion Daily Star, said today that "the defeat of every Democratic candidate on the county ticket is not altogether the result of the general Republican landslide, nor must it be taken as evidence that the county has, in a marked degree, changed its political complexion. The result is rather a reflex of the joint effort of the Republican electorate of the county and the high minded element of the Democratic Party to rebuke dirty politics, in which innocent Democratic nominees suffered with the guilty. Marion city and county combined to give a stinging rebuke to moral leprosy in political campaigns. They combined to make against the methods employed in the campaign closed yesterday a mighty protest as would give warning for all time that decent-minded people will not tolerate muck and slime in political campaigns."

Talk of Woman for Cabinet.

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 3. — Senator Harding spent his first day as President-elect resting from the tension of election night and reviewing late returns, with particular attention to the makeup of the Sixty-seventh Congress.

He expressed keen pleasure as the growing figures confirmed a Republican gain in both Senate and House, for he had told his friends that his greatest apprehension over the outcome had not been a fear of defeat for himself so much as a realization that as Chief Executive his hands might be tied by lack of a working party majority in the legislative branch.

His interest throughout the last weeks of the campaign turned specifically to the Senatorial situation and it was known in the inside circles of the party that it was to aid Republican Senatorial candidates more than for any other one cause that he left his front porch and made a swing around the circle of States where the present narrow Senate majority was receiving its heaviest attacks.

As for his own fortunes, he said that he never had been in doubt for a moment from the time of his nomination. He did voice surprise at the tremendous majorities piled up for him, however, declaring that the result had overreached his fondest hopes.

Mr. Harding was not inclined to regard the triumph as a personal one. As he told many of his audiences during the campaign, his feeling was that the decision would be made on issues rather than candidates, and that the League of Nations and the record of the Wilson Administration at home were the determining factors.

The Senator was not at his office until late this morning, having been kept awake until long after midnight by his exultant fellow-townsmen, who chose his lawn as the forum for a succession of celebrations over the honor that had come to Marion and to their neighbor. They brought along every variety of noise-making device, and both Mr. and Mrs. Harding responded to every serenade by coming out and shaking hands all around.

Mixed with the Senator's congratulatory messages today were several forehand requests for seats at the inauguration ceremonies in Washington next March. The honor of having made the first application of that sort falls to George Id. Cook of Chicago, an official of Swift & Co., who telegraphed two weeks ago to George B. Christian, Jr., the Senator's secretary, asking for two inauguration seats. Mr. Christian wired back that the seats could be regarded as engaged.

Governor Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, the Vice President-elect, joined Mrs. Coolidge in a message to the Senator and his wife congratulating them on the victory.

Accept our congratulations on your efficient leadership and glorious victory," it said. "The result passes every expectation. We are sure that you will more than fulfill the confidence the American people have placed in you."

Among the prominent Democrats who sent congratulatory messages were Thomas Taggart of Indiana, a former National Chairman; Bernard M. Baruch of New York and numerous Democratic members of the Senate.

Besides Cabinet officials, Mr. Harding will have an army of other Federal appointees to select—a fact which was brought to his realization with new force today as the petitions of office-seekers began to pile into his office in full swing. His friends declare it is partly to avoid such annoyances during a period of rest that he will leave on Saturday for his month's trip to Point Isabel, Texas, and the Panama Canal Zone.

The possibility that a woman may sit in the Cabinet before the next Administration is over has been suggested by the Senator's proposal for a new Department of Public Welfare. In a speech some weeks ago advocating such a department he declared his faith in the entrusting of important social welfare work to women, but he did not specifically express a conviction that a woman should be given the new portfolio

A SECLUDED VACATION SPOT.

Point Isabel, Chosen by Harding, Is a Small Fishing Village.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Nov. 3.—Point Isabel, Texas, where Senator Harding has chosen to spend a vacation, is a small fishing village and watering place of some 400 inhabitants on the Gulf of Mexico, southeast of Brownsville, and is the southernmost mainland point of the United States. A narrow gauge railroad connects the little city with Brownsville.

Off shore a little more than a mile is the southern extremity of Padre Island, a narrow strip of land which skirts the Texas coast from Corpus Christi to the Rio Grande, about 120 miles.

Point Isabel is famous as a sportsman's paradise. Fishing is excellent, while the adjacent marshes now abound in geese and ducks. Point Isabel also is noted for its oysters, edible the year around.

Hotel accommodations are meagre, but an old clubhouse, unused for several years, probably will be put in order for Senator Harding's reception.

During the Mexican War a part of General Taylor's army was landed at Point Isabel and marched overland to Brownsville, then Fort Browne.

Since that time the little port has had its ups and downs. Until the building of the Brownsville Railroad into the valley sixteen years ago, light draught steamers landed at Point Isabel and provided communication with the outside world.

People of the valley section contiguous to Brownsville urged development of Point Isabel as a deep water port. The project recently was recognized by an appropriation which will insure a harbor for vessels drawing fifteen feet, and citizens of the valley country have just subscribed for a bond issue to standardize the little railroad which connects Point Isabel with Brownsville.

As if to prepare a welcome for Senator Harding, Point Isabel yesterday voted solidly for him, being one of the few Southern towns to show him that honor. Brownsville, near by, is the home of R. B. Creager, who seconded Senator Harding's nomination at the Chicago convention. Brownsville, too, went for the Republican candidate by ninety-nine votes.

POINT ISABEL PREPARES.

Special to The New York Times.

POINT ISABEL, Texas, Nov. 3.—No intimation that President-elect Harding was planning a visit to Point Isabel had reached the people here until they read the report in the newspapers today, when plans were at once started for his reception and entertainment while here.

Communications were received from Republican leaders of Texas, who stated that Senator Harding would remain at Point Isabel and in this immediate vicinity fishing, duck hunting and deer hunting for twelve days.

He will be accompanied here by J. G. Culbertson, defeated Republican candidate for Governor of Texas, and other men who are prominent in the party. It is planned to take the distinguished visitor over the nearby historic battlefields of Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma. He also will be taken across the Rio Grande to Matamoras, Mexico, for a few hours' stay.

SOCIALISTS CLAIM 2,000,000 FOR DEBS

MEYER LONDON VICTORIOUS

Four of the Five Ousted Assemblymen Are Returned—State Senator Elected.

A vote of 2,000,000 for Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for President, is claimed in a telegram received yesterday by the local Socialist Headquarters from the Socialist National Headquarters in Chicago. This is more than three times the Socialist vote in the country in 1916 and more than twice the record Socialist vote in the last Debs campaign in 1912. In neither of these two elections did women vote all over the country.

The Socialist vote in New York City, although considerable, fell below the vote for Morris Hillquit, Socialist candidate for Mayor in 1917, the year before women obtained the vote in this State. The total vote for Debs in New York City was 131,856, both men and women, as against a vote for Hillquit in 1917 of 141,739, from men voters only.

Four of the five Socialists expelled from the Assembly were elected. The Socialist candidate beaten was Louis Waldman, who was beaten in the Eighth Manhattan District by a plurality of 153 by Reiss, the fusion candidate. The other four ousted Socialists were re-elected, August Claessens in the Eighteenth Manhattan District; Samuel A. DeWitt, in the Third Bronx District; Samuel Orr, in the Fourth Bronx District, and Charles Solomon, in the Twenty-third Brooklyn District.

The early returns indicated the election of Mrs. Marion H. Laing, Socialist, in the Fifth Bronx District, but she was finally defeated by J. H. Lyman, Fusion candidate. The Sixth Manhattan District was in doubt on the Assembly, with Solomon Ullman, Fusion, leading Rosenberg, Socialist, by 38 votes with four election districts missing.

Failure of the Democrats to indorse Senator Peter A. Abeles, Republican, who ran for re-election in the Twenty-second Senatorial District in the Bronx, caused the election of Edmund Seidel, Socialist candidate, who will be the first member of that party to sit in the State Senate.

The greatest Socialist victory in the city was the election of Meyer London as Representative in Congress from the Twelfth Congressional District over Congressman Henry M. Goldfogle, Democrat, who was running for re-election with the Republican indorsement. Mr. London, who defeated Mr. Goldfogle six years ago, had a total vote of 10,060 to 8,798 for Mr. Goldfogle. The district is entirely in the lower east side.

Fusion among the Democrats and Republicans in other districts where the Socialists are strong were successful, and resulted in the election of Congressman Christopher D. Sullivan, Democrat, over Charles V. Ervin in the Thirteenth; Nathan D. Perlman, Republican, over Algernon Lee in the Fourteenth, and Congressman Isaac Siegel, Republican, over Morris Hillquit in the Twentieth.

In Senator Bernard Downing, Democrat, with a Republican indorsement, defeated Samuel M. Beardsley, Socialist, in the Fourteenth Senatorial District.

Dudley Field Malone, Farmer-Labor candidate for Governor, became indignant early yesterday morning when he tried to ascertain his vote and learned it was not being tabulated. Mr. Malone went to police headquarters where the returns were being compiled by a news association and charged unfairness when he was told that the vote for Governor was being tabulated only on Smith, Democrat; Miller, Republican, and Thompson, Prohibition. He alleged unfair discrimination and left the building.

Word received here at Farmer-Labor headquarters from Frank J. Esper, Secretary of its national organization at Chicago, was that the vote had definitely established the Farmer-Labor Party as a contending political organization. Mr. Esper said that he had received a message from Missouri that the Farmer-Labor vote in that State was 65,000. He said the party organization would be continued for the campaign of 1924.

MICHIGAN.

DETROIT, Nov. 3.—Michigan, which had given Senator Harding a lead of 400,719 over Governor Cox, rolled up a majority of 333,413 for Alex U. Groesbeck, Republican candidate for Governor, and elected Republicans to all the State's seats in Congress on the face of returns tonight. Substantial majorities were also given to Republican candidates for State offices and the Legislature.

The vote for President in 2,019 precincts out of 2,751 was Harding 565,432, Cox 164,713; for Governor 537 precincts gave Groesbeck 561,761, and Woodbridge N. Ferris, Democrat, 228,348.

Returns from 1,841 precincts gave a vote of more than two to one against a constitutional amendment which would in effect abolish parochial and private schools.

WYOMING.

Special to The New York Times.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 3.—The biggest pluralities in the history of the State were indicated this afternoon when returns were compiled from the count in 345 precincts out of a total of 627. These gave Harding 20,540 and Cox 10,944. In the same precincts Mondell, the Republican candidate for Congress, received 20,290 and Fowler 9,019. On the basis of these returns Harding's final plurality would be about 20,000.

ILLINOIS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Returns from more than half the State continued today to pile up Harding's overwhelming plurality in yesterday's election in Illinois.

Reports from 3,076 of the State's 5,730 precincts gave Harding a lead of 454,457 votes over Cox.

The figures, including returns from 1,628 Chicago precincts and 1,451 down-State, are: Harding 605,731, Cox 361,294.

Behind the Presidential candidate the entire Republican State ticket, all the down-State Congressmen, and at least seven of the ten Cook County Representatives swept into office.

Representative William P. McKinley, Republican, has been elected Senator by a plurality that may exceed 300,000. Ex-Senator James Hamilton Lewis made the best showing of the three leading candidates on the Democratic ticket, but figures from 2,389 precincts—1,625 in Chicago and 1,363 down-State, show him running 257,339 behind Len Small, Republican.

UTAH.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 3.—The Republicans carried Utah from the head of the ticket down to the office of constable in virtually every county of the State on the basis of returns compiled from twenty-seven of the twenty-nine counties. The total number of precincts reporting was 329 out of 650.

IOWA.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 3.—Iowa, on the basis of returns apparently gave Harding a plurality of about 400,000 votes over Cox, returned Senator Cummins to his seat by a two-to-one vote over Porter, his Democratic opponent; re-elected all its Republican Representatives and elected the Republican State ticket from top to bottom.

Returns from 999 out of 2,360 precincts in the State gave Harding 277,495, Cox 151,... In 776 precincts Cummins had 181,422 and Porter 92,393.

STRONG GRIP ON CONGRESS

Alice Robertson, Republican, who seems to have defeated Congressman Hastings, Democrat, in the Second District. Whether she is "Mrs." or "Miss" is not disclosed in the dispatches.

Only one woman has served a term in Congress, Miss Jeanette Rankin of Montana, Republican. She is not in the present House.

The Defeat of Clark.

One of the most surprising results of Congressional elections, full of surprises, is the defeat of Representative Champ Clark of Missouri, former Speaker of the House of Representatives, who obtained a majority of the votes cast for the Presidential nomination in the Baltimore Convention of 1912, but failed to get the two-thirds necessary, which ultimately went to Woodrow Wilson. Ex-Speaker Clark is serving his twenty-sixth year in the House.

A Republican Congressman has been elected from the Democratic State of Texas, one of the strongholds of the solid South. The victim of this disregard of precedent is Representative Carlos Bee of San Antonio, a brother-in-law of Postmaster General Burleson, who formerly represented the San Antonio district. Bee concedes his defeat.

Returns received yesterday indicate that Senator G. E. Chamberlain of Oregon, Senator Marcus A. Smith of Arizona and Senator Charles B. Henderson of Nevada, all Democrats, have been defeated by Republicans. A Republican seems to have been elected in the strong Democratic State of Oklahoma, succeeding Gore, Democrat.

In the House some of the veterans of Congressional service who went down to defeat in Tuesday's elections are Isaac R. Sherwood of Ohio, William A. Ashbrook of Ohio and Adolph J. Sabath of Illinois, all Democrats. Ex-Speaker Joseph G. Cannon has been returned to the House for his twenty-third term, thus giving him the seniority in point of service in that body. Next in order is Speaker F. H. Gillett of Massachusetts, who was re-elected Tuesday for a fifteenth term. Champ Clark ranks third in the House in point of seniority.

Representative Charles H. Randall of California, the only Prohibitionist in the House, who has served several terms, was defeated. Representative Milton W. Shreve, who is serving in the House from the Twenty-fifth Pennsylvania District as a Republican, ran in Tuesday's election as an Independent-Prohibitionist and was elected over his Democratic and regular Republican opponents. Ex-Congressman W. H. Stafford, Republican, has been elected to the House from a Milwaukee district over Victor Berger, Socialist, whose seat in the House was twice declared vacant because of his conviction under the wartime Espionage act.

Meyer London Probable Winner.

Congressman Henry M. Goldfogle, Democrat, of the Twelfth New York District (Manhattan), appears to have been defeated by ex-Congressman Meyer London, Socialist. No other election of a Socialist to Congress has been reported.

Only two Democrats appear to have been elected to the House from Massachusetts. There are four Democrats in the present Massachusetts delegation.

In the following Senate table, Oddie, Republican, Nevada; Cameron, Republican, Arizona; Herrald, Republican, Oklahoma, and Stanfield, Republican, Oregon, appear as having been elected Senators over their Democratic opponents. Complete returns may show that some of these Republican candidates were not elected, but the latest reports from their States indicate that they are leading in the count of votes.

KENTUCKY GROWING CLOSER

Republicans Dispute Beckham Victory as His Lead Decreases.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 3.—Belated returns from Kentucky districts tonight served to somewhat decrease the lead obtained by United States Senator J. C. W. Beckham over his Republican opponent, and with 291 precincts out of 3,226 in the State yet to report, Republican campaign managers refused to concede Senator Beckham's re-election. The vote in 2,935 precincts gave Ernst, Republican, 419,282; Beckham, Democrat, 433,328.

Judge Ralph W. Gilbert, Democrat, won the only victory over present Representatives by defeating Representative King Swope in the Eighth District. Eight Democratic and three Republican Congressmen will represent Kentucky.

LODGE FORECASTS TASK.

Says Harding Will Draw Up Agreement for World Peace.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—Senator Lodge, in commenting upon the election, said today that the Republican victory was so large he could not grasp it.

"It is distinctly an American victory," he said. "We shall not bring any millenium to the country, we don't promise it. One thing we can do is to bring the Government back to its constitutional form and limitations, under which we have lived and progressed. We can remedy the present tax laws, and we can revise the tariff so that the duties on imports will be made to pay for some of the taxes which they don't do now.

"We can make peace with Germany and remove what is technically a state of war.

"Lastly, we have brought to an end the attempt to enter into the League of Nations which Mr. Wilson brought back from Paris. That is not the only League that can be made to promote the peace of the world. One of the first duties of Mr. Harding will be to draw up an agreement looking to the preservation of the peace of the world. Call it 'entente,' 'association,' or what you will—not an alliance."

Romance makes him a figure to be reckoned with not only in the State but in the nation. Already there is talk of Governor Smith as the "logical candidate" for Mayor, the "logical candidate" for President four years hence and the "logical" leader of Tammany Hall and the Democratic State organization.

Governor Smith at the Biltmore was in receipt of as many congratulatory messages, as if he had been a victor and not compelled to surrender his office to his Republican opponent.

Has Not Yet Conceded Defeat.

Up to the time he retired last night Governor Smith had not conceded officially the victory of his opponent, Judge Miller. It was very apparent, though, that both the Governor and his campaign managers were getting reconciled to the thought that the Judge was the victor. It was said last night that the Governor's message of felicitation to his successful rival in all probability would go forth early this morning.

Harding's State Triumph.

In the Presidential contest the new State returns as they came in throughout the day only added to the magnitude of Senator Harding's victory. Aside from carrying all the boroughs in this city and even receiving a plurality in the district of Tammany Leader Charles F. Murphy, a Democratic stronghold, Senator Harding received a plurality in every county in the State, except one, Hamilton County, where a slender margin of sixty-eight votes stood in favor of his Democratic opponent, Governor Cox. Erie County gave him the unprecedented plurality of 59,222 and Westchester a plurality of approximately 45,000.

Returns from the race between United States Senator James W. Wadsworth as a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket and Lieutenant Governor Harry C. Walker, the Democratic nominee for United States Senate, were far from complete when this edition of THE TIMES went to press. With 673 election districts missing, Senator Wadsworth had a lead of 458,035 over Lieut. Gov. Walker, indicating a plurality of 510,000 or a little more when complete returns are at hand.

Latest Figures on the Vote.

Harding	1,329,802
Cox	778,706

For Wadsworth and Walker the vote was:

Wadsworth	1,299,053
Walker	841,070

The vote for the two leading candidates for Governor was:

Miller	1,306,503

Huge Legislative Gains.

Latest returns from the Congress elections show a net gain of eight seats in the House of Representatives for the Republicans, giving them thirty-two out of the forty-three Congressman from this State and the Democrats only ten. Meyer London, Socialist, is elected in the Twelfth congress District against a fusion candidate, Congressman Goldfogle.

The present delegation to the House of Representatives from this State is made up of twenty-one Republicans and nineteen Democrats, with three vacancies, all of which were in districts which had a Republican representative in the House. In some of the districts where Democrats won the margin in their favor is so slight that the result may be reversed on complete returns.

Complete returns from the legislative elections show further gains for the Republicans and Socialists and corresponding losses to the Democrats in the Senate and Assembly.

In the Senate the Republicans will have the biggest working majority on record and in the Assembly the biggest majority in a generation. The next Senate will be composed of at least 38 Senators, 12 Democrats and one Socialist; the next Assembly of 117 Republicans and 26 Democrats and 7 Socialists. The present Senate has 30 Republicans and 21 Democrats; the present Assembly 110 Republicans and 40 Democrats. A two-thirds majority, required to override a Governor's veto, is 34 votes in the Senate and 100 in the Assembly, so the Republican State organization, which will dominate the Republican lawmakers, will be in a position to work its own sweet will through the law-making body, regardless of the Governor's intentions or desires.

The Republicans elected all their candidates for State offices below that of Governor. Only fragmentary figures were available at midnight, but the returns at hand indicated that they had won by very substantial pluralities. Figures received at Republican State headquarters from the County Chairman upState indicated pluralities averaging close to $300,000 for those candidates.

New State Officers.

Lieutenant Governor—JEREMIAH WOOD of Nassau.

State Controller—JAMES A. WENDELL of Montgomery.

State Treasurer—N. MONROE MARSHALL of Franklin.

Associate Judges of the Court of Appeals—EMORY A. CHASE of Greene and FRED-ERICK E. CRANE of Kings.

Attorney General Newton, State Engineer Williams and Judge Chase of the Court of Appeals were re-elected, Mr. Williams for a third term.

In the Seventeenth District, Ogden L. Mills, ex-State Senator, defeated Herbert C. Pell, Jr., the present Democratic Congressman from this district, who has made a remarkable record during his term of service in the House of Representatives, and was a candidate for re-election. In the Nineteenth, William D. Chandler will succeed Joseph Rowan, the present Democratic Representative. Republican candidates won in all three of the vacant districts which were represented by Republicans who retired. In one of these, the Twenty-sixth, the Congressman-elect is Hamilton Fish, Jr., formerly one of the Bull Moose leaders in this State.

The Democrats won a victory in the "safety" Republican Twenty-Eighth Congress District, the political habitat of William Barnes, where Peter G. Ten Eyck, who has seen service in Congress, defeated the Republican candidate, City Judge Edward J. Halter of Albany. The more aggressive leadership of the Democratic organization in Albany County also made itself felt in the election, for the first time in many years, of a Democratic Assemblyman, J. T. Merrigan, who was elected from the Second Assembly District in Albany County. The contest was very close.

Socialists Break a Record.

Indications were that the Socialist vote in the State will set a new record. No figures were available from upState, but the vote in New York City, 231,856 for Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist candidate for President now a prisoner in the United States Penitentiary at Atlanta, was more than four times the vote of 71,768 cast for Benson, who led the Socialist fight in the Presidential election four years ago.

At midnight no figures were available to indicate the size of the vote cast for the Farmer-Labor Party, whose candidate for Governor was Dudley Field Malone, and Mr. Malone was pleased over the failure of the newspapers to print any. He issued a statement to complain of this and said incidentally that his party polled 150,000 votes in the State.

MISSOURI.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 3.—Missouri tonight was safely Republican by more than 100,000 on the principal National and State offices. With only about 500 out of 3,810 precincts missing, Senator Harding was in the lead by more than 120,000.

Arthur M. Hyde led John M. Atkinson, for Governor, by about 110,000, and Senator Selden P. Spencer was running far ahead of his ticket for re-election, polling nearly 150,000 more votes than his opponent, Breckinridge Long.

MINNESOTA.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 3.—Swept along by the overwhelming plurality given Senator Harding, the entire Republican State ticket, headed by J. A. O. Preus for Governor, has been victorious in Minnesota. Preus has a lead of 100,000 over Henrik Shipstead, Non-Partisan League candidate.

The majority for Harding had passed 250,000 tonight. 2,220 of the State's 3,220 precincts gave him 377,506 and Cox 88,400. This would give him 500,000 lead at a low estimate.

In the Seventh District, Congressman Volstead, author of the Prohibition Enforcement Act, maintained his lead over the Rev. J. Kvale, Nonpartisan League choice. 249 precincts out of 320 giving Volstead 39,136 and Kvale 31,961.

THE CITY VOTE.

Harding by 440,041, Smith by 819,611, Wadsworth by About 101,000, Swann by About 12,000.

BUILDING BREVITIES

A construction company that, for years, has met and conquered the cold and storm of New England and Canadian winters is not likely to be troubled by any peculiarities of climate.

The more difficult the conditions surrounding a construction project the more reason for having it built by ABERTHAW.

MILLER OUTLINES HIS STATE PROGRAM

HONESTY AND EFFICIENCY

SYRACUSE, Nov. 3.—In a statement issued tonight thanking Republican voters for their support, Governor-elect Nathan L. Miller outlined the problems which he expects to face during his administration. Three of his recommendations to the Legislature will be:

Reduction of the cost of State Government, which is now running $17,000,000 ahead of State revenues.

Repeal of the Direct Primary law, which he characterized as a "Tammany instrument drawn in Tammany interests."

"I have made no specific promises in the campaign, except to say that I will endeavor to give the State an honest, economical and efficient administration, to treat every problem as it arises on its merits in the interests of all of the people of the State.

"Of course, the first problem demanding attention is the cost of the State Government, which is now over $17,000,000 in excess of the State's revenues. I have nothing concrete to suggest at the present time, as I propose to study the subject thoroughly before suggesting specific measures.

"In my opinion, the problem of food production and distribution is one of the most pressing problems we have to deal with. The problem I propose to have studied from every possible angle.

"The whole State is greatly interested in the development of the port of the City of New York and in the improvement of its terminal facilities and methods of distribution. I hope to secure the co-operation of public-spirited citizens in helping to advance the solution of these problems.

"The city has its own transportation problem which cannot be suffered to drift much longer without serious loss and discomfort to the people of that city.

"Questions of public health and the general welfare involve many problems which will have to receive careful consideration.

gress and some of his friends say that this was a factor in his defeat.

Republicans tonight are declaring that Cordell Hull in the Fourth District is defeated. Hull is the Democratic National Committeeman from Tennessee. Returns from all but three counties of the district show that W. F. Clouse, Hull's Republican opponent, is leading by 316 votes.

In the Eighth District Lon A. Scott, Republican, has a substantial lead over Gordon Browning, Democrat, and a Republican victory is thought certain.

With the election of a Republican Governor and five Republican Congressmen, yesterday's results in Tennessee represent a political upheaval, even if the final count puts the State in the Cox column.

When the suffrage issue was before the Lower House of Tennessee as the thirty-sixth State to ratify, Democratic leaders, including Governor Roberts and Senator McCall, appealed to members of the Legislature to vote for ratification. Governor Roberts said that the fate of the League of Nations hung upon the action of the legislators.

Tennessee ratified. Thousands of negro women all over the State cast their first ballots, and the Republican tide ingulfed time-honored Democratic majorities in all sections. Governor Roberts went down in the storm yesterday.

Harry Burn, Republican member of the Assembly, whose vote settled the question of ratification, has been re-elected over J. H. Jone, Democrat, by a majority of less than 200 after a bitter fight.

Both Sides Claim State.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 3.—Unofficial returns gathered by The Nashville Tennessean from all but three out of the ninety-five counties in Tennessee late tonight give Senator Harding a lead of 10,177 votes over Governor Cox. The figures of The Tennessean, based on returns from all but fifty precincts of ninety-two counties, were Harding 101,739, Cox 161,562.

Colonel Alf Taylor, Republican, whose election as Governor of Tennessee over Governor Roberts, Democrat, seemed to be indicated tonight, is 72 years old. He ran for Governor more than a third of a century ago and entered this year's contest after twenty-five years of political retirement.

He is a brother of "Our Bob," late Governor and Senator from Tennessee, and the probability of his election recalls the memorable contest between the two brothers in 1886 for the Governorship, Alf running as a Republican and Bob as a Democrat. The two brothers in the 1886 campaign made a spirited contest, speaking to immense crowds, hammering each other's party and poking fun at each other, but winding up each day with every evidence of unimpaired brotherly affection.

An aged woman with whom the two visited during the campaign recognized the consideration each gave the other and on one occasion gave them a cluster of roses, red for Alf and white for Bob. The campaign thereupon became known as the "War of the Roses," and the "Knight of the White Rose," as Bob was termed, won at the polls.

During the 1886 campaign Bob Taylor carried with him a fiddle made, he told his audiences, at his home at Happy Valley, in East Tennessee, which he played at each joint speaking date. He rarely attempted to discuss the serious issues of the campaign, spending the greater part of his time in telling jokes at the expense of his serious-minded brother Alf, and playing the fiddle.

Alf Taylor finally countered by producing the Taylor Quartet, composed of his sons and nephews, which played old-time Southern melodies on the guitar, banjo and violin at each speaking date of the Republican brother.

OKLAHOMA GOES TO HARDING.

Plurality of Nearly 8,000 in Two-Thirds of the Precincts.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 3.—Taking the lead in the Presidential race in Oklahoma on a tabulation compiled at 2 o'clock today, Senator Harding, on the face of unofficial and incomplete returns at 8:30 o'clock, had increased his lead over Governor Cox to 7,824 in 1,759 precincts out of a total of 2,685 in the State. The count stood: Harding, 150,993; Cox, 143,169.

J. M. Harreld was leading Scott Ferris for the Senatorship by 12,102. The vote was from 1,842 precincts and gave Harreld 163,328, Ferris 151,136.

HOPE WILSON WILL RESUBMIT TREATY

PRESIDENT'S PLAN UNKNOWN

Some Believe He Will Keep Up Fight for Ratification—Talk of Knox's Leaving Bitter-Enders.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Irreconcilable Republican Senators assert that the election ends the fight to put the United States into the League of Nations. This view, however, is not shared here by other Republicans who say that the League of Nations was not the real issue in the election. In the opinion of these Republicans the United States will finally enter the League in some shape, perhaps after the plan has been greatly modified by Root, Taft, Wickersham and others.

The question now agitating the few Senators here is whether the President will return the treaty to the next session of the Senate and then suggest that it be ratified along the lines of the Lodge reservations and call upon his party to support it in the form in which it was rejected in the Senate early this year.

There is no indication how the President will proceed in the matter. Some of those who heretofore have spoken with some authority on Administration matters say that the President is undaunted in defeat, and will press for ratification of the treaty and the League of Nations covenant before he leaves office. The treaty cannot come before the Senate except by its return to that body by the President.

Reservation Republicans who disagree with the irreconcilable Republicans are hopeful that the President will submit the treaty and give the Senate an opportunity to discuss it in the face of the so-called referendum. This course, they say, would permit the Republican Senate to define its views before a change in the Administration.

Differ on League as Issue.

It is next to impossible to analyze the election results so far as the League of Nations is concerned. The Republican Senators who came before the voters were about equally divided, but if anything there were more who stood for reservations and the ratification of the treaty with Article X. of the covenant modified than those who were uncompromisingly opposed to entering into the League in any form.

On the other hand the irreconcilable group is just as strong in the next Senate as in the present. While two bitter enemies of the League, Senators Gore and Gronna, were defeated in the primaries and will not be in the next Senate, yet their loss has been made up by the election of Shortridge in California, Gooding in Idaho and Nicholson in Colorado, who are classed as opposed to the League.

The irreconcilable group was strong in the last Senate because of the leadership of Senator Knox, who, while not continually expressing his views on the floor, gave strength and stability to the movement. There is talk here that Senator Knox may join with ex-Secretary Root and attempt to work out an association or modified League of Nations. In case he should do so the force of the opposition would be greatly weakened. In this group were Senators Borah, Johnson, McCormick, Moses, Brandegee, La Follette, Poindexter, Penrose, Reed and Shields.

Senator Borah, who devoted his entire energy during the campaign to developing opposition to the League in support of irreconcilable Senators, believes that the League is dead as a result of the election. He favors the prompt passage of a resolution to declare the war at an end, and the wiping out of war regulations.

Borah's Statement.

"The overwhelming and engulfing vote for the Republican ticket was the judgment of the American people against the League or any political alliance or combination with European powers," said Senator Borah. "The League was the issue. The last three weeks heard nothing else. The audiences would listen to nothing else. The President clearly and courageously presented the League proposition in his last interviews to the public.

"Mr. Cox made his final appeal for the League. The great Democratic papers told the people over and over again that a vote for the Republican ticket was a vote for the absolute rejection of the League. The Elliots and the Fishers and the Parsons packed their trunks and departed and told why they had to leave the party—because it was against the League. Harding in his speeches, particularly at Des Moines and in his speech at Akron at the very close of the campaign, accepted the issue.

"The Republican leaders almost universally accepted the issue. The people rendered judgment. It was the triumph of nationalism. It was not the victory of the Republicans alone, but the American people, because hundreds of thousands of Democrats voted the Republican ticket. It was an absolute rejection of all political alliances or leagues with foreign powers. It is the re-dedication of this nation to the foreign policy of George Washington and James Monroe, undiluted and unemasculated. The Republican Party in my opinion will accept the judgment as rendered and religiously live up to it.

"We should pass our resolution declaring a state of peace, wipe out the arbitrary and drastic laws passed during the war and hasten to concentrate our energy and all our brain power to the solution of our domestic and industrial questions which now threaten our whole industrial fabric. The task ahead of the Republican Party is greater than was ever presented to a political party in time of peace, and I would not hesitate to say in time of war. It is almost a superhuman task, and yet if we do not meet it we will have the same judgment rendered against us shortly that has just been rendered against others. The people are not partisan these days. They are fighting and voting for principles. They are doing their own thinking. They expect results and it is up to the Republican Party to see that they are not greatly disappointed. The times and the judgment rendered demand a candid, open, progressive, forward-looking, constructive program."

JOHNSON SAYS VOTE MEANS END OF LEAGUE

'Bitter End' Senator Declares That It Has Been Repudiated Overwhelmingly.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson declared here today that the election results meant the end of the League of Nations.

"No amount of sophistry or pretence can obscure the issue in yesterday's election," he said. "Men and women who bear the burden and pay the price of war finally have had the opportunity to pass upon the foreign policy of their country. On the one hand was the internationalism of the League of Nations, and on the other the American policy of Washington, Jefferson and Monroe.

"The menacing, dangerous and entangling League has been emphatically and overwhelmingly repudiated. Sons and daughter of America have determined America shall remain the nation we have known, continuing steadfastly in the old path that led to our present greatness and glory.

"It is the end of the League of Nations, it is the recrudescence of Americanism. The victory of Senator Harding is the response of the American spirit to the endeavor to denationalize it."

Costa Rica to Join League.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The Costa Rican Government has designated Mr. Peralta, the Costa Rican Minister to France, to attend the League of Nations meeting at Geneva on Nov. 15, for the purpose of applying for admission of Costa Rica to the League.

5 good tips on glove economy

2. Do not wear very tight gloves. A well made glove will fit smoothly even when easy to slip on — and will last longer.
3. Get more than one pair for daily use...Like shoes, two pair last MORE than twice as long as one.
4. Get quality gloves... The other kind are discarded before they have given service.
5. Do not ask for "gloves" — ask for Fownes, with the name in the wrist.

LAUZANNE INVITES AMERICAN LEAGUE

PERTINAX PRAISES HARDING

Other French Editorial Writers Look on Election as a Blow to League Prospects.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—In an article to be published tomorrow morning, Stephane Lauzanne, editor of the Matin, asks Senator Harding to repair the League of Nations so that it will work like the Wrights' airplane or Edison's phonograph. While ignoring Harding's suggestion of another association, Lauzanne tells him that there will not be much trouble about any changes in the League America may desire in exchange for her co-operation.

Lauzanne pays the customary French tribute to the successful candidate. He would probably have been as laudatory to Governor Cox had the latter won, but because Lauzanne's message to Harding unquestionably represents the ideas of a large part of French opinion it is as important as it is interesting. He writes:

"I want to tell my countrymen why they ought to rejoice at the result of the election of Nov. 2 and why they ought to salute with confidence, joyfully and with enthusiasm, the arrival of Harding to power.

"First of all, Harding stands for order. He has spoken over there as Millerand has spoken here. And his Vice President, Calvin Coolidge, in the face of the strikers of Boston acted as Millerand acted facing the strikers last May.

"In the next place, Harding stands for clear thinking. He is one of those who in 1919 when they were negotiating this covenant made up of philosophical dreams and egoism saw clearly and opposed it, demanding that the conditions to be imposed on Germany be settled first and that only afterwards should be undertaken the establishment of permanent peace in the world by means of a League of Nations.

Message to the President-Elect.

"Thus to the great citizen who on March 4 will succeed not only Wilson, but Roosevelt, Lincoln and Grant I say: 'Mr. President, you have, as the chief of the American State would have, our respect and our affection. But you have something more, you have our confidence. You saw right in 1919, when with anger mixed with grief you said that France and Europe were in danger of being drowned in a dream after they had been drowned in blood. You are the very incarnation of that wonderful country of America which is made up of equal doses of idealism and commonsense. You have shown us how high was your idealism. Now show us how robust is your commonsense.

"'It was a machine which worked that the Wright brothers invented. It was a phonograph which worked that Edison invented. It is a League of Nations which will work that we expect from you. That one which has been built is a heavy and unwieldly carcass in which there are no American characteristics—life, rapidity and fairness. Change it and put into it the qualities of your race. As for the pact guarantee which Mr. Wilson promised us and did not give us, don't trouble yourselves. It was the stupidness of the fabrications of the treaty that they did not write in red letters what ought o have been written there and did write what it was needless to write there. Between Lusseland, who has been at Washington since the beginning of the century as the proud and happy representative of the dignity of France, and the American Administration there has been exchanged only three signed documents. Yet America has lent us billions and sent us millions of men. Written pacts are good with some countries. They are needless with America. A pact with American conscience and American friendship is sufficient for us.'"

Pertinax Urges "Material Interests."

Pertinax in the Echo de Paris tomorrow will say that America has abandoned the role of reformer and is going to take the world as it is. On that basis, which suits Pertinax all right, he hopes Mr. Harding will act with the "practical" statesmen of Europe in settling the world's troubles. Writes Pertinax:

"Does the fact that America has abandoned the Wilsonian League of Nations mean that America has definitely adopted an attitude of abstention from the affairs of Europe? The friends of the present League of Nations, seeking to support their chimera, reply in the affirmative to this question. We are not of their opinion.

"The United States can take part in the affairs of the old continent in two ways—they can aggravate and complicate them with disordered dreams, with humanitarism, with their Biblical reformations and their bolshevism. That was the method of the Government which succumbed yesterday. They can help in re-establishing international order by applying themselves to the settling in concert with us certain concrete problems. In brief they can act as prophets or they can behave as business men.

"The first method which found expression in the covenant stands for nothing today for it was only a veil to cover personal ambitions. It was only a vain effort to settle in one act International problems of all times and all countries. The second method may be more timid in appearance. It consists not in giving vain, general promises and in pretentious theories, but in taking the world as it is and doing something. Perhaps the new chiefs of America attach to this conception, slower but surer, a greater importance than did their predecessors. Perhaps they will show themselves more insular. In the end we shall gain by the change. The interest of America leads her to work with us. The realist who has been elected will understand that. Confident in the conversion of the destinies of our two countries we should confer with Washington upon the basis of material interest."

La Liberté tonight says:

"We cannot lose sight of the anti-Wilson character of the American vote yesterday. What irony! When Mr. Wilson came to Paris to the Peace Conference his person and his ideas were powerful because he seemed to us to incarnate the will of a people of 100,000,000. But it was not only his Senate that he was in disagreement with, but it was with the great majority of his country. The election of Mr. Harding ends the Wilson debate."

La Liberté fears Nov. 2 was a bad day for the League of Nations.

The Journal des Débats prints a rather strange and unjustifiable picture of social unrest in America, and finds that Senator Harding faces a serious crisis. It finds fault with the Republican program of protection.

Considered a Blow to the League.

PARIS, Nov. 3 (Associated Press)—Paris papers, commenting this afternoon on the American election, agree that Senator Harding's success is a distinct defeat for the League of Nations as established by the Wilson covenant.

The Temps says: "The election may be considered as a referendum on the entrance of the United States into the League of Nations, the result of which is a personal defeat for President Wilson. Mr. Harding is opposed to the Wilsonian conception of the League, but is favorable to constituting 'an association of nations.'"

The Intransigeant says: "From the French point of view it is a success. Senator Harding has often professed friendship for France, declaring that France would find in him an ally. He will not relinquish the traditions which bind the new world with France."

M. Longuet's Populaire, as well as the other Socialist papers, relegate the American election into second place, featuring instead the Bolshevist victory over General Wrangel.

L'Information says: "Senator Harding said in a recent speech: 'Let our conscience regulate our relations with the rest of the world.' France has faith in Senator Harding's conscience, as well as that of the American people."

The election left Bourse circles anxious and uncertain today. The dollar advanced more than twenty points. Speculators as well as investors were cautious. Business was dull.

BRITISH STILL LOOK FOR OUR LEAGUE AID

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Thursday, Nov. 4.—English comment on the Presidential election has taken no very clear-cut line, but the prevailing opinion is apparently that while Senator Harding's success is momentarily a victory of the ideas represented by the slogan "America First," it does not mean that the United States will eventually either be able or want to maintain the old Washingtonian policy according to the strict letter of a principle which has necessarily been affected by world movements of recent years. The Evening Standard, for instance, says:

"There are certain facts which must be recognized by America as by the other powers when the anti-Wilson obsession declines, and we have every confidence that after the Republicans have settled down they will see clearly the impossibility of the United States disclaiming all responsibility for the affairs of the world. Senator Harding, while condemning the covenant of the League of Nations in its present shape, favors an association of nations. Names and forms are not important. The important thing is the spirit which makes co-operation possible. We believe and hope that the spirit will not be lacking."

The Evenings News expresses a somewhat similar view.

The radical Star says:

"All German and Irish enemies of England improved the occasion by representing the League of Nations as an English dodge to entrap the United States, and this gave Senator Harding's campaign great impetus. So the participation of the grat Republic in the pacification of the world is indefinitely delayed and hampered. We regret it, but it is well to face the facts. The Republican party which has now been placed in undisputed power, represents financial interests and big business, the party of the solid commercial interests of the North, and it is evident that there has been a strong reaction against Bolshevist propaganda among the foreign born section of the working class which is so large a ratio in the United States. America intends to attend to its own affairs and let the rest of the world sink or swim as it may."

The Westminster Gazette says:

"We can only wonder whether if President Wilson had been well and strong he would have been able to stem the tide and carry the policy for which he stood. There has been no adequate substitute for him on the platform."

The Daily News says the composition of Mr. Harding's Cabinet will be more important to this country than the fact of his election, since the new President may be counted on to reverse the practice of his predecessor and avoid personal action independent of his Ministers. The paper says the appointment of Root and Hoover would be viewed with unqualified satisfaction here, whereas accession to power of a Borah-Johnson combination "would mean concentration on an isolation policy that might easily become anti-British and anti-European."

The Daily Mail says that in choosing Harding the people of the United States "have declared emphatically for a spell of conservatism in their home politics and for cautious Americanism in world outlook." The paper says Governor Cox's defeat condemns the League of Nations as constructed at Versailles, and adds:

"But while Harding discards the League, as we know it, he and his party are aware that the United States sooner or later must do their part in settling the troubles of the Old World. How, when and where that world association with Europe shall best take effect it is for the United States people alone to decide."

The Morning Post says:

"The real issue was not the League but a policy of which the League was merely the outward and tattered manifestation. The issue was Wilsonism—a system of government rigid in its conception and autocratic in its methods which was passionately glorified and ruthlessly applied by the retiring President. Mr. Wilson is an idealist, so is Lenin, and though their ideals were so different their methods, making all allowances for the gulf which separates Washington from Moscow and an honest and humane man from a ruffian, had something in common. Wilson was once a professor and his inflexible principles, his exalted egoism, his blind faith in his own cure for the ills of the world, all harmless enough in the sheltered groves of an academy, were dangerous maladies to use in a mighty excited and dangerously tried world.

"To him the abstract goal was everything. Moderation and compromise were to him dust in the balance compared with the realization and imposition of this scheme which Democracy's anointed had made his own. He called to his councils in Paris men of his own party only, men obedient to his arbitrary will, and he shut his ears till it was too late to the warnings of Lodge and the grey-things of the Senate. He came to Europe almost a conqueror, he left it disappointed and broken and probably convinced of complete failure. His dream is already shattered and Upper Silesia, Flume, Mesopotamia, Armenia and anxious France and a disturbed Pacific are some of his legacies.

"This was the issue, then, on which Americans voted. They have declared emphatically against autocratic idealism, and we venture to think that the decision will bring relief to the world. To some Wilson is a saint, to others a crank, but it is now clear that Americans are going to submit neither to the reign of saints nor the rule of cranks."

The Daily Telegraph refers to Senator Harding's election as "a crushing condemnation" of Wilsonism and "an overwhelming protest against the existing Administration." It proceeds:

"The national verdict, we are assured on all hands, is not a verdict in favor of national isolation. Such a position, indeed, is no longer possible for the United States. That country is today, as its economic difficulties painfully remind it, a creditor on a great scale instead of a debtor. It has, therefore, a direct and urgent concern for the peace and good government of the rest of the world. It may be added that recent developments of scientific warfare have diminished to an extent which Americans are first to realize the natural military security of the country and so have given it a further active interest in the preservation of peace. The first act of the new Republican regime will, there can be no doubt, be directed to clearing up the country's international position. The best we can wish Mr. Harding and his party is that the situation be no more difficult when they come into power than it admittedly is at the present time."

IDAHO.

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 3.—James P. Pope, Democratic State Chairman, tonight conceded the election of Frank R. Gooding, Republican, as Senator over Senator John F. Nugent, Democrat.

The count for President in 329 of 335 precincts gave: Cox, 33,346; Harding, 65,139. For Senator, Gooding, 54,006; Nugent, 45,193. For Governor, Davis, Republican, 54,104; Walters, Democrat, 28,000; Fairchild, Farmer-Labor, 17,772.

MONTANA.

Special to The New York Times.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 3.—Montana has elected every Republican candidate on the State ticket with heavy majorities. Harding will get between 25,000 and 30,000 plurality over Cox and Christensen.

Joseph M. Dixon, manager of the Roosevelt campaign in 1912, is Governor. He defeated B. K. Wheeler, Non-Partisan-Democratic candidate by 21,000 to 22,000. Every State official and both houses of the Legislature will be controlled by the Republican Party. The Non-Partisan and the Labor vote, of which much was expected, split in both city and farm voting districts.

Montana re-elected Riddick, Second District, to Congress and sent W. J. McCormick of Missoula to Washington for the first time.

NEVADA.

RENO, Nev., Nov. 3.—For the first time in twelve years Nevada has cast a majority vote for a Republican Presidential nominee. On incomplete returns Cox has 5,611, Harding 9,291. It is predicted by Republican leaders that the State will give Harding a majority of at least 7,000. For United States Senator, ex-Governor Oddie, Republican, leads Senator Henderson, the Democratic incumbent, and Arentz, Republican, is ahead of Evans, Democrat, for Congress.

WEST VIRGINIA.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 3.—Returns from 1,425 districts out of 1,868 in West Virginia give these results:

For President—Cox, 150,177; Harding, 213,518.

For Governor—Koontz, Democrat, 136,010; Montgomery, Non-Partisan, 66,206; Morgan, Republican, 180,668. The final plurality for Harding, at this rate, should be about 70,000.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 3.—Every Republican candidate on national and State tickets in South Dakota was leading on returns from 367 precincts in thirty-seven counties. Judge Williamson, Republican candidate for Congress in the Third District, had 1,720 votes to 1,058 for Harry L. Grandy, Democrat. Williamson is the only Republican whose election Democratic headquarters here has not conceded.

Disinfection Is an Every-day Necessity

Disease germs work twenty-four hours a day—attempting to destroy health and spread contagious disease.

And if you are to combat this constant menace to health successfully, frequent disinfection is necessary. Daily disinfection will guard your establishment and your home against disease germs.

Lysol Disinfectant

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

At the office: Have a solution of Lysol Disinfectant used in cuspidors, toilet-rooms, dark corners, on floors and rugs.

In the home: Have a solution of Lysol Disinfectant sprinkled regularly in sinks, drains, toilets, garbage cans.

A little Lysol Disinfectant should be added to all scrubbing water, too.

Remember, there is but one genuine Lysol Disinfectant—made, bottled, signed, and sealed by Lehn & Fink, Inc.

Lysol Toilet Soap 25c a Cake

Contains the necessary proportion of the antiseptic ingredients of Lysol Disinfectant to protect the health of the skin. It is also refreshingly soothing, healing, and helpful for improving the skin. Ask your dealer. If he hasn't it, ask him to order it for you.

Lysol Shaving Cream in Tubes

Contains the necessary proportion of the antiseptic ingredients of Lysol Disinfectant to render the razor, soap, cup, and shaving-brush aseptically clean, guard tiny cuts from infection, and give an antiseptic shave. If your dealer hasn't it, ask him to order a supply for you.

HARDING ADVOCATES BIG TRADE FLEET

WOULD BAR 'DUMPING' HERE

Regrets That Panama Canal Is Not a Free Highway for American Business.

An indication of President-elect Harding's probable policy toward American shipping is contained in The Nautical Gazette, the international weekly chronicle of shipping, out next Saturday. In a signed article telegraphed from Marion, Ohio, to the shipping journal, Senator Harding declares that "a well-equipped merchant marine is a prime essential of successful commerce," and intimates that the Panama Canal should be a free waterway for American vessels.

"The phenomenal emergence of a great American merchant marine," wrote the next President, "is one of the most striking economic consequences of the World War. In 1914 the total tonnage registered for foreign trade under the American flag was 1,066,000 gross tons; today, thanks to the quick sense of the American people as to the critical importance of shipping in the World War, and to the invincible genius of American industry in surmounting governmental delay and administrative inefficiency, there is ready for our flag some 12,500,000 gross tons of sea-going vessels.

"This importance of our new merchant marine is not alone that it salvages and puts to use a vast and costly body of war material, nor even that it adds a great new activity to the nation's business life, as well as a wholesale safeguard to the country's security; but, more significant still, it provides the mechanism wherewith we can retain and enlarge the economic vantage-ground in world commerce and world finance which we now enjoy.

Fleet a Prime Essential.

"A well-equipped merchant marine is a prime essential of successful commerce; it is the best agency of trade development. Nothing else will supply the same enterprises in the search for new markets, nor contribute the same energy in the opening up of new trade routes, nor offer the same encouragement for the investment abroad of our surplus capital. Over-seas transportation in American bottoms is of the root and essence of American commercial expansion.

"How urgent is the need will appear if we consider the new position of our country in the world trade. In five years we have changed from a debtor nation, owing the world between four and five billion dollars with a varying annual trade balance, sometimes against us, to a creditor nation to whom the world is in debt on capital account some twelve billion dollars, and to whom is due an annual credit balance certainly as great probably much greater, than our prior debit balance.

"It is of the gravest national concern that this changed international position shall not work to the injury of our industrial and agricultural life. Larger exports of merchandise from the debtor to the creditor country remain as the line of least resistance, and to this course we must be prepared to see Europe bending, every effort. It is the natural way in which restorations from war must be wrought.

"But a flood of imports from debtor countries latent upon stimulating their productive output and aided, even though unwittingly, by an unfavorable foreign exchange, would be a bitter experience for the creditor country. We mean to deal considerately, we want to help, but we do not mean to paralyze America to effect a restoration.

"From any such invasion we have a right to be saved. Our new merchant marine will do much to avert it. Supplemented, now and whenever occasion requires, by a cautious revision of the tariff, that, while regardful of our changed international position, will effectually safeguard every phase of American industry and agriculture, the new shipping development will become a potent element in American economic growth without the accompaniment of social injury.

Must Increase Trade.

"The war caused the rapid expansion of our saltwater transportation facilities and yet, even in 1919, only about 34 per cent. of our exports and 50 per cent. of our imports were moved under the American flag. We must persist in every measure aiming not only to hold, but to increase the proportion of overseas trade under our flag. It may prove difficult when the merchant fleet of Europe begins to be rehabilitated.

"They, like the industries of Europe, will seek to undersell us and in order to keep our shipmasters in business we will find it necessary to extend every possible encouragement, every reasonable preference to our own.

"Convinced as I am that the Panama Canal has a peculiar concern to the people of our central valley, it has long been a matter of profound regret to me that the canal should not have been made one of the great free highways of American trade, whatever may have been the merits of the exigencies which sustained the denial to American trade of special advantages due to American ships by reason of our construction of the canal. The time surely will come when we must claim for our own country and for the western continents every rightful privilege that may occur by virtue of this linking of the two great oceans.

"The canal ought to be an interest and unity between all the Americas, and I cannot but feel that the policy of a Democratic Administration in administering the canal has failed sadly in realizing these possibilities. It will be our aim to correct the mistakes of the past and to devise a constructive American program for the future."

SOCIALISTS THANK DEBS.

Tell Him Wilson, Palmer and Burleson Are Rebuked.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Socialist National Headquarters here tonight sent a telegram to Eugene V. Debs, Socialist nominee for the Presidency, now in the Atlanta Penitentiary, telling him that the "American people have repudiated Wilson, Palmer and Burleson," and that the "Republican landslide was not only against the League of Nations, but against Wilson and all his works."

Continuing, the message read:

"Mass of workers not yet sufficiently educated to realize futility of this remedy. Returns too incomplete to make definite predictions on vote for President. Number of Legislators elected in New York, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

"On behalf of the Campaign Committee I wish to thank you for the splendid statements issued by you, which I am sure contributed largely to gratifying result. Your splendid courage and steadfastness has been the inspiration of the movement. Your heroic example has been the greatest factor in rallying the comrades and giving them the courage and enthusiasm necessary to wage such a successful campaign."

COOLIDGE WELCOMES GAINS IN THE SOUTH

Declares That "Nowhere Is the American Spirit So Strong" as There.

ACCLAIMED BY BOSTONIANS

Exchanges Felicitations with Harding by Telephone and Gets Roosevelt Message.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—Governor Coolidge said tonight that one of the gratifying results of the election "has been the nation-wide support of the ticket."

"While, of course, most of the Southern States have been carried by the Democratic Party," he added, "Republican strength in that section has so increased as to indicate the breaking away from the former prejudices that ruled there for many years.

"There is nowhere that the American spirit is so strong as in the border and Southern States. If we can eliminate the sectional feeling that has so long prevailed, these States will vote the Republican ticket. They are against every form of radicalism and their attachment to Constitutional government is overpowering."

Talks on 'Phone With Harding.

Governor Coolidge called Senator Harding by long distance telephone early in the day and extended congratulations.

"I extend you my hearty greetings," said Governor Coolidge.

"I extend the same to you, Governor."

"It is a very great victory," said Governor Coolidge.

"Splendid," replied Senator Harding.

"I'm glad to hear from you. Please give my regards to Mrs. Harding."

"It's fine of you to call me up. Mrs. Harding will appreciate your good wishes," the Senator answered.

"I hope to see you before long."

"I'll be very glad to see you at any time," Senator Harding said. "I think I'll take a needed rest for a while, though."

"The results ought to brace anyone up," said the Governor.

"I do feel fine over it."

"I'm at your service at any time," added Governor Coolidge.

"We've got a real job ahead and we'll tackle it together," said Senator Harding.

Then both said "Goodbye."

Governor Coolidge spent the day at the State House attending to his duties and announced that he would continue actively to direct State affairs until his term expires on Jan. 1. He added that he had made no definite plans for the period between that date and March 4.

A luncheon was given for the Governor at the City Club, and when he left the State House after attending a meeting of the Executive Council he received an ovation from thousands. Escorted by a band and accompanied by Senator Lodge, Governor-elect Channing H. Cox and Lieut. Gov.-elect Alvin T. Fuller, he went to the club, where he responded to congratulatory addresses.

Messages of congratulation poured in from all sections of the country, among them being one from Franklin D. Roosevelt, which the Governor acknowledged in a brief telegram.

Tomorrow evening Governor and Mrs. Coolidge will be guests at a reception at the University Club in this city. Both will attend a reception by the citizens of Northampton, their home city, on Friday evening. The Governor will go to Gloucester Monday for a reception to the crew of the schooner Esperanto, winner of the international championship of the North Atlantic fishing fleet.

Celebration at Coolidge Home.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 3.—The victory of Vice President-elect Coolidge was celebrated in his home city tonight by an entirely unarranged demonstration. An impromptu procession with several drum corps and broom brigades and a long procession of automobiles was held, while church bells rang and horns tooted.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Nov. 3.—Plymouth, the birthplace of Governor Coolidge, gave 158 votes to Harding and his running mate and 15 votes to Cox and Roosevelt in yesterday's election. Four years ago the vote here was 91 for Hughes and 89 for Wilson. The first man to cast a ballot in Plymouth yesterday was John C. Coolidge, father of the Governor.

COX SOON TO MAKE EUROPEAN TOUR

MESSAGES COMMEND FIGHT

Some of Them Express the Belief That He Will Lead Again in 1924.

Special to The New York Times.

DAYTON, Ohio, Nov. 3.—Governor James M. Cox made no comment today on the election beyond his telegram to Senator Harding (printed in another column). He spent most of the day at his farm at Middletown with Mrs. Cox. They tramped about the fields, inspecting the farm for several hours and then drove back to Trails End. While at the farm the Governor helped in husking corn.

There was nothing in the manner of Governor Cox to show that he was suffering in the least from depression. He believes that he made the hardest fight that he could make for the League of Nations and on other issues before the people. After the complete returns are in he may have a statement to make.

It is the intention of Governor Cox to go hunting in Mississippi, starting early next week, with Senator Harrison. He said also today that he probably would make a tour of Europe soon after Jan. 1, when his term of office as Governor of Ohio will expire. On this tour he will study conditions abroad.

The Governor said he had worked so continuously all of his life that he had had practically no boyhood period in which to play about and had enjoyed no opportunity to travel. It is recalled that prior to the recent campaign trip he never had been west of the Mississippi River. He has made no definite plans concerning the trip to Europe.

The Governor was up early this morning, showing no sign of weariness. He chatted with employes on his estate at Trails End and then announced that he intended to take a trip to Middletown to visit his neighbors there.

Cox Paper Comments Briefly.

The Dayton News, owned by Governor Cox, published a brief editorial today under the heading: "The election is over." It read:

"The election is over and the citizens of the United States are glad that it is. Feeling runs high during a national campaign, but the moment that the decision of the electorate is announced the thought in the public mind is that of pleasure that the event has passed. The spirit of America is that the voice of the majority must rule in the Nation's affairs. From this traditional standpoint there must be no departure now.

"Figures associated with the election results will be studied and conclusions reached in the course of time. There will soon be a return to our customary pursuits as a people. The period of congratulations over a victory will merge presently with the prompt obedience of our citizenship to the mandate of the men and women who this year formed the majority."

The Dayton Journal, a bitter opponent of Governor Cox, made no personal attack upon him today in its editorial, which carried the caption: "Triumph for Americanism, Right and Justice." Extracts from the editorial read:

"Again, the splendid personality, the beautiful family life and the great heart of that splendid and good American, Warren G. Harding, was a tremendous deciding factor. Again, this election was a stinging rebuke from the American people to those who degenerated a campaign for the highest office in the country to vicious and low slander. So that the victory the people of the United States will celebrate today is a victory for everything that is good and fine in America, good and fine in the American home and at the American fireside, and an assurance of the return of constitutional government in Washington."

Receives Many Messages.

Telegrams began to pour in upon Governor Cox from all parts of the country and not a few of them expressed the opinion that despite the election result he would appear as the party standard bearer in 1924. Governor Cox's only comment in regard to the messages was that it was good to know who loyal friends were at such an hour. He was deeply touched by many of the telegrams which commented on the "splendid fight" he had made for the League of Nations. Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, leader of the Democratic forces in the fight for the League in the Senate, sent this:

"You have fought a good fight and kept the faith. Nothing else matters."

Thomas Taggart, who was defeated for Senator in Indiana, telegraphed:

"I am sorry we could not have done better. Accept my congratulations on the splendid fight you made, even though it was a loser."

A telegram signed by Frank Botkins and dated Mobile, Ala., summed up sentiments which were expressed in hundreds of those which were laid in a pile on a table in the Governor's home at Trail's End this evening. It read:

"Want you to know that all we folks here did everything we knew how, for you fought the hardest battle any one man ever fought and it was not you that was defeated; it was the party. Our friends in every part of the United States are for you personally. Everybody admired the wonderful single handed battle you waged and nobody believes there is another man in the United States who could have polled one-half the votes that you have. We are for you and always will be." Good luck and God bless you."

Edward A. Ryan, the man who was arrested in Baltimore when he heckled Senator Harding, sent this:

"Your fight was admirable and all are proud of you."

Peabody Sends a Telegram.

Here are some other messages:

George Foster Peabody, New York—"Your splendid fight deserves the fruit of further responsibility. It has made unnumbered friends and admirers for your courage and ability."

Elizabeth Marbury—"We are with you loyally preferring defeat with you than victory with Harding."

Genevieve Clark Thomson—"The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly fine. There will be another day."

William B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor: "You have fought the good fight. You have kept the faith. Truth crushed to earth will rise again. The eternal years of God are here. It is better to lose in a cause that is right than to win in a cause that is wrong."

Allan W. Thurman, Columbus, Ohio: "You lost after making a gallant, straightforward fight. Your opponent won by making just the opposite kind."

Daniel H. Coakley, Boston, Mass.: "Despite the returns, Massachusetts recognizes a great leader of Democracy. No man could have made such a brave and manly fight as you made. I congratulate you."

With Him for 1924.

Mrs. W. E. Bolin, Democratic County Central Committee, Omaha, Neb.: "You have fought a good fight, but it is better to be right than be President. We are with you heart and soul for 1924."

Mr. and Mrs. Burris Jenkins, Kansas City: "Hoped until late last night you would carry Missouri. We did our level best. You made a noble, high-toned fight and created much sentiment for the League." (Dr. Jenkins put W. G. McAdoo's name on nomination at the San Francisco convention.)

Charles E. Barker, Clarksville, Tenn.: League of Nations not abrogated, only suspended. Thank you for your matchless fight. Presidency will be yours in 1924 for the asking."

W. J. Pearson, Los Angeles, assistant manager of the Democratic National Committee for the Pacific Coast: "Our defeat today spells victory four years from now. Get your house in order for an aggressive campaign. You will be President of the United States. Congratulate you upon the wonderful fight you have made for right and justice."

John J. Noonan, Washington, D. C.: "Deepest regret, but I now congratulate you for your victory in 1924. Your gallant fight means your nomination and election then."

Governor Cox will go to Columbus on Friday to attend to State business. He will then return to Trailsend to prepare for his hunting trip.

Late returns indicate that Governor Cox lost Montgomery County, his home, by from 6,000 to 8,000 votes. This was a keen disappointment to him. Leaders said it was but an incident of the great Republican sweep.

Fit that gives comfort where comfort counts most

THE crotch of a union suit is the place where comfort is most essential. It is also the difficult place to fit properly. The achievement of this feature in "Harvard Mills" makes this union suit most desirable. The crotch of a "Harvard Mills" Union Suit is tailored to fit—and like the rest of the garment—hand finished. There is no binding, pulling nor bunching in it. Step high, stoop over, bend back—give it every test. You will find it always comfortable. This specially designed crotch is but one of the many features that give men a new idea of quality in

PRESIDENT WILSON STOICAL IN DEFEAT

UP EARLY TO READ PAPERS

May Send Congratulatons to Senator Harding—Washington Office-holders Wrapped in Gloom.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. — President Wilson, broken in health, received the election returns bravely, it is said, and without comment saw the voters apparently reject the League of Nations. Although all the details of the election were furnished him he gave no open expression of his views, either last night or today.

Having received only the preliminary returns before retiring last night, the President arose early this morning and after breakfast scanned the later figures of the Republican victory as contained in the morning newspapers. Later he spent some time on the sunny south portico of the White House and conferred with Secretary Tumulty.

Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, the President's personal physician, made a subsequently that the President's health apparently had been unaffected by the result of the election. He said the President had had a restful night and that he was in "good condition."

During the afternoon the President and Mrs. Wilson took their daily automobile ride. Mr. Wilson received no callers during the day and the only visitors at the White House executive offices were Henry Morgenthau, former Ambassador to Turkey, and Norman D. Hapgood, former Minister to Denmark.

Those who have been associated with the President say that the rejection of the League was his greatest defeat, as he had counted upon being upheld by the electorate in this the fight nearest to his heart. The very fact that he received the returns so stoically leads those who know his fighting qualities to believe that he had not yet given up the struggle to induce the Senate to ratify the League of Nations in some form.

President Wilson today appeared to be in better spirits than any of his Cabinet and associates. Extreme gloom was reflected among officeholders, although strange to say many of the residents of the District expressed themselves as pleased with the election's outcome. The President did not send a telegram to Governor Cox, although it is known that his sympathy is with the leader of the Democratic fight. He will probably send a telegram of congratulation later to President-elect Harding.

Secretary of State Colby, commenting on the Republican victory, said:

"It would be idle for me to say that I am not depressed and disappointed by the result, but 'hope springs eternal in the human breast' and I cannot but feel that in some way and by some avenue not at the moment disclosed, the country will act up to the highest conception of its role and its duty."

Secretary of Labor Wilson sent this telegram to Governor Cox:

"You have fought the good fight. You have kept the faith. Truth crushed to earth will rise again. The eternal years of God are hers. It is better to lose in a cause that is right than to win in a cause that is wrong."

serve Bank, has been mentioned in important Republican circles for Secretary of the Treasury. It is likely that his name will be presented to Senator Harding, but the information is positive that Mr. Harding has Governor Lowden in mind for that position. Governor Lowden is credited with having given an excellent business administration in Illinois and is regarded by many Republicans as having the qualifications requisite for handling the national finances.

In his apparent intention of asking Governor Lowden and Mr. Hoover to enter his Cabinet and his inclination to regard General Wood favorably for a Cabinet position, the President-elect has shown a desire not only to obtain the confidence of the country with respect to the men with whom he will be associated in conducting the nation's affairs, but to produce Republican Party harmony in every degree possible. General Wood and Governor Lowden, with Senator Johnson of California, were his principal rivals for the Presidential nomination in the pre-convention campaign and in the convention itself, while Mr. Hoover was also a candidate for the Presidential nomination. General Wood was the most popular contender for the nomination, judged by the majority he received in the Presidential primaries, and Governor Lowden was Wood's most conspicuous rival in the early period of the convention proceedings.

Wood May Be Chief of Staff.

According to gossip here General Wood may be asked to become Chief of Staff if he should receive an offer of or should he decline the Secretaryship of War. It is felt that in this place he would be of the greatest service to the Secretary of War. The belief prevails in the gossip that Admiral Sims may become Chief of operations, which is similar to the post of Chief of Staff in the army.

Senator Borah is not looked on with favor for a Cabinet place by some Republicans. They consider him too "radical," and say that he and Senator Johnson might cause friction in a Cabinet. One reason urged against Johnson is that he has a Bryan-like attitude toward the Presidency, and with his eyes already focused on 1924 he might be more interested in his own ultimate success than in other matters.

It has been often rumored here that Will H. Hays would receive an offer of the post of Postmaster General, as that place is regarded as the real political job of the Cabinet. The sources which presented Senator Harding's views to THE TIMES refused to believe that Mr. Hays would be in the Cabinet at all. Harry M. Daugherty, Mr. Harding's pre-Convention manager, is also said to be out of the running so far as the Cabinet is concerned.

Talk of Kenyon for Place.

Senator William S. Kenyon of Iowa is selected by many as Secretary of Agriculture or the Interior. He has liberal views, and yet is not a radical.

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas is also spoken of as suitable for Secretary of Agriculture or the Interior. He owns a group of farm journals.

Charles E. Hughes, many believe, should be made Attorney General, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge is sometimes named as the next Secretary of State by those who have no knowledge of Senator Harding's preference for Mr. Root. Senator James E. Watson of Indiana as Postmaster General; Senator Irvine L. Lenroot of Wisconsin as Secretary of Commerce, Interior or Labor; Frank A. Vanderlip as Secretary of the Treasury, Gifford Pinchot as Secretary of the Interior, and Senator Asle J. Gronna of North Dakota as Secretary of Agriculture all figure in the gossip of the uninformed.

President-elect Harding is not expected to come to Washington for a political conference with the Republican leaders much before next February, according to advisers here. Although he had intended to resume his seat in the Senate if elected to the Presidency, it is understood now that he will not participate in any of the Senate's sessions but will preserve the Republican majority by pairing with Senator Underwood.

Wants Big Men in Cabinet.

Speaking today of Senator Harding's policy regarding his Cabinet, a man unusually well-informed as to the President-elect's views and who predicted that Mr. Root, Mr. Weeks and Mr. Lowden would be asked into the Cabinet, said:

"From what I know of Senator Harding, I can truthfully say that his ambition is to surround himself with a Cabinet composed of really big men, not professional politicians but Americans with broad and constructive ideas. I have no doubt that certain elements of the Republican Party will try to put over unwelcome appointments on him. He is prepared to resist this pressure, for he is sincere in his determination to have a Cabinet of strong and worthy men.

"His idea is that the Cabinet officers must each be entirely capable of handling his own department without constantly referring details to the President. Senator Harding wants to have with him men who can do things. I believe he will leave appointments in the various departments to the Cabinet officers. He will consult with them frequently, but he does not propose to drive them. Decentralization of authority is what he aims at, the divided responsibility distributed among men whom he can trust to do what is right.

"The Senator is anxious to have the confidence and respect of the whole country. He wants to be President of all the people, not of any one or two sections or political faiths. He is a man of big and kind heart and will come into office without rancors or ideas of revenge. I know that he tries to have a sympathetic understanding of the peculiar problems of the various sections of the country. My belief is that he will follow the principle of former President Taft and will refuse to make appointments that are objectionable to a community.

"Senator Harding will consult with men from all parts of the nation and I know that he is willing to meet men of the Democratic Party half way. Mark my words, and see if Oscar Underwood, the Democratic leader in the Senate, is not frequently called into consultation. Harding has a deep personal regard for Underwood, and admires the Alabama Senator's ability and judgment. There will be a complete working agreement between these men. If Underwood had been the Senate leader last year much more would have been accomplished in the dealings with the Republicans."

This man predicted that one of the first things the new President would do would be to see that his Cabinet officers systematized their departments thoroughly, cutting down waste and lost motion. He said that the Senator's knowledge of the Government, as seen from Congress, would be of inestimable aid to him in directing a reduction in departmental expenditure. He added that he was sure that within a year from next March the huge War Risk Insurance Bureau would have been condensed, and incorporated within the census bureau.

HARDING'S LEAD IN OHIO PASSES 370,000 MARK

Davis Heads the Victorious Republican State Ticket with a Plurality Above 120,000.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 3.—The Republican avalanche of votes that swept over the nation Tuesday and elected Senator Warren G. Harding President by one of the greatest pluralities in the nation's history, continued to pile up majorities by the thousands in the Senator's home State today for his colleagues. Not a Republican candidate for State office was defeated.

Returns compiled at midnight tonight from 6,789 out of 7,145 precincts showed Harding leading Cox by 370,293, the vote standing: Harding, 1,085,216; Cox, 714,923.

On the Governorship, Harry L. Davis, Republican, continued to lead State Auditor Donahey, Democrat, by the substantial vote of 120,773 on returns from 6,298 precincts, the vote being: Davis, 928,237; Donahey, 807,464.

The plurality of former Governor Willis, Republican, over W. A. Julian, for United States Senator, was 307,204 on returns at midnight from 6,208 precincts. The vote was: Willis, 965,587; Julian, 658,383.

Commanding leads marked in four figures also were being maintained by practically all of the other Republican candidates for State office.

Feeling certain of his election as United States Senator, Mr. Willis today issued a statement in which he declared that he would strive "to the best of my ability to aid President Harding in putting into effect the policies outlined in the Republican platform."

NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE LEADS IN NORTH DAKOTA

Special to The New York Times.

BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 3.—The Non-Partisan League appears to have triumphed again in North Dakota, as tabulations on the Governorship contest began to indicate the trend of the rural vote.

J. F. T. O'Connor, Democrat, anti-Non-Partisan candidate, was leading Governor Frazier by 14,000 with half of the estimated 200,000 vote in. This lead began to dwindle as the rural vote came in, and a Frazier plurality of 5,000 is now predicted.

While the Non-Partisan League probably has elected a majority of the State officers it appears to have suffered severely in its industrial program. Measures providing for the examination of banks in North Dakota, which were a storm centre in the campaign, limiting functions to rural credits banks and allowing local communities to withdraw public deposits appear to have been carried on the basis of meager returns. Leaders of the league made a hard fight against these measures, asserting that the limitation of bank functions to rural credits would prohibit the financing of State industries and curtail business.

Senator Harding carried the State by a big majority, though tabulations were small owing to the overshadowing interest in the State vote.

Available returns also indicate a close race between Dr. E. F. Ladd, Non-Partisan, running on the Republican ticket, and H. H. Perry, Democrat, for Senator.

One Mobile Ward Went Republican.

Special to The New York Times.

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 3.—The Seventh Ward, one of the largest precincts in this city, went for Harding in the election yesterday, 328 to 244. This is the first time the ward ever showed a Republican plurality. An unusually large Republican vote was cast here.

BUILDERS TO TELL OF GRAFT TODAY

Lockwood Committee Will Have Contractors Representing 32 Lines on the Stand.

HOUSING COSTS INCREASED

Labor Corrupters and Combinations of Manufacturers Known—More Federal Aid Needed.

Simultaneously with the examination of witnesses in public today by the Lockwood joint legislative committee, evidence will be presented to the November Additional Grand Jury against individuals said to have been concerned in violating the law. Indictments may not be handed down for several days, because of the desire of counsel to the committee that the cases stand the test of trials that will follow.

The open session in the Aldermanic Chamber at the City Hall today is expected to furnish testimony throwing light on the manner in which building material contractors and manufacturers of materials operated in order to put up the prices of their wares and services and thus increase the cost of housing.

Most of the witnesses today will be contractors among the thirty-two lines in the building industry. Although the operations of dishonest labor leaders have thus far proved to be a sensational part of the testimony, the main object of the committee, in so far as the housing inquiry is concerned, will be to bring to light all the facts surrounding the operation of the men engaged in the thirty-two allied and associated lines in the building industry. The revelations regarding corrupt practices among labor leaders came quite as a surprise to many on the committee. It was not the original intention of the committee to spend so much time on this phase of the inquiry as has already proved to be necessary.

Unlawful combinations among metal lathers, plumbers, heat and ventilating contractors and cut stone contractors have already been unearthed by the committee. These combinations have practically been wrecked by the disclosures made before the committee and by the fact that their important books and papers have been seized by the committee's investigators.

Seeking Unlawful Combinations.

From today the committee will give its attention to other combinations among material men and contractors in the building industry. A certain group of men are receiving the closest attention of Samuel Untermyer, Leonard Wallstein, Stanley Richter and Samuel A. Berger, counsel to the committee. It is expected that before long astonishing evidences of corruption in lines other than those which have already been under investigation will be revealed.

The men under investigation are difficult to get at because of the lack of complete co-operation by the Federal authorities. Joseph Kaufman, a lawyer, of 115 Broadway, has been appointed by Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer to co-operate with the committee and is proving of valuable assistance in the inquiry. However, it is felt by counsel to the committee that Mr. Kaufman has not received sufficient assistance from the Attorney General's office and the Department of Justice. There are many phases of the present inquiry which go beyond State lines, and the active aid of the Department of Justice is necessary if the gathering of evidence against illegal combinations is to be successful.

It was reported yesterday that Mr. Untermyer was firmly of the opinion that a Federal Grand Jury was to be appointed to take care of the inter-State phase of the investigation, and that he feels it necessary that some one connected with the committee be appointed to handle the evidence before the Federal body. The best results, he feels, can be obtained only by those men who have made an intensive analysis of the data in the possession of the committee. There is no desire on the part of any one connected with the inquiry to criticise Mr. Kaufman, whose services the committee welcomes, but it is felt that the Federal end of the inquiry would work out more expeditiously if it were left in the hands of some one familiar with all the ramifications of the investigation rather than to be placed in the hands of an official recently injected into the inquiry.

Federal Delay an Obstacle.

The delay of the Federal authorities, in the minds of counsel to the committee, has been blocking the inquiry in certain directions. It is felt by those in touch with the situation that the appointment of Mr. Untermyer as Special U. S. Deputy Attorney General to handle the evidence before a Federal Grand Jury would cause the investigation to leap ahead quickly.

There were two sessions of the Additional Grand Jury yesterday. The anteroom was crowded with witnesses. Most of the twenty-five or thirty men present were called. They included labor men, contractors, building material men and others.

For the purpose of protecting the witnesses and safeguarding the work of the Grand Jury, all information concerning the witnesses was withheld. It is known, however, that indictments will be sought on charges of extortion, perjury, destruction of evidence and illegal combinations in violation of the Donnelly Act.

Before the presentation of evidence to the Grand Jury is completed it is expected that facts as to payments of large sums of money by large contracting builders to certain individuals for permission to go on with their work will be laid before the jury.

Evidence tending to prove that crooked labor leaders, without the connivance or knowledge of the rank and file of their labor organizations, have levied tribute on building contractors will be brought out. A situation will be shown where dishonest contractors and labor men, working together, have practically caused building to stop or to continue only in the face of the most exorbitant costs.

A third phase of the building situation just as important as either labor or building material is the refusal of money-lending institutions of recent months to put out money on mortgage because of the excessive cost of building operations.

Testimony is expected to be introduced shortly to the effect that in some building lines every employer was limited to a certain amount of business a year, and if he exceeded that amount he was forced to give up a percentage of his gross business, which was divided among those who did not attain the proportion of business which fell to their lot. An expensive system of graft was necessary for the maintenance of this method, and just how the money was handled and who benefited by it will be revealed in the course of the inquiry.

DENIES POWER OF MAYOR.

Justice Manning Refuses to Recognize Committee on Rent Profiteering.

Justice D. F. Manning, in the Brooklyn Supreme Court, yesterday said he would not recognize the authority of the Mayor's Committee on Profiteering in dealing with legal matters connected with rent cases.

It was charged by O. J. S. De Brun, attorney for George H. Seagraves, a landlord, of 792 Knickerbocker Avenue, Brooklyn, that City Marshal Ralph J. Hoffmeister had refused to serve a final notice of dispossess except with the consent of the Mayor's committee. Seagraves said the order was obtained to compel William Coughlin, a tenant, to move out of a house at 1,102 Halsey Street, Brooklyn, which Seagraves purchased last May with the intention of using it for his own occupancy. It was represented that the previous owner of the house had been trying for several months to oust Coughlin. The final order was issued in the Municipal Court on Oct. 25, and was placed in the hands of Hoffmeister.

"I should not be bound by the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering," said Justice Manning, with irritation. "As far as I know, there is no law that makes me responsible to the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering in the performance of my official duties. I shall not recognize any such committee in procedings before me. Decision is reserved."

Morris Berger, a landlord, of 108 West 111th Street fainted in Washington Heights Court when Magistrate Harris ordered the clerk to draw a complaint against him on a charge of violating Section 2040 of the Penal Code. Berger was called to court on complaint of Harry Glass, one of his tenants, who alleged that Berger failed to provide him with telephone service. Attendants revived Berger by dashing cold water in his face. When he was conscious he agreed to fulfill his contract and the summons was dismissed.

Samuel Bloom of 298 Livingstone Street, Brooklyn, was held in $1,000 for trial in Special Sessions in the Fifth Avenue Court yesterday on a charge of failing to provide sufficient heat. Barak L. Knowles, a tenant, said he ordered a supply of coal for Bloom, but that when it arrived the landlord complained of the price and had it returned to the yards.

RADIUM FOUND IN SEWER.

The $13,000 Worth Tossed Away by Hospital Patient Is Recovered.

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 3.—The $13,000 worth of radium belonging to a Utica physician, which was lost in a hospital sewer last Sunday, was found this afternoon in the sewer pipe not far from the hospital. The radium was thrown into a toilet bowl by a patient who felt annoyed by its heat. Twenty men have been uprooting and examining the sewer since the lost was discovered.

The radium itself was in a vial especially made for it, and it is in three particles, each about the size of a small birdshot.

20 POLL OFFICIALS FACE FRAUD CHARGE

Honest Ballot Association Watchers Report Many Election Law Violations.

RETURNS SIGNED IN BLANK

Idlers Seize and Mark Ballots and Then Return Them to be Counted, One Charge.

Flagrant violations of the election laws took place Tuesday, as a result of which charges against a score of election officials will be presented to the Attorney General for prosecution, it was announced yesterday by Colonel J. D. Sears, acting director of the Honest Ballot Association. Mr. Sears said the violations were confined principally to east side districts. He said they were for the most part, due to congestion at the polls, ignorance and obstinacy of election officials, but in some cases to dishonesty.

"The association's watchers at the Nineteenth Election District of the First Assembly District," he said, "have made sworn statements, substantiated by witnesses, of many violations during the canvass at the district polls. During a search for missing Presidential ballots, which were located among the general ballots, these watchers saw an idler tear the corner from two general ballots. The watchers found the corners of the ballots, which had been cast for the Republican nominee for Governor, on the floor and reported the case to the chairman of the board. The name and address of the person who mutilated the ballots were also learned by the watchers.

Ballots Seized and Marked.

"At this same polling place the ballots were separated by the chairman of the board into piles, which included a pile of unmarked ballots, and placed in the hands of various members of the board. The room was so crowded that voters stood in front of and behind the guard rail. Honest ballot watchers saw several of these persons purloin the pile of unmarked ballots from the table, take them to another part of the room, mark them and return them to the table where they went into the general count.

"In the polls of the Thirteenth Election District of the Fourth Assembly District the Chairman of the Board divided the ballots into piles, according to parties, and distributed them among the members of the Board to be counted. In answer to protests from the Association's watchers, the Chairman of the Board said it was his way of conducting the count and that he proposed to continue with it. The district board voted to sustain their Chairman in his manner of handling the ballots.

"Many voters appealed to the Honest Ballot men to put a stop to unlawful handling of the ballots and the police on guard in the polls said they realized that the count was not being made according to law; but the Board would not heed any protests. In the poll of the Seventeenth Election District of the Fourth Assembly District the ballots were divided and distributed among officials of the Board.

Returns Signed in Blank.

"Many cases were discovered of inspectors and chairmen of boards signing their police returns in blank. Cases were also found of officials counting ballots on which erasures had been made. In several of the east side polling places voters complained of intimidation, and watchers came into contact with several cases of this which existed in combination with violation of the election law. Officials were followed in cases from polls to polls, and even into the heart of the metropolis.

"The voting period of the day was marked with the refusal of a number of boards to swear voters, in accordance with law, who were challenged by the association's watchers. Charges against officials will be made in the most flagrant of these cases."

Charged with disorderly conduct at a Harlem polling place on Tuesday Samuel J. Freedman of 4 East 118th Street was discharged yesterday by Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan in the Harlem Court for lack of evidence. According to the police Freedman had seized a ballot box at the headquarters of the Ninth Election District of the Seventeenth Assembly District, at 111th Street and Madison Avenue, while the ballots were being counted and threw the ballots on the floor.

Don't expect sympathy from the baggage man

TODAY travel is enormous. Look at any pile of trunks jammed on the station platform. See how trunks are juggled on wagons and in baggage cars.

What chance has your trunk to come through unharmed, unless it is built to withstand today's conditions?

What chance have your clothes to arrive sound and safe, unwrinkled and unmussed?

The economy of a Belber Wardrobe Trunk begins with its ability to stand the gaff. The five-ply construction, the heavy hardware on the corners, the reinforced sides, prove quality that stands the strain.

The practical service of a Belber in protecting clothes shows its additional economy. Across the continent or around the world—clothes are kept as fresh and shapely as in the closets or drawers at home.

There never was a time when your practical service advantage with Belber as compared with ordinary luggage was greater than it is today.

Never a time when the price of Belber was less in proportion to Luggage prices in general.

Buy a Belber Wardrobe Trunk and five years, ten years or even fifteen years from today, you'll still be glad you bought it.

THE "SOLEMN REFERENDUM."

In his letter read at the Jackson Day dinner in Washington on the evening of Jan. 8 last President WILSON said:

> We cannot rewrite this Treaty. We must take it without changes which alter its meaning, or leave it, and then, after the rest of the world has signed it, we must face the unthinkable task of making another and separate treaty with Germany.

But no mere assertions with regard to the wish and opinion of the country are credited. If there is any doubt as to what the people of the country think on this vital matter, the clear and single way out is to submit it for determination at the next election to the voters of the nation, to give the next election the form of a great and solemn referendum, a referendum as to the part the United States is to play in completing the settlements of the war and in the prevention in the future of such outrages as Germany attempted to perpetrate.

THE TIMES took issue with the President upon the proposal of a "solemn referendum" of this nature. It said that, "no matter how the issue might turn, no man could say that the election had been decided upon the Treaty." And it expressed the opinion that Mr. WILSON should welcome the efforts of that "numerous and influential group of Senators on the Republican side" who were at that time "loyally striving to reach an agreement with their own leaders and with the Democrats upon a form of reservations which the President can accept"; furthermore, that "he should give them and his supporters among the Democrats encouragement and aid." It became evident at once that these efforts of the loyal supporters of the Treaty in both parties were doomed to failure. Mr. LODGE and those who acted with him were resolved, for party advantage, that the Treaty should be beaten as a rebuke to Mr. WILSON. That group, under the leadership of the Massachusetts Senator, would have blocked the adoption of any reservations which the President gave signs of accepting. Mr. LODGE'S rejection of the compromise form of reservations made that clear.

Now that the election has been held, it remains true, as we pointed out in January, that it cannot be said that the contest was decided upon the Treaty issue. It was anything, everything but that. The country's desire for a change exerted its often recurring and powerful influence; dislike of the Administration and of the President, systematically aroused and sustained by the Republicans, was an important element; but the controlling factor in producing these mountainous majorities was the passionate desire of millions of the electorate that Ireland be freed, that Germany be treated as though she had not brought on the war.

Still, the Democrats were forced to make the League of Nations their chief issue—they had no other. A campaign of defense and extenuation would have been hopeless. They had to attack, and in the last three weeks of the campaign they attacked with such spirit and vigor that they drove the Republicans from one untenable position after another, captured for their own candidate whole divisions and army corps of the enemy's regular troops—his volunteer reinforcements were impregnable to any assault of reason and argument—and left his forces, upon that issue, in a state of pitiful and ever-increasing confusion. Uncounted thousands of Republican men and women were brought to the support of COX. That was a tribute to the force of the unanswerable Arguments of the Democrats upon the Covenant, it was proof of the profound desire of that part of the American people who think as Americans that the peace of the world shall be safeguarded by a compact of the nations.

In Connecticut Mr. BRANDEGEE, a bitter-end opponent of the League, ran 21,000 votes behind Mr. HARDING. The complete returns in that State give HARDING 237,840, BRANDEGEE 216,502. In New Hampshire Senator MOSES, another uncompromising foe of the Covenant, had a plurality 7,000 less than HARDING'S. These figures supply some measure of the Republican support of the League of Nations in two representative New England States. Up there it is not easy for a Republican to bring himself to vote for a Democratic candidate for any office, particularly for so great an office as that of Senator of the United States. But it is evident that Connecticut Republicans did vote for Senator BRANDEGEE'S opponent, for his vote was 10,000 ahead of the vote for COX. It was impossible that these defections could overcome the enormous accessions of strength which came to the Republicans from motives alien to the League and to American interests. But they unmistakably show that so far as the "solemn referendum" was a record of sound American opinion upon the League of Nations it resulted to the advantage of the Democrats. The greatest men of the Republican Party, even while supporting Senator HARDING, expressed the conviction that the United States must enter into an agreement with all other civilized nations, to substitute the rule of justice, good faith and law for the brutal arbitrament of war. The League of Nations in which we must inevitably accept membership may not be altogether the League Mr. WILSON favored, but there will be a League and we shall join it. Senator HARDING cannot accept his election, even by these vast majorities, as a mandate to array himself with BORAH and JOHNSON. The Philadelphia Ledger warns him that virtually all Americans "passionately hope for the entry of "this nation into a solemn league and "covenant of all nations to treat war "as the crime of crimes."

MR. HARDING BEGINS WELL.

The first public statement of Mr. HARDING breathes of modesty and good taste. He declares that his triumph was in no way "a personal victory." That fact, indeed, stands clear to all eyes. No individual Republican was responsible for starting Tuesday's electoral avalanche. No party organization or management could alone have brought about the stupendous result. It astonished even the most sanguine Republican leaders. They see now that silent but mighty forces beyond their ken wrought the unexampled success of their party. Senator HARDING is evidently well aware that any other Republican candidate in his place would have been elected as easily as he was. Yet his modest personal disclaimer will predispose the country in favor of the President to be.

His fellow-citizens will also be pleased by his sense of the weighty responsibilities which he will soon have to take up. He will need that divine aid and wisdom which he states that he means humbly to seek. This will not exclude asking the best human advice he can obtain. Doubtless Mr. HARDING will get into touch with the experienced statesmen of his party. But the more skilled they are the more strongly will they urge him to avoid extreme measures, which many of their party, in the arrogance of power, will be eager to advocate. A sudden return to old high-tariff legislation, for example, the incoming Republican Administration should shun as it would the plague. But to do so it will have to oppose some party men eager to enjoy again their former advantages.

Senator HARDING may rightly feel that he is peculiarly entitled to the support of the country in all measures identified with the general good. He will receive it so long as the people are convinced that he puts the public weal first. They will not expect from him impossibilities or superhuman achievements; but a single-eyed devotion on his part to the well-being of the nation will retain for him a large part of the popular favor which he now enjoys.

SEPTEMBER FOREIGN TRADE.

In September the excess of exports over imports was $243,000,000, compared with $159,765,519 last year and with $65,235,000 last August. "Abroad" has repeatedly gone into our debt for larger amounts in September. The amount of the excess of exports, therefore, is less remarkable than its occurrence at all when many observers had expected a continuance of the decline indicated in August. The explanation seems to be that the smaller excess of exports in August was due chiefly to the increase of imports by $211,000,000. The larger excess in September is due chiefly to the decline of imports by $72,000,000, the increase of exports being only $26,000,000. Comparing September with August this year, imports decreased $150,000,000.

The alteration in the totals is less worth attention than the shifts in the currents of trade. The imports from Europe and North America hardly altered at all, although we exported to Europe $47,000,000 less and to North America $48,000,000 more. On the other hand, the imports from South America and Asia decreased about equally, to a total decrease of $69,000,000. In the case of South America that is singular, because we exported $22,000,000 more to those countries, and that ought to have enabled us to import more. The decrease in imports from Asia is consistent with a decrease of exports of $20,000,000. Exports to Africa were on the recent scale, but the imports were hardly more than a quarter of last year's $17,350,061.

On the face of the totals alone it would seem that our foreign customers are decreasing their payments to us by sending us less goods. The details reveal that the surprising increase in the excess of exports was due chiefly to the decrease of our purchases from South America and Asia rather than to the decrease of Europe's payments to us. Europe is still a necessitous buyer, and is finding means of payment in ways not entirely clear. We have more choice about what we buy than they, and are using our option to take less Eastern and tropical products. It is a wholesome change on our part, but it appears that Europe is not reducing its floating mercantile debt of three billions or more. The debt of ten billions between our Government and foreign Governments is less embarrassing than the suspense account in banks, or between our exporters and foreign buyers. It is not known just where these unliquidated accounts are placed, but they absorb credits which should be much more liquid than the bank loans on Government securities. Our banks are making good progress in substituting mercantile collateral for Government collateral, but there still remains much to be done.

MR. HARDING'S VISIT TO PANAMA.

Everybody wishes a successful Presidential candidate well and promises to hold up his hands when he takes office. It is the American spirit. Senator HARDING has planned a visit to the Panama Canal to make himself familiar with the waterway, and it is proposed in Washington to put a warship at his disposal, so that he can inspect the canal in a manner befitting his dignity as the next President.

American Presidents have visited the Panama Zone after taking office. Senator HARDING desires to acquaint himself with its problems at first hand before inauguration, and, as he would receive the greatest consideration upon his arrival at the Isthmus, there should be no objection to putting Government facilities at his service on his journey down. Any other view of the matter would be provincial. Mr. HARDING is soon to be President and is no ordinary citizen. The Panama Canal will fall under his jurisdiction after March 4. There can be no doubt that the American people, without regard to party, would approve if the Navy Department offered the Senator the hospitality of a warship for his voyage to the Isthmus.

PRESIDENT WILSON.

Singularly felicitous at this time is Mr. TUMULTY'S quotation of an earlier saying of Mr. WILSON'S:

> I would rather be defeated in a cause that some day will triumph than triumph in a cause that some day will be defeated.

All the essential Mr. WILSON is in that saying; the high, unselfish purpose, the tranquil courage, the long prevision that sees, beyond temporary discouragements, obstacles and disasters, the victory of justice, of right, the welfare of the country and the world. Popular thought may be slower than Mr. WILSON'S, but that it will confirm his own on this cardinal policy of the League of Nations he can have no doubt. The people have not voted against the League. In a tangle of questions and complaints there has been no direct expression of popular opinion on that. American participation in the League must come because it is necessary to the peace and the prosperity of the United States. Meanwhile, Mr. WILSON suffers for a time the fate of ARISTIDES.

We Americans have our peculiar little ways with our great men. We make heroes of them. We worship them passionately. Then we depreciate them. We hate and damn them. Nothing is harsh enough to say against them when they are in office. When the best-hated of them leave office we begin to discover that they have again the vivid and noble qualities that we attributed to them once and then denied them utterly. The President who was lampooned, derided and denounced as a model of all imperfections and misdeeds is transformed imperceptibly into the ex-President in whom everybody takes a pride, who becomes a venerated public character. Especially is this true of strong and salient personages. JACKSON, CLEVELAND, ROOSEVELT have been adored and burned, and then adored again. So will it be with WILSON. He, who has read so much history and written it so well, knows the process, the flow, the ebb, and finally the resurgent, unconquerable wave of popular favor.

Of lasting posthumous fame, the late justice of history, Mr. WILSON is sure. The country owes and will pay him a more immediate obligation. His countrymen owe him much. They will not wait for posterity to clamor into deaf ears what should have been said by their living voices. If we are not mistaken, this hour of apparent petulance and ingratitude is the beginning of the reaction. Having vented all its griefs and irritations, as was its right, the country will think with a growing kindness of the man who has done so memorable a work for it, who has not spared, who has all but spent himself in its service. For long years yet may it be Mr. WILSON'S fortune, when his retirement has softened the asperities of political opinion, to live in health and activity among his fellow-citizens and to receive from them, as his great predecessors have received, the honor, the regard and the affection that accompany the old age of illustrious American statesmen—after they are emeriti.

ELECTING A PRESIDENT IN CUBA.

While the area of Cuba is less than that of the State of New York, the Cubans have not learned to count election returns promptly and make an official announcement of the result. Under the new law drafted by General CROWDER the ballots should be counted by midnight of the day of the Presidential election. Voters went to the polls on Monday to make their choice between General JOSE MIGUEL GOMEZ, the Liberal candidate, and Dr. ALFREDO ZAYAS, the Coalition candidate; but two days later it did not seem to be definitely known in Havana which of them was to be the next President of Cuba, although on meagre returns doled out by the Central Electoral Board the success of Dr. ZAYAS was indicated. It must be considered, however, that a people who are in the habit of putting off until tomorrow what should be done today have been experimenting with an election law not of Spanish origin, and that in construing it and trying to carry it into effect they must be making many mistakes. Furthermore, there are remote precincts in Cuba which have to send out their returns by messengers on horseback. It may be a week before some of the mountain districts in Oriente are heard from and the last figures are tabulated. The Cubans may make a perfect job of their election, but they are going to take their time about it.

As the popular candidate in Havana, General GOMEZ was expected to carry that province by a large majority. His advantage seems to range from about 7,000 to 10,000. Oriente (Santiago) and Pinar del Rio seem to have been carried by Dr. ZAYAS, whose majority is estimated at more than 8,000. According to a dispatch from Havana, the Electoral Board "adjourned until tomorrow after refusing to indicate what the count showed in other provinces." This seems like a return to the old conditions, a reversion to type, and it raises a doubt whether the adherents of GOMEZ are going to be satisfied with the final result if it favors ZAYAS.

Apparently the contest is close, with the Coalition candidate in the lead. Until all the provinces report officially there can be no assurance that Dr. ZAYAS has been elected. Drawing votes from both the old Liberal and Conservative parties, he has been the choice of the political forecasters. General GOMEZ, if defeated, is not likely to take to the manigua this time. The Rural Guard is too strong to be trifled with, and the American Administration at Washington is pledged to see a fair election and nip insurgency in the bud.

HEAD AND BACKGROUND.

Direct action is spreading. In the boycott of Hungary and the attempted boycott of Poland international labor brought the sympathetic or antipathetic strike into international politics. Now it has invaded art. For twenty-four hours all the artists and artistic craftsmen of Italy remained idle as an expression of their sympathy for Mr. AUGUSTUS JOHN, the British painter.

It is a curious case. JOHN was commissioned to paint the portrait of a gentleman who had slid into the British peerage on a cake of soap. He did so paint it and sent it to the subject, who cut the head out of the picture, kept it, and sent the rest of the canvas back to the artist with the observation that he might have some use for it. Philistines not gifted with the power of appreciating JOHN'S pictures may think the peer would have done better to send back the head and save the margin.

However, the artist was infuriated and talked of a damage suit. A painter, he maintained, was not in the position of an author, who can keep a copy of his book and continue to get his own pleasure out of it whether it suits the world or not. Of each picture there is only a single specimen, and JOHN contends that the mere purchase by the sitter, or by anybody else, does not wholly destroy the artist's rights. The picture has been created, and the artist, or anybody else who can appreciate it, still has the right to enjoy it, though he may not be able to do so as frequently as the gentleman who bought it.

This is a delicate point which permits of much argument and cannot be settled either by stubborn insistence on the rights of the purchaser or by the sound and fury of the Italian artists who burned Lord LEVERHULME'S effigy in the public square and finished a perfect day by laying a wreath on the altar of St. JOHN, apparently under the impression that he was the patron saint of the artist in question. Yet it can easily be held that nobody has the right to destroy a work of art—even the artist himself. How much less a mere industrial magnate whose only connection with the arts is the ungrateful one of patron!

Of course, we don't know why the peer sawed the head and threw away the background. A psychoanalyst might tell us that it indicated an egocentric temperament which was willing to consider itself as such, but not in relation to even a small proportion of the cosmos. No doubt Lord LEVERHULME has respectable reasons for his performance, as he seems to have had for most things he has done; but he has awakened a great issue. Meanwhile many artists will find it possible to rebuke him sharply at the cost of next to no interference with their own settled habits. They can merely refuse to buy soap.

GOVERNOR COX.

Governor COX is as good-natured and philosophical after his defeat as he was ardent, energetic and resourceful in his campaign. Never was a political forlorn hope led more gallantly. His intellectual keenness and readiness, his cleanness and vigor of exposition and argument, above all, the passion and the strength of his appeal for the League of Nations, were cumulative. Instead of diminution or exhaustion, he showed new power, which increased steadily till the end of his canvass. Quickness, wit, continuous and sharp attack, the gift of pleasing and stirring multitudes—he has the gifts, unsuspected by the public before his nomination, unknown probably even to himself, of an effective popular orator.

An irresistible combination of reasons, unreasons and opponents bore him down. If he had been JEFFERSON plus JACKSON he would have fared no better. Metaphysically speaking, it was not he who was defeated; it was a composite figure of many illusions, legends, errors, dissatisfactions, grudges; a Mumbo Jumbo who represented to some high prices and taxes, to others a certain fondness for slow delivery in Mr. BURLESON'S department, and so on ad infinitum. There is nothing personal to Governor COX in the result. He did all that could be done and more than most men could have done. He has won the thanks of the Democratic Party and the liking and respect of the country.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Working All Day for a Line.

Of the people who read the papers on the morning after Election Day, some glance over the tables showing in detail this or that vote and others study them carefully, but not one in a thousand, probably, has anything approaching full realization of the amount of work that has to be done, and of the money that has to be spent, before the figures which fill only a few inches of space are secured.

Take, for instance, the table printed in THE TIMES yesterday showing by counties the vote for Gubernatorial candidates. Other tables were larger than that one, and several of those dealing with the Presidential contest or with Congress and the State Legislature had more prominent position, but none of them represented more labor or as much expenditure. Each line in it was the product of a whole day's work by one man in each of the several counties, and each of these men had one or more helpers for at least part of the day.

For the task was to get the vote for Governor from every district in the county, and this could not be done merely by waiting for the official reports to come in from those districts. In every case there were districts that were "missing" after the others had arrived—districts that obstinately insisted on remaining so until after a lot of determined telephoning had been done. Indeed, some of them persisted in this determination after all possible efforts had been made—all that were possible, that is, before the table had to take its place in the page of type—and when that happened the fact had to be recorded in its appropriate column in order that the table might not pretend to an accuracy, or rather to a completeness, which at that hour it did not possess.

As it stood, however, the table was a valuable one for everybody with a mind inclined toward the statistics of politics, and it was for their sake that all this trouble had been taken.

A Division Only Apparent.

If MACAULAY'S once famous New Zealander, or a Martian as more recently imagined by the venturesome Mr. WELLS, had arrived in New York yesterday morning, what a strangely incorrect belief as to conditions in this country he would have obtained, almost necessarily, from the map of the United States on the first page of THE TIMES—a map which would be, naturally, among the very first things that would be seen by the earnest seeker for information about us.

For that map, to the stranger wandered from afar, would have seemed proof positive that the inhabitants of the United States are a divided people. Through its middle ran an almost straight line, with everybody living north of it in antagonism to everybody living south of it, differing with them on the one vitally important issue of the day and by safe presumption, therefore, bitterly hostile, the one group to the other.

After a few days of investigation, however, the New Zealander or the Martian would have discovered to his astonishment that though the map had been correct, or only slightly inaccurate as to its separation of the country into two parts, there was no real division among its people; that they were singularly free from animosities; that north and south mean next to nothing to them, except as geographical terms; that in aspirations and ideals they are wonderfully agreed, and that, the day after the great battle recorded on the map, they all went about their several businesses in entire good humor, as respectful and affectionate toward one another as before.

There had been a controversy, a sort of quarrel, but it had been fought out fairly, and the victors meditated no tyranny, the vanquished no revenge.

Emulated Slum Landlords.

One little incident—an incident little in more than one way—did mar slightly the otherwise fair and amicable "battle of the ballots" in this city. The agent of the building where the National Democratic Committee has had its headquarters saw fit to enforce against that organization a technical right and to do it with the ruthlessness of a slum landlord dealing with a tenant of more than dubious solvency and equally dubious inclination to pay his honest debts.

What the agent did was to lock the committee out of its rooms on the very day when it needed them most, regardless of the fact that the rent had been paid up to the day before and of the other fact that beyond question it would be paid, after no intolerable delay, for whatever period the rooms might be occupied.

The gratuitous affront to one of the country's two great parties was obvious, but perhaps the man only exercised, out of habit, a form of compulsion that experience with tenants of a different sort had taught him to hold justifiable, or at any rate necessary. To take that view of the case is charitable, so let it be taken, but when it has been done one attains new light on a question frequently raised in this city of late—Why is it that tenants, as a class, are hostile to landlords, as a class?

One other thing the incident showed—that the National Democratic Committee had not been talking for effect when it told of its difficulties in raising money with which to meet its inevitable expenses. It did meet them, or will, but it has been "hard sledding," as they say up in New England, while the Republicans, more favored, have had no financial anxieties—except those that come from getting and spending too much.

Drunkenness with Prohibition.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have at hand the latest copy of police records for the city of Philadelphia, and I find that there have been 300 per cent. more arrests for intoxication from July 1 until the present time than there were during a similar period last year. The figures are compiled from arrests for intoxication made in all the forty-three police districts of the city.

Immediately following the imposition of wartime prohibition on July 1, 1919, there was a sudden falling off in such prisoners, and the police had visions of a lasting abatement of crime ending with or beginning with intoxication. This expectation was soon dispelled, however, and drunkenness seems to have increased each month.

Superintendent of Police MILLS says: "The only logical explanation of the problem seems that the people have been more educated in methods of avoiding prohibition. They were unused to the liquor restriction at first and did not know how to get a drink. But then their ingenuity was aroused and they began to endeavor to make intoxicating beverages in their own homes. The growth of home production of alcoholic drinks is the only reason that I can see for present conditions in this respect."

A 1776 Dispute.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have just received a very courteous and considerate letter from Major Putnam, in which he takes great pains to explain his position. The only point at issue between us is this: That while I am as great a believer as he is in the value of Anglo-American friendship, yet I protest against this friendship being purchased at any sacrifice of American historical records in the past. I do not agree with those who believe that in order to be friendly with live Englishmen we must deprecate the record and disparage the heroic performances of dead Americans, and, as a matter of fact, I know that no decent Englishman believes so either.

A Correction.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I must bespeak your courtesy in the interest of accuracy over an involuntary error committed in your issue of today wherein I am described as having been "Charge d'Affaires" in Rumania and Serbia."

I was never officially in either, but after having been Minister to Costa Rica was appointed during the war special agent at Constantinople and later sent as "diplomatic representative" to Bulgaria. I am a little in doubt as to how to describe my precise status in that country, as the State Department, with charming versatility, addressed me there with no less than four different designations.

THE DANCING MOTE.

I, too, have lived gold-purple days,
And drowned through heavy-scented noons,
And lifted heavy-weighted eyes
To hotly dazzling, heaving skies,
And tossed beneath huge, sultry moons.

And I have strutted down the road
Of brave ambitions, wildly live,
Youth's clamorous pulses beat the time
I swayed to: measures half-sublime!
I loved their dizzying, deadly drive.

Far down my traveled road I gaze;
(Hush! still I catch faint, charming notes
That ring so fairylike and clear!)
A child, who plays with dancing motes!

Life's tides move strongly never flowed,
Yet now I mourn for vanished lures.
Today invites, and yet repels—
'Gainst bubble charms my heart rebels;
The sun-born mote alone endures.

AMERICA, THE LAND WE LOVE.

By WILLIAM THOMAS BLAINE.

The judgment of the American people has selected Warren G. Harding and Calvin Coolidge as the executive directors of the United States Government, and a Republican Senate and Congress to formulate the policy and laws to deal with the new situation and current events of our national life, for the ensuing four years, beginning March 4, 1921.

Without any partisan thought we all can now extend sincere good-will and best wishes for a successful and advantageous reconstruction and readjustment of our national and international affairs, a stabilizing and steadying of our broad economic national activities at home.

The United States has passed in its history through three great periods: the revolution of 1776, in which we obtained our national independence; the civil war of 1861, which made us all a nation of freemen, swept away all sectional differences and cemented us together forever in a strong, united nation; and last, our participation in the recent great World War.

These three great epochs were written in pages of blood; and our last splendid service to the world, in saving it from imperial despotism for democracy, is a service recognized and highly appreciated throughout the world.

The great World War episode is now closed, and we must promptly adjust ourselves to a peaceful, orderly and progressive conduct of our economic and industrial advancement at home, and in the development and expansion of our trade throughout the world.

As a sovereign nation our working law is the Constitution of the United States, from which all of our citizenry enjoy the blessings of republican institutions and democratic principles and a measure of happiness, abundance, opportunity and contentment beyond that of the people of any other nation in the world. Under the Monroe Doctrine we are the rightful, righteous guardian of the Western Hemisphere; this is our zone of especial interest and influence.

Let us now address the future under a united policy of peace, friendliness and good-will to all peoples and nations of the world in the interchange of ideals and commodities, and by example show the virtues and advantages of honest labor, thrift and close attention to the upbuilding of all our economic values upon farms and fields, in forests and mines, factories and industries, and in our commercial and banking activities, in equal fairness and justice to labor, invested capital and executive service, in a genuine community of interest and unity of effort; each for all, all for each, all together for the honor and prosperity of "America, the Land We Love." And also the whole world.

Under this policy our future is secure, the hope of America is in the unified ideas and purpose of all our people. The troubled and unsettled conditions of the great World War will soon pass and, as always before, our nation will ride swiftly and smoothly on the rising tide of onward progress to finer and larger accomplishment and higher achievements in every phase of our national life and activity. This is the spirit of America, forward, onward and upward forever!

Let us now consecrate ourselves anew, men and women in the home, in all business relations and in our civic duties, to the high ideals, lofty principles and sacred duties of American citizenship.

REBUILDING RUINED AREAS.

70 to 85 Per Cent. of Factories Working in French War Belt.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—Throughout practically the whole of the devastated districts of France from 70 to 85 per cent. of factories and workshops employing over 20 men before the war have been rebuilt and are at work. The latest figures, issued by the Ministry of Reconstruction, show enormous improvement over on those of the Summer.

On October 1 the number of establishments again in working order was over 4,240 of which 75 per cent have reached nearly the pre-war output. The department of Ardennes comes first in the list of those whose establishments have been put in order with 88 per cent. Meurthe et Moselle comes second with nearly the same percentage and the departments of the Nord, Pas de Calais, Marne and Vosges have all over 73 per cent. of their industries again at work. Forty-five thousand employes are back at work.

Naturally some industries have recovered quicker than others and at the head of the list is the chemical industry with 84 per cent. former employes. The textile industry is employing 50 per cent. in spite of the bad season which has set in, while the metal and stone workers also number approximately 50 per cent. of those formerly engaged.

In the city of Lille where there was not so great material damage as in other parts 57 per cent. of factories have reopened and 66 per cent of the former employes are again at work.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—In connection with the letter of a number of Oxford professors and others to German savants the notorious kultur manifesto of Oct. 11, 1914, has been recalled.

Dr. Hans Wesberg has written to ninety-three professors who signed that document and obtained replies which show that the great majority of those intellectuals have been compelled by the hard logic of events and by fuller after knowledge to admit they would not now sign such a document.

O'CONNOR NOT TO BE OUSTED

Washington Satisfied with Prohibition Director for This State.

Charles R. O'Connor, Federal Prohibition Director for this State, denied yesterday the renewed rumor that he expected soon to vacate his office. He said that he thought his statement on the subject a week ago, when he said that he did not intend to resign for the present, covered the situation fully. Mr. O'Connor said that his organization was never in better shape and better results were now being achieved. Nine clerks have just been added to the clerical force.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Officials of the Prohibition Department of the Bureau of Internal Revenue denied tonight that Charles O'Connor, the Federal Prohibition Director in New York, would be ousted. On the other hand, it was said, Mr. O'Connor had proved eminently satisfactory and would be retained. A few weeks ago the "brokers" on the New York City whisky "curb" market predicted that he would send in his resignation within two weeks.

Retail druggists associations in New York City and State have asked for the continuance of Mr. O'Connor in office.

CHURCH LEADERS CONFER.

World Movement Reorganization Committee Begins 3-Day Session.

The Reorganization Committee of the Interchurch World Movement began a three days' session yesterday at 25 Madison Avenue. The committee consists of fifteen clergymen, laymen and women appointed on July 1. The sessions were behind closed doors. Bishop Thomas Nicolson of Chicago, a Methodist, presided, and the Rev. Dr. William B. Anderson of Philadelphia, representing the United Presbyterian Church, was Secretary.

Some days ago the Reorganization Committee issued invitations to practically all of the interdenominational missionary bodies to appoint committees to meet with it for an informal conference "as to what is the best method for Protestantism to carry on international work."

This committee met yesterday delegations from the Home Missions Council of the United States and Canada, the Foreign Missions Conference of North America, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and the Council of Church Boards of Education.

Today and tomorrow these organizations will send deputations: The International Sunday School Association, the Student Volunteer Movement, the Council of Women for Home Missions and the Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions.

No action was taken at any of the conferences yesterday, as they were not empowered. The Reorganization Committee will formulate its report tomorrow, after hearing the delegations from all the organizations.

$15,000,000 IN GOLD ARRIVES ON OLYMPIC

LORD PIRRIE ON OIL TRIP

The White Star liner Olympic, with 670 first cabin passengers, arrived at her Nineteenth Street pier yesterday with $15,000,000 in gold. Much interest in the election, and particularly in the fortunes of Governor Smith, was evidenced by the passengers.

Among the notables on the liner was Lord Pirrie, Chairman of the Harland & Wolff Shipyard at Belfast, Ireland, who, jointly with the late J. Pierpont Morgan, formed the International Mercantile Marine Company in 1904. Lord Pirrie, who is 75 years old, said he had come to the United States to investigate the oil industry. North America was the principal oil-producing country and he wanted to assure himself whether the supply was sufficient to warrant turning coal-burning vessels into oil burners.

In regard to shipbuilding in Great Britain Lord Pirrie said there was plenty of construction work, but he did not think any more big liners of the Olympic class would be built, as they cost too much to operate. The present labor conditions in Belfast and on the Clyde were satisfactory but he had no doubt that in the future labor would take an advanced position.

Included in Lord Pirrie's party were Lady Pirrie, Sir James T. Currie, K. C. B., Secretary; H. Davenport, Assistant Secretary; A. T. Marshall, Private Secretary; Miss Agnes M. Carlisle, Lady Pirrie's sister, and several servants.

Sir Joseph Duveen, head of Duveen Brothers, Fifth Avenue, returned with Lady Duveen from a pleasure tour of France, Spain, Italy and England.

Another passenger was Rear-Admiral Sir Guy Gaunt, K. C. M. G., British Naval Attaché in Washington and New York during the war. He said he had come to spend two weeks with friends in Washington.

Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, widow of the late philanthropist, with her sister, Miss Estelle Whitfield, returned from Scotland, where she passed the Summer at Skibo Castle.

Another arrival was Captain Bruce Bairnfather, humorist and war cartoonist. He said he had come here to lecture for six weeks, and was writing a play "far better than 'The Better 'Ole.'"

The Right Rev. Joseph Shiel, Bishop of Queensland, and the Right Rev. John McCarthy, Bishop of Sandhurst, on their way to Australia, also were on board. Bishop McCarthy said they had been to Rome, where they had an audience with Pope Benedict, and had also visited Ireland. The Bishops met Archbishop Mannix in London, who told them he still hoped the British Government would allow him to visit his aged mother in Ireland. The Holy See was neutral as to the Irish question. During their stay in the United States the Australian Bishops will study educational methods with a view to applying them to Australian schools.

Emily S. Grigsby, former ward of the late Charles T. Yerkes, builder of the London tube railways, arrived to visit her grandfather, Hamilton Busby of Springfield, Ohio. Mme. Georgette Le Blanc, first wife of Maurice Maeterlinck, who stepped aside that the Belgian poet might marry his youthful soulmate, also of the Olympic, arrived accompanied by her maid. She declined to discuss the object of her visit.

A number of wealthy Cuban sugar planters, including Raoul Barrios and Mrs. Barrios, were passengers. Juan Garcia Belmonte, who said he was the greatest matador in Castile, said he had killed 200 bulls and cleared $500,000, a proof that bullfighting in Spain was still popular. Belmonte was accompanied by his wife and their baby. He was going to Lima, Peru, under contract for the season which would net him $38,000.

Others on board the Olympic were the Marquise de Brado Ameno, with her daughter; Miss C. Nasorray Romero, on their way to Cuba for the Winter; Mr. and Mrs. C. Ledyard Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Chubb, Dr. Herman M. Biggs, State Commissioner of Health, and Mrs. Biggs; Eugene Constantin, President of the Constantin Refining Company of Tulsa, Okla., with his wife and four daughters; Charles S. Carstairs, Mr. and Mrs. A. Preston Jones, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Munn, Frederick C. Havemeyer, Mrs. Newbold LeRoy Edgar, Edward Drummond Libbey, Count de Vibraye, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Henry I. F. Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Godson, Colonel and Mrs. C. C. Goodrich and Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer.

In addition the Olympic had 419 second cabin and 1,084 steerage passengers.

JEWISH SQUADRON TO TOUR.

Wilson Wishes Success to Hebrew Union in $3,500,000 Drive.

A "Flying Squadron" composed of 100 nationally prominent Jews will start today on a national speaking tour to raise $3,500,000 for a ten years' extension program of education and religion under the auspices of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. The squadron received a letter from President Wilson, which said:

> "Your letter of Oct. 23 affords me a most welcome opportunity to express my very deep interest in the movement which is being pushed forward by the Union of American Hebrew Congregations to set forth the spiritual needs of Israel and to appeal for a stronger and more active Judaism, and also to raise money for a ten-year extension program. I sincerely hope that the efforts the Union is making will be crowned with complete success."

The Flying Squadron" is headed by Mortimer L. Schiff of this city, Julius Rosenwald of Chicago and Congressman Julius Kahn of San Francisco.

ORDERS COAL CAR INQUIRY.

Commerce Commission Heals That Favoritism Was Paid For.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—An investigation to determine whether there has been any violation of the law or unjust discrimination in the distribution of coal cars for interstate and foreign commerce was ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

A hearing will be held later, the commission announced. Meanwhile inquiry will be instituted in order that the commission may take such action as may be considered "necessary, proper or appropriate."

It has been reported, the commission stated, that certain persons and corporations have given money to the railroads and obtained unjust and unreasonable preferences in shipments of coal, subjecting other shippers to undue disadvantages.

HENRY WHITE WEDS MRS. WM. D. SLOANE

RELATIVES ONLY AT NUPTIAL

Ceremony in St. Bartholomew's Chapel Follows Issuing of License —Couple at Bride's City Home.

Mrs. Emily Vanderbilt Sloane, widow of William Douglas Sloane, and Henry White, formerly United States Ambassador to Italy and France and a member of the Peace Commission, were married quietly yesterday at noon in the chapel of St. Bartholomew's Church, Fiftieth Street and Park Avenue. Only the immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony.

The marriage followed closely on the report published last week that Mrs. Sloane was soon to become the bride of the diplomat, which was emphatically denied by Mrs. Sloane, who was at her villa, Elm Court, at Lenox, Mass., at the time. Mr. White, with other friends, had been her guest there for several days, and when he came later to New York he refused to talk about it.

But the report persisted and yesterday forenoon all doubts were set at rest when a license was issued at the Marriage Bureau at the Municipal Building to Mrs. Sloane and Mr. White. In making their applications Mrs. Sloane gave her age as 68. Mr. White gave his home as 2,139 R Street, Washington, D. C., and said he was 70 years old.

Then at noon a group of near relatives assembled at St. Bartholomew's chapel, and the simple ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Leighton Parks, rector of the church. There were no attendants.

It was said later at the residence of the bride, 2 West Fifty-second Street, that they had married for companionship and would remain at the house, as there would be no honeymoon.

Devoted to Philanthropies.

Mrs. White, since the death of her first husband, in March, 1916, at Aiken, S. C., has lived very quietly, devoting much of her time to the various philanthropies in which she is interested, spending her Summers at Lenox, where she was assessed last year as the wealthiest property holder at that place, and appearing in the parterre box at the opera during the Winter season, which she shares with her sister, Mrs. H. McK. Twombly. It was in 1886 that the late Mr. Sloane with his wife erected and endowed the Sloane Hospital for Women. During the war she gave $10,000 to the Red Cross and in that year she contributed $5,000 for Hillcrest Hospital in Pittsfield, Mass.

She was one of the eight children of the late William H. Vanderbilt, the multimillionaire financier and railroad man of his day who died in December, 1885, leaving a fortune rated at considerably more than $200,000,000. She is a sister of Frederick W. Vanderbilt, Mrs. W. Seward Webb, Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard, Mrs. Twombly and the late Cornelius, Gerry W. and William K. Vanderbilt and is an aunt of the Duchess of Marlborough. Her town house, at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-second Street, adjoins the present home of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, these two famous twin brownstone houses occupying the entire block front, having been erected by her father.

She has three daughters, Mrs. James A. Burden, Jr., Mrs. John Henry Hammond, Mrs. W. B. Osgood Field, and a son, Malcolm Douglas Sloane. Another son, William Douglas Sloane, Jr., died in infancy in 1884.

Thirty Years In Diplomatic Service.

Mr. White has spent thirty years in the United States Diplomatic Service, and was a delegate to the Peace Conference at Versailles. He comes from an old and distinguished Maryland family, and was born in Baltimore, the son of the late J. Campbell White of that city, in 1879. In 1894 he married Margaret Stuyvesant Rutherfurd of this city, sister-in-law of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt. Mrs. White died in September, 1916, at Lenox, Mass. They had a daughter, Miss Margaret Muriel White, who married Count Ernest Hoyos-Sprinzenstein Scherr-Thoss, in Paris, in April, 1900, and a son, John Campbell White. The marriage of their daughter took place while Mr. White was Ambassador to France. Count Scherr-Thoss was an officer of the Royal Prussian Cuirassiers, and his father was closely associated with the former Emperor Wilhelm.

Mr. White's first appointment was in 1883, when he became Secretary of the Legation at Vienna, going later to London as First Secretary, retiring, then again assuming the office under President McKinley, which he held until 1902, when he was appointed Ambassador to Italy. He took a prominent part at the Algeciras Conference as the leading representative of this country, which undertook the settlement of the Moroccan question.

It was in March, 1907, that President Roosevelt appointed him as Ambassador to France and he resigned in 1909, the first year of President Taft's administration. President Wilson appointed him as a delegate to the Peace Conference in December, 1918.

When he retired as Ambassador from France the Pilgrims tendered him a dinner in this city, at which the late Joseph H. Choate spoke, and the late John Bigelow, who represented America at the Court of the Second Empire, during the civil war, attended, also the late Levi P. Morton, who was Ambassador to France from 1861 to 1885.

In his toast to Mr. White Mr. Choate said:

"Mr. White set up a school of diplomacy in London. He took fresh, green Ambassadors and put them to school. What a group they were! Phelps, Lincoln, Bayard, Hay, and last of all myself."

Those at the Wedding.

Among those at the wedding were the bride's sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Burden, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Osgood Field; her son, Malcolm Douglas Sloane and Mrs. Sloane, formerly Miss Elinor Lee; her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt; her sisters, Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard, Mrs. Hamilton McK. Twombly, and Mrs. W. Seward Webb, with Dr. Webb, also Mrs. George H. Bend. Mr. White's son, John C. White, who recently returned from Poland, was also present.

Darlington-Smith Wedding Nov. 24.

The wedding of Miss Dorothy Stone Smith, daughter of Mrs. Robert Dun Douglass, and the Rev. Henry V. B. Darlington, a son of Bishop Darlington of Harrisburg, will take place on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 24, in Trinity Cathedral, Newark, N. J., and will be followed by a small reception at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dun Douglass in Llywellyn Park, N. J. Mr. Darlington's brother, the Rev. Gilbert S. B. Darlington of New York, will be his best man. Miss Kate B. Darlington, younger sister of the bridegroom, is to be the maid of honor.

Engagements.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hecht of 340 West Eighty-ninth Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jeanette L. Hecht, to Benjamin Rosenblum, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob C. Rosenblum of 490 West End Avenue. Mr. Rosenblum was a Lieutenant in the Chemical Warfare Division in this country during the war. Miss Hecht was an organizer of the theatrical branch of the Red Cross drive during the war. She has also been active in settlement work.

Announcement was made yesterday of the engagement of Miss Thelma Lucille Martens, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Martens of Chester Hill, Mount Vernon, N. Y., to George Williman Bapetti, son of George R. Bapetti of Washington, D. C. Mr. Bapetti is a graduate of Georgetown University and is a mining engineer.

BRYAN PUTS THE BLAME ON WILSON AND COX

President 'Laid the Foundation for Disaster' and the Governor Completed It.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 3.—W. J. Bryan placed what he termed the blame for Democratic defeat about equally between President Wilson and Governor Cox, in a statement made here this evening. "The President, he said, "laid the foundation for the disaster and the Governor completed the structure."

"The American people want the Government to play its part in the abolition of war, but they are indifferent as to whether we are part of a league or part of an association of nations," the statement said. "The real issue presented by the Democratic Party was not whether we should co-operate with other nations interested in peace, but whether we should assume a moral obligation which had no weight except as it suspended the right of Congress to act independently. The nation will do its part in aiding to prevent war, but it will not surrender into the keeping of any foreign group the right to determine when we shall declare war.

"Governor Cox, instead of repairing the injury done by the President, aggravated the situation by the manner in which he avoided domestic issues and misrepresented the position of the Republican Party on the League issue, which he declared to be paramount."

Continuing Mr. Bryan said:

"The President attempted to drive out of public life every Democrat who dared to differ from him even in minute details, while he made no effort to strengthen the Democrats who made him keeper of their conscience. To alienate all Republican support and invited partisan opposition by his appeal, just before the election of 1918, for a Congress that would support his personal leadership, and then, though knowing full well that the majority in the nation was against him, he refused to deal with the Senate as a co-ordinate branch of the Government.

"Instead of recognizing that the constitutional provision requiring a two-thirds majority for ratification compelled compromise, he insisted upon dictating the terms upon which ratification could be had, and then, on the 19th of March, stubbornly rejected ratification with reservations even when Senator Harding and some thirty-five other Republicans were willing to accept the League as he wrote it with the few changes upon which they insisted.

"By thus preventing ratification the President assumed responsibility for the nation's failure to enter the League and thrust the League into the campaign as a partisan issue.

"Governor Cox, instead of repairing the injury done by the President, aggravated the situation by the manner in which he avoided domestic issues and misrepresented the position of the Republican Party on the League issue, which he declared to be paramount. His attempt to put the Democratic Party in the attitude of being the sole guardian of peace was ridiculous, and his assaults upon such well-known advocates of peace as ex-President Taft and Herbert Hoover were disgraceful.

"Now that our participation will rest upon the will of Congress and not upon the arbitrary opinion of a single man we may expect that universal disarmament will be made one of the conditions upon which we attempt to advise."

TEAMSTERS STRIKE LIKELY TO BE AVERTED

The threatened strike of 16,000 truck drivers, members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, appeared more remote at midnight last night, when, at the conclusion of a four-hour conference between representatives of the unions and members of the Wage Scale Committee of the Merchants' Truckmen's Bureau and various other commercial organizations, it was announced that the truckmen had modified their demands to some extent, and that the union leaders, in turn, while not guaranteeing what action would be taken at a subsequent mass meeting of the locals, expressed the opinion that the differences would be amicably adjusted.

Arthur G. McKeever, President of the Ajax Trucking Corporation, who is the Chairman of the Wage Scale Committee of the truck owners, announced at midnight that his committee would not arbitrate the question of an increase in pay of $7 a week, which is demanded, but would renew the agreement with the men at the rate of pay and on the same terms as at present with the overtime pay at the rate of $1 an hour prorated for the time actually worked and would possibly arbitrate the question of pay for holidays. The main difference from the original proposition from the owners is that they had sought to have men work ten hours instead of nine as at present with the same pay. The employers say that the truckmen make an average of $35 a week. The union had also demanded an 8-hour day.

When the ultimatum of the employers was delivered last night the union leaders endeavored to have the questions submitted to arbitration, but the employers said that their proposal was final. A mass meeting of the union is to be held within a few days to take action on the matter.

William F. Keiser of the International Teamsters' Union said that a strike would involve drivers and teamsters of various large firms, including the wholesale dealers. However, he expressed confidence that a strike would be averted.

WAR DECLARED UPON RATS.

Extermination of Pests in Corona and Elmhurst Ordered by Copeland.

The Department of Health, through Commissioner R. S. Copeland, yesterday declared a war upon rats in the Corona section of Queens. The rats have originated upon the dumps on the Corona meadows between Flushing and Corona, where the street collections from Brooklyn have been dumped for several years.

Commissioner Copeland in a communication yesterday to the Corona Civic Aid Association said inspectors of his department had found conditions to be as bad as described and he had ordered the contractors to start immediately to exterminate the rats on the meadow dumps and also to assist in getting rid of them in residential sections of Corona and Elmhurst. Inspectors of the Department of Health will oversee the work.

ARMOUR PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Officials Held as Profiteers Get Two Weeks to Change Entry.

J. Ogden Armour and F. Edson White, President and Vice President of Armour & Co., pleaded not guilty yesterday before Federal Judge Knox to an indictment, of violating the Lever act, by profiteering in New Zealand lamb. Each was held in $1,000 bail, and allowed two weeks to change his plea.

The indictment, which was found on Oct. 22, included the Armour Company, Herbert A. Phillips, manager of the dressed sheep department; Arthur F. Van Pelt, District Superintendent of the company's New York branch, and Charles A. Neye and William Netsch, as individuals. The indictment embraced 137 counts, each describing an alleged case of overcharging. Mr. Armour recently lost his suit for permission to plead in Chicago.

MATHIAS SANDOR DEAD.

Painter Who Was Well Known for His Hopi Indian Scenes.

Mathias Sandor, a miniature and landscape painter of 131 West Ninety-fifth Street, died yesterday in St. Lenox Hill Hospital, following an attack of apoplexy the day before. He was born in Hungary in 1857, but received his professional training at the Art Students' League in this city and at the Academie Julien, in Paris, under François Flameng and Gabriel Ferrier. Of late years he had devoted himself largely to miniatures, but was also well known for his pictures of Hopi Indian scenes at Taos, New Mexico.

He was a member of the Salmagundi Club, the Artists' Fund Society and the American Federation of Arts.

Ex-Judge Allen B. Endicott.

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 3.—Allen B. Endicott, former Judge of the Court of Common Pleas and President of the Union National Bank of this city, died here today after a brief illness, aged 83.

He was Moderator of the West Jersey Presbyterian Assembly and a brother of Admiral Mordecai T. Endicott, U. S. Navy.

Some years ago he bought Andrew Carnegie's motor cruising yacht Skibo. In September, 1916, while a large party of guests was on board the gasoline tank exploded and many were seriously burned. The Judge and all his guests had to leap into the water and were rescued by a fishing captain.

GEORGE W. STEVENS, RAILROAD HEAD, DIES

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 3.—George W. Stevens, President of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, dropped dead at the Greenbrier Hotel, White Sulphur Springs, this morning while dictating a letter to a stenographer. Details of his sudden death were received in a telegram by former Governor William A. MacCorkle and former Senator W. E. Chilton of this city, intimate friends and business associates. His body was sent to Richmond on a special train this afternoon for burial.

As head of one of the largest trunk lines of the country Mr. Stevens was widely known among transportation men. He began his career as a messenger for a telegraph company at an early age. He became a telegraph operator and went to work as an operator for the Wabash Lines and rose to the position of General Superintendent of the Wabash. Twenty-seven years ago Mr. Stevens became General Superintendent of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad and later was made General Manager. He became President seven years later upon the death of M. E. Ingalls.

Mr. Stevens was active in the development of the coal fields of West Virginia, and during his term of office as President of the C. & O. an unusually large number of branch lines were built to aid in the development of the State's natural resources. It was largely through his efforts that the C. & O. acquired possession of the Hocking Valley route, thereby obtaining an outlet to the Great Lakes for C. & O. He was born in Utica, Ohio, in 1851.

G. DE P. DE LA TOUCHE DEAD.

SEVEN FAVORITES LOSE AT PIMLICO

VETO WINS FEATURE EVENT.

Captures Forest Park Handicap and Pays Supporters Better Than 6 to 1.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 3.—The form players received a severe setback at Pimlico this afternoon, when all seven favorites went down to defeat with monotonous regularity and, as usual, left the way open for a number of long shots to score. The upsets were not due to track conditions, for the weather was bright and clear and the track fast.

Not the least of the surprises came in the featured event, the Forest Park Handicap, at a mile, when A. S. Woodliffe's Veto, a horse that was running in cheap races not so long ago, galloped home in front of Knot, Captain Alcock and Bridesman, winning easily at better than 6 to 1. Knot and Captain Alcock had a struggle for second place, the latter losing out in the last few strides by a head, while Bridesman, which was the favorite in the race, was well back in fourth place and never was a contender throughout the running.

This upset was followed by the downfall of R. T. Wilson, Jr.'s, Dry Moon an odds-on choice in the Juvenile Handicap. Dry Moon was defeated by H. P. Whitney's Exodus, which suddenly returned to his best form and ran a very good race.

Weiner in Clever Ride.

The Forest Park Handicap resulted in a good contest despite the surprise that came with the finish. The race was run in 1:39 2-5, the best time made during the day. Veto won by clever handling on the part of Jockey Weiner, who held his mount off the fast early pace and closed with a rush which overtook the tiring leaders.

Practically all the support in the race was for Bridesman and Captain Alcock. The latter suffered to a degree from the same fate that has been met by most of the horses recently brought here from New York. They seem unable to find their racing legs. That was not altogether true of Captain Alcock today, he found his racing legs all right, but Jockey Mooney made so much use of him in the early running that he has little left to finish with. With the springing of the barrier anot and Captain Alcock fought out the lead for the first turn, and Knot reached the point slightly in front. Mooney rushed up with his mount and, going to the outside, raced along with the filly all through the back stretch. The pace was so fast that the leaders drove away from the balance of the field and were leading by more than five lengths.

Veto was reserved in last position until near the far turn when Weiner began to improve his position. He gradually moved up on the outside and had disposed of his opponents, two front runners at the turn into the stretch. Bridesman, meantime, had displayed little speed and could not respond when his rider set him down for a run at the leaders. Though Weiner had to go wide turning into the stretch his mount was the only one which had any speed left and, Veto soon passed the early pacemakers. Captain Alcock made a game effort, but was soon trailing by three lengths. In the last few strides Knot, almost as game as Captain Alcock, got her nose in front to gain the decision for second place. Bridesman ran a very disappointing race for a horse that had been winning stake events from high class performers.

Dry Moon Disappoints.

Dry Moon was backed for the Juvenile Handicap, a dash of six furlongs, as though there were no other horses in the race. Exodus had performed so poorly at Laurel that little was thought of his chances, though it was evident he had not been altogether neglected when he received some mild applause on returning to the stands. Blue Wilson colt, with Ensor up, broke slowly and had to be rushed up on the outside.

Ensor moved into second place rounding the turn. In the meantime, however, Exodus had gained steadily along the rail and under a good ride by Kummer, was held close to the rail making the turn. From the head of the stretch to the finish the Whitney colt had all the speed and won very easily, though his margin of victory was only a length. Ensor made a strong finish with his mount, but all he could do to take second by half a length from Polythia. G. W. Loft's Halu brought up the rear of the field of six. He ran a very dull race and one that was far below his best form.

Mrs. Ambrose Clark saw her colors carried to victory in the steeplechase, when Hibler raced in front all the way and won easily from Smithfield and Max Meadows, among others in the field of a dozen starters. Hibler was permitted to steal a long lead on the first turn of the field and, fencing perfectly, he held his advantage and had six lengths to spare at the end. Max Meadows, the favorite, was kept in good position throughout, but could not make up ground on the leader when the latter was clear. The last few strides Smithfield gained second by a head. Kingstown Pier and Anne Excellence fell, but the riders were not hurt.

Long Shot Takes Opener.

The day started with a long shot winning, when Ral Parr's Fernwood won the opening dash for two-year-olds, getting home three lengths in front of Mantilla and Silence, and paying $2080 for a $2 ticket. J. W. McClelland's Wild Thoughts was the choice, but this filly once more showed a faint heart, and, after being right up with the leaders, and apparently the winner at the head of the stretch, she stopped badly and dropped back to fourth place. Fernwood came from far back, and, closing with a rush in the stretch, easily disposed of her opposition.

Fourteen platers went to the post for the third race at six furlongs. The victory went to Philipic, which took the measure of Le Gauiols and his own stablemate, Nancy Ann, among the others. This winner paid $47.30 to holders of $2 tickets and by the peculiar working of the mutuels paid $27.70 to shed a similar sum, $19.70 for second. Le Gauiols was in front all the way to the sixteenth pole, when he tired badly, and the winner closed on with a rush, to win by half a length. The victory of Star Realm in the fifth race came closer to pleasing the form players than any other, as this one was a well-played second choice, and but a fraction of a point higher in price than Sunnyhill. Star Realm received a good ride by Butwell, and won by six lengths, with Courils second and Sunny Hill third among the six which started in the mile and a sixteenth test.

The final dash for two-year-olds at five and a half furlongs was won by Salesman, which defeated Joon's Umma and Fluff in a driving finish, and paid nearly 8 to 1.

80-Yard Run Wins Game.

Clason Military Academy defeated Evander Childs at football yesterday by the score of 6 to 0 in a game played at Clason Field. The only touchdown of the game was scored in the last half minute of play by Slattery of Clason M. A., who made an 80-yard run for the score.

DRESDEN DEFEATS IWIN IN HANDICAP

Takes Tyler Hotel Event at Louisville—Jeffersonville Purse Goes to Redmon.

Special to The New York Times.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 3.—The running of the Tyler Hotel Handicap at a mile over the Churchill Downs track today resulted in an upset when Iwin, the hot favorite, could do no better than second, the race going to Dresden, the outsider in the field of three that went to the post.

Dresden started at a fast clip and acted as pacemaker for the first half mile, but then dropped back, Belgian Queen taking the lead, followed closely by Iwin. Just before reaching the stretch, however, Dresden moved up with a rush, went by her company and won in a driving finish by a length. Iwin beat Belgian Queen a length and a half for the place.

The other named race of the card, the Jeffersonville Purse, at seven furlongs, for three-year-olds and upward, was captured in easy style by the favorite, Redmon. Kinburn was second, two lengths back, while Blue Paradise got the short end of the purse, another length back.

The field of six got away to a good start. Redmon showed foot at once and moved into a comfortable lead, being in hand all the way. Kinburn was held off the pace and saved for the stretch run. He was given a vigorous ride and finished in game fashion. Blue Paradise ran a good race but tired in the last sixteenth.

The long distance race of the card, at a mile and a quarter, a claiming event for four-year-olds and upward, went to the heavily played favorite, Fair Orient. The chestnut gelding showed himself much the best, moved into the lead with a rush after going half a mile, and won as his rider pleased by five lengths. War Spirit saved the place by a length and a half from Honolulu Boy. Game Cock was the only other starter.

The summaries:

GOLDSTEIN TO BOX LYNCH.

Sharkey's Injury Causes Change in Garden Boxing Program.

Jack Sharkey, the west side bantamweight, who was scheduled to box Joe Lynch in the feature bout of tomorrow night's show at Madison Square Garden will be unable to fill the engagement, owing to an injured wrist, Tex Rickard, manager of the Garden Club, last night announced that he had signed Abe Goldstein to take Sharkey's place in the main bout of fifteen rounds.

Sharkey sustained the injury while boxing Tuesday afternoon. He did not regard it seriously and started his daily workout yesterday, but was forced to give up, owing to the pain. He notified Manager Rickard, who sent the little boxer to the club physician for an examination. An X-ray picure disclosed that no bones are broken, but the left wrist is so badly inflamed that Sharkey will be unable to box again for at least two weeks.

The remainder of the program will be as announced previously. Phil Bloom will meet George Ward in a ten-round bout, and K. O. George Chaney of Baltimore will oppose Georgie Brown of the west side in another ten-round event. A six-round preliminary will open the show.

YOUNG CHESS EXPERT HERE.

Nine-Year-Old Master of the Pawns Arrives in New York.

Samuel Rzeschewski, the 9-year-old Polish chess expert, arrived here yesterday on board the steamship Olympic of the White Star Line, accompanied by his father, mother and C. A. Azenberg, his manager.

On the last evening of the voyage this extraordinarily endowed child gave a remarkable demonstration of what he could do against a team of players picked from the passenger list of the Olympic. Eleven opponents at as many tables, including one blindfold game, were pitted against him, but none was a match for him and he made a clean sweep on all the boards. It took but an hour to finish the entertainment, which was given for the benefit of the Seamen's Charities.

While the steamship was still off Quarantine Rzeschewski was subjected to an interesting test by H. Helms, editor of the American Chess Bulletin, who handed him a pocket chess board whereon was set up a position from one of over a hundred games played by Rzeschewski in England. Through the manager he was asked if he had ever seen it before. For a moment he studied the diagram, but quickly the serious aspect gave way to a smile of recognition, as he indicated the few moves that had followed in the actual game. It had been played in London with Griffith, one-time British champion, both he and Rzeschewski having been blindfolded, and the child-master had been the winner. In recognition of this demonstration of his skill, yesterday the chess board in question was presented to him. It was the first prize the phenomenon had acquired in the New World.

Australian Cyclists Enter.

Alex McBeath and Cecil Walker, the six-day bicycle champions of Australia, at a meeting at the Italian Sporting Club last night signed contracts and joined the American stars who will compete in the twenty-ninth international championship six-day race in the Twenty-second Regiment Armory the week of Nov. 21 to 27. This race will mark McBeath's and Walker's first appearance in a six-day event here.

Donate Basket Ball Trophy In Memory of Columbia Star

A trophy to be known as the Arthur Alexander Memorial Cup, in memory of the late Arthur D. Alexander, Columbia's All-American basket ball centre in 1909, will be the prize for which the teams in the Intercollegiate Basket Ball League will strive this year. The new cup, which has been donated by former Columbia basket ball players from 1900 to 1910, will take the place of the Heppe Trophy, which was placed in competition in 1903 and was finally won permanently last year by Pennsylvania, when the latter gained its third leg. Alexander died in April, 1919, from ill health resulting from his service in France, where he served as a Lieutenant from 1918 to January, 1919. He was graduated from Columbia in 1909, in which year he gained his greatest fame as a basket ball star. The cup will remain in competition until three legs on it have been won by one of the league teams.

DEERING TO COACH COLUMBIA QUINTETS

Former C. C. N. Y. Basket Ball Mentor to Instruct Blue and White Teams.

Joseph H. Deering, well-known basket ball player and referee, was yesterday appointed coach of the Columbia teams for the coming season. He signed a three-year contract and will have charge of both the Varsity and freshman teams, in the latter capacity displacing Carl Merner, who coached the Blue and White cubs last season.

Deering achieved his greatest fame as a coach during a three-years' régime at City College, where he taught basket ball in 1916, 1917 and 1918. Although the material was not remarkable, Deering produced a team that for three successive years defeated the champion of the Intercollegiate Basket Ball League. He is a graduate of Clason Point Military Academy and Manhattan College, and has been a baskt ball referee for fifteen years. Deering officiated at the first Army-Navy floor tussle at West Point last year and was also one of the umpires at the intersectional series last year between the University of Chicago and Pennsylvania. He refereed the Princeton-Pennsylvania playoff in the Intercollegiate League several years ago, and is one of the best-known of basket ball referees.

The new coach will fill the place left vacant by the resignation of Claus Benson, who was in charge of the Columbia Varsity five last year. Benson made a favorable impression in his first season, but found that other affairs prevented him from coaching on Morningside Heights.

Practice for the Columbia teams will begin within three weeks, it was said yesterday. Both Varsity and freshman will be called out at that time, and a promising batch of candidates is expected. The freshman class is said to be unusually strong in basket ball stars. The Varsity will start with four good players as a nucleus. They are Johnson, the negro flash, one of the league's stars last year; Watson, centre; Tynan, forward, and Burke or Harris, football star and reputed to be one of the greatest players in Eastern intercolligate circles. He will play guard. The only players of last year's team who will be missing are Weinstein and Stutz, both of whom have left college. Several other experienced players will be available.

A game with West Point will be one of the high lights of the Columbia preliminary schedule. The Cadets will be encountered in one of the contests in December before the league schedule gets under way.

DR. SUGARMAN TO COACH.

Philadelphian Will Train Princeton Basket Ball Quintet.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 3.—It was announced by the Princeton Athletic Association today that Dr. Lewis Sugarman of Philadelphia will coach the Princeton basket ball team this Winter. He succeeds Professor F. W. Leuhring, who left here last Spring to accept the position as head of the Department of Physical Education at the University of Nebraska.

Dr. Sugarman will live in Princeton and plans to call out the court candidates in the latter part of the month. Dr. Sugarman was formerly coach at the University of Pennsylvania where he turned out several championship teams.

YACHT CHALLENGE ISSUED.

Americans Seek International Race with England Next Year.

Negotiations for an international yacht race next Summer between boats representing the United States and England in what is known as the Seawanhaka class have progressed so favorably that the event is now practically assured. A cable from London yesterday stated that four Americans had challenged for the race to be held in British waters. Official confirmation that such a challenge had been sent was obtained last night. It was added, however, that there are quite a few details in connection with the affair which still have to be completed.

The challenging Americans are: Paul Hammond, member of the New York Yacht Club, who was a member of the Regatta Committee during the races between Resolute and Shamrock IV. last Summer; Guy Lowell of Boston, Paul Drexel of Philadelphia, and A. W. Stewart of New York. The two English men mentioned as representing the defenders are Sir Charles Allom and William P. Burton, who sailed Shamrock IV. for Sir Thomas Lipton in the races for America's Cup off Sandy Hook. Burton is universally conceded to be one of the most successful amateur skippers of small yachts in England, and he should be right at home in the proposed event, for the Seawanhaka class boats are of the smaller type of yachts, measuring approximately twenty feet overall.

It will be possible to send these craft abroad on the deck of a big ocean liner, it will not be necessary for them to make the long journey under their own sail power, which America's Cup yachts are compelled to do. Being so small the journey across the ocean under their own sail power would be far too dangerous to be attempted.

It was said last night that a definite announcement regarding the details of the challenge could be expected within the next few days.

Poly Prep-Freeport Game Off.

The football game between the elevens of Poly Prep and Freeport High School, scheduled for next Saturday afternoon, has been canceled. Poly Prep and Glen Cove High School will clash on the Poly Prep gridiron tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Lewis in First Wrestling Bout.

The first match of the wrestling season will be staged at the 71st Regiment Armory on Nov. 22. Ed "Strangler" Lewis will be one of the principals, but Promoter Jack Curley has not yet secured an opponent for him.

RENEWS INVITATION TO JOINT MEETING

Chairman Heydler Requests Attendance of All Club Owners and Ban Johnson.

Another invitation has been issued to all major league club owners and to B. B. Johnson, President of the American League, to attend the joint conference of club owners at Chicago next Monday. Reports from the West have been to the effect that Johnson and his loyal "five" club owners would attend the meeting, but President Heydler of the National League, temporary chairman of the joint meeting, has heard nothing definite from Johnson or the club owners who have gone on record as opposed to the Lasker plan of reorganization.

Mr. Heydler yesterday sent the following notice to all major league club owners and to Johnson:

Gentlemen:

Pursuant to invitations previously extended, and resolutions adopted (copies of which have been furnished to each American and National League club president) you are hereby advised that the joint meeting of our major league organizations will be held at the Congress Hotel, Chicago, Monday morning, Nov. 8, 1920, at 10 o'clock.

The purpose of this meeting is to appoint a drafting committee representing the major leagues, the same to meet with a committee to be selected by the National Association of Minor Leagues, the duties of which joint committee shall be to prepare an agreement embodying such new organic provisions for the maintenance of the national game and so to reorganize the government thereof as to assure the public that the sport is conducted in a proper manner (as set forth in paragraphs 3 and 4 of the resolutions of Oct. 18, 1920).

This invitation is cordially extended to you, individually and as club representatives of the American and National Leagues.

Yours truly,

Temporary Chairman.

The above announcement indicates that the majority club owners are not planning to overlook the minor leagues, as intimated in the counter-proposal handed out by the American League Board of Directors at the close of its meeting last Friday in Chicago. As Mr. Heydler explained yesterday, the eight club owners from the National League and three from the American League decided at their previous meeting to leave Chicago next Monday night for Kansas City, in order to have the minors, who are to meet next Tuesday at the latter city, join them in the reorganization of the sport.

The somewhat lengthy plea for consideration for the minor leagues made by the American League "loyalists" last week at the close of the Chicago meeting, drew some caustic comment yesterday from a prominent National Leaguer.

"Why this sudden solicitude for the minor leagues from this source?" he asked. "The National League was willing to consider the propositions of the Minors in that well remembered meeting at the Hotel Biltmore a year ago last February but the failure of the American League to take part resulted in the smaller leagues breaking away from the majors. Now we are charged with overlooking the rights of the smaller leagues.

"At the first of the proposed joint meetings of the Minor league Committee with the club owners of the National and American Leagues at the Biltmore every National League club President was in attendance. Three club officials from the American League came into the room, but none was the President of a club. It was decided to defer action at the time and a second meeting showed an equal lack of interest and attendance on the part of the American League. Finally a third session was called and Mr. Johnson came in with a secretary of one of the clubs. By this time the Minor League Committee of eight had become tired of waiting, some of the members had left the city and nothing developed. All the time the National League was willing to help the minor leagues.

"With these facts in mind it is amusing to read of certain club owners espousing the cause of the minors and condemning our plan because we have not, according to these men, given the smaller leagues the consideration to which they are entitled. However, I do not believe that the minors are being misled by recent manifestations of friendship. They realize fully who their friends are."

Fred Mitchell, who recently was superseded by Johnny Evers as manager of the Chicago Cubs, returned yesterday to his home near Boston after a short visit here to discuss the managership of the Boston Braves with Owner George W. Grant. Mitchell was in Chicago when the change of managers was decided upon by the Directors of the Cubs. He received a message from Mr. Grant to come to this city at his earliest convenience, so he returned to Boston via New York.

Grant and Mitchell had a long conference and it will be no surprise if the latter is chosen to succeed George Stallings in the Hub. Mitchell was Stallings's assistant in 1914 when the Braves won the National League pennant and world's championship and he has been credited with much of the success attained that year by the Boston Club. It was his work with the Braves which led to his appointment in 1918 as manager of the Cubs. His return to Boston as a manager would be well received by the fans.

Mitchell said before leaving here yesterday that he expected to meet Grant again after the Boston owner returns from the meetings in Chicago and Kansas City next week. The Boston owner has not announced definitely that George Stallings will not return to the Hub, but all signs point that way. Grant declares that he will not name his 1921 manager for a time, possibly until after the National League meeting here next month.

GARDNER BEATS RENAULD.

Scores Victory in Interborough Pocket Billiard Tournament.

Play in the first annual pocket billiard tournament for the Class C Interborough championship of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players began at the National Recreation Academy in Brooklyn last night. Gus Gardner of Manhattan, who was the runner-up for the national title last season, defeated Jack Renauld of Brooklyn by a score of 100 to 56. Gardner had a high run of 19 and Renauld's best was 12.

Gardner made his high run in his first inning, giving him a big edge. He gradually increased his lead throughout the game, finally winning by a margin of forty-four points. Gardner was in fine form and made several very difficult cut shots. His position play was good, especially when he was manoeuvring for a break. It was this feature of his work that enabled him to score such a decisive victory.

Renauld, on the other hand, was not at all sure of himself. He was far from being at his best in great contrast to Gardner's position play was that of Renauld. The latter frequently sewed himself up when he had the balls spread and in good position to record a substantial run. Three times when it appeared as if he might gain on Gardner he tied himself up on break shots.

Clarence Hurd and S. Saunders will meet in tonight's game.

Belgian Billiard Star Coming.

Edward Horemans the famous Belgian billiard player, is due to sail from Holland for this country tomorrow. He will leave Rotterdam on the Holland-America Line steamer Nieu Amsterdam and is expected to arrive here about Nov. 16. He is coming to this country to meet Willie Hoppe, the world's champion, in what will undoubtedly be the biggest billiard attraction staged in a decade.

Peterson to Try for 1,000 Points in Five Minutes

One thousand billiard points in five minutes! That is the objective of Charles Peterson, the fancy shot maker of St. Louis. He will make his second attempt in public to accomplish this remarkable feat on Monday night at the National Recreation Academy in Brooklyn. Briefly explained, this means scoring 1,000 at straight rail billiards in five minutes. Peterson has succeeded in doing this in private, but has attempted it only once in public. He then succeeded in scoring 920 buttons in the allotted time. In a measure his failure to count 1,000 was due to the fact that the time keeper failed to announce each passing minute. Peterson holds the world's speed record, having made 100 points in twenty-seven seconds. His attempt will be made following an exhibition 18.2 balkline billiard match against Willie Hoppe.

AMATEUR CONTROL TO BE DISCUSSED

Important Meeting of American Trapshooting Association to Open Today.

The annual meeting of the American Trapshooting Association will begin at the Hotel Astor today and continue through tomorrow. It promises to be one of the most important sessions the association has held in recent years, even more important than the meeting of a year ago when, for the first time in the history of the sport, the amateurs were given recognition by the appointment of a committee of five to form a part of the general committee.

Particular importance is attached to the meeting which begins today because official reports will be made on the conduct of the sport under the radical changes which were made a year ago. It will be recalled that at the last annual session this country and Canada were divided into five zones. It was generally believed that this arrangement would not only serve to stimulate interest in the sport but would materially aid in its government. The reports of the five zone managers will be received with much interest, and these reports no doubt will have great bearing upon the conduct of trapshooting for another year at least.

It is strongly intimated that the amateurs aspire to assume sole control of the sport in the immediate future. The matter will be thrashed out at this meeting. It has been officially announced that on Friday a joint committee, composed of the executive committee and the amateur committee, will take under consideration all suggestions that may seem of value along the lines of placing the control of the shooting solely in the hands of the amateurs. Naturally, there is nation-wide interest in this procedure, for should it be decided to place the entire control in the hands of the amateurs it will be the first time in a quarter of a century that such a condition has existed.

Another matter of great importance will be the selection of the site for the holding of the Grand American Handicap next year. During the season just closed this classic of trapshooting was held in a public park in Cleveland and was attended with great success in every detail. It is understood that Chicago and Indianapolis are both bidding for the event in 1921. The South Shore Country Club of Chicago has staged several Grand Americans and the beauty of its grounds are well known to the shooters of this country. Harry C. Stutz, well known in automobile circles and who, incidentally, is one of the best trapshots in this country, is behind the movement to stage the Grand American Handicap at Indianapolis next season. He wants to hold it in the sp

DARTMOUTH ELEVEN IN FULL STRENGTH

ROBERTSON AT HALFBACK

Special to The New York Times.

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 3.—For the first time this season Dartmouth today was represented by its best possible eleven, with all men recovered from their injuries and ready to take the field Saturday against Cornell at the Polo Grounds. Coach Spears expressed himself tonight as completely satisfied with the Green's prospects.

A thousand undergraduates gathered in Alumni Oval this afternoon to cheer the team in its last real workout before the big contest. Spears put the men through a long, hard signal drill, but took no chances with a scrimmage. He does not wish to risk losing any of the big men before the game, and for this reason has cut scrimmaging out of the program for the remainder of the week.

Captain Jim Robertson was back at his old place at left halfback, and showed that his four weeks' layoff with a broken collarbone has not seriously affected his ability either at plunging through the line or punting and drop kicking. Aided by a slight wind he drove beautiful spirals 70 yards down the field time and again, and it is in this department that the Green expects to hold a decided advantage over Dobie's eleven. Robertson also tried a few drops with good success despite a muddy field.

Robertson Declared Fit.

Spears would not definitely say whether Robertson would start the game, but he played with the 'Varsity throughout the entire signal drill, and is regarded by Trainer Hillman as in fit condition. Bower, formerly regular at right half, was on the sidelines, with Pat Holbrook, brilliant open-field runner, taking his place. Holbrook is one of the best off-tackle plungers on the Green's squad. Whether Spears will start him or not remains to be seen. It is, however, certain that the Green mentor will use both him and Bower at some time during the game.

Zach Jordan was at his old position at quarterback. Although this is Jordan's first year at that position, he handles himself like a veteran and Spears regards him as second only to Captain Cannell of last year's eleven. John Shelburn, who was injured in the Penn State game and unable to take part in any contests since that time, was on deck at fullback and will start at that position Saturday. He is the best man in the Green quartet for straight line bucking, and will be used extensively for this purpose against Cornell.

Ends Position a Problem.

Lynch and Moore, regular ends, were both on duty today. The wings have always been the weak point about the Green teams and for this reason Spears expects to put in Foster, Gordon, Thrasher and strong substitutes, practically as good as the regulars, at some stage of the game. With these six men to pick from, he hopes to get a combination that will match the best Gil Dobie can offer. Neidlinger will play right tackle, and Sonnenberg, back after two weeks' layoff, will be on duty at left. Sonnenberg has made a great record so far at blocking kicks and is expected to cause no little trouble for the Cornell backfield in this respect.

Crisp and Aschenbach will start at guards with Weld and Merritt held in reserve. At centre will be Big Bill Cunningham, who has played every minute of the important games this season, and will put the last five against Tufts last Saturday. He is a tower of strength in the line and put up a great fight against Joe Alexander in the Syracuse tussle two weeks ago.

FORDHAM CONTINUES WORK

Eleven Has No Game This Week—Prepares for Muhlenberg.

Despite the fact that no game has been scheduled for this Saturday, Coach Dumoe of the Fordham football team is working his charges hard these days in an effort to get them into shape for the contest with Muhlenberg next week. A long practice was held at Fordham Field yesterday afternoon, most of which was spent at the tackling dummy.

Cliff Steele, the Maroon quarterback, got into the Detroit game last Saturday for a few minutes and showed up very well. It was the first time that Steele has been able to play since his injury in the Boston College encounter early last month and Dumoe, not wishing to take any chances with him, refused to allow him to work very long. However, Steele should be ready to play regularly again within a few days and will surely be at the helm when Fordham meets Muhlenberg.

The return of Steele will force Dumoe to do a lot of shifting in the backfield. Noonan, who has been substituting for the Maroon star, is too valuable a man to be kept out of the lineup, and he will probably supplant Gately at fullback. It will then be up to Dumoe to decide between Gately and Kearns at halfback. Gately is a good line plunger and has been doing most of the kicking for the Fordham eleven. Kearns, on the other hand, has been one of the team's most consistent ground-gainers with his long end runs. The Maroon team would be far better off if some of the backfield material could be developed into capable forwards, for the line seems to be the real weakness of the Bronx aggregation.

LONG DRILL FOR COLGATE.

Maroon None Too Confident of Victory Over Rochester Saturday.

Special to The New York Times.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Nov. 3.—With the first tinge of Winter hovering about Whitnall Field this afternoon the Colgate football squad was sent through a long workout by Coaches Huntington and Goode. The crispness of the air gave impetus to the team which will face Rochester on Saturday, and the players were sent through a long scrimmage.

Captain Ray Wooster, who was unable to play in the Yale game, was still absent from the lineup, as was Krauss, who played most of the battle against the Blue eleven, and who was later sent to the College Infirmary with an attack of tonsilitis. The absence of these two men forced the Maroon mentors to make several material changes in the personnel of the Colgate line. Moster was shifted from left to right tackle in order to make room for Bud Goodelle, whose natural position is left tackle.

It is expected that Davis, who was last week shifted to right guard, where he has been showing to good advantage, will start the game against Rochester on the latter's gridiron Saturday. Battered and crippled as they are, the Colgate players are not too optimistic over the outcome of the annual contest with the speedy Rochester team.

Coaches Huntington and Goode have ample respect for the strength of Rochester, especially in view of the fact that early in the season this team held to a close score the powerful Cornell eleven, which took Colgate's measure two weeks ago.

Harvard Unlikely to Number Players for Princeton Game

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 3.—No plans have yet been made for numbering Harvard players in the football game here Saturday with Princeton, and none seems likely to be made. The Princeton players will be numbered, as they have been all Fall. It now seems probable that the Harvard eleven will be decorated with numerals only for the Yale game Nov. 20. The objection of Harvard football authorities to index the men in the Tiger game seems to be that Yale scouts might be enabled thereby to learn too much about Crimson formations.

CORNELL PRACTICES BY ELECTRIC LIGHT

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Under the glare of a powerful artificial lighting system, the Cornell football squad worked long after nightfall today in the great drive for the Dartmouth game. Another long but not so intensive drill is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. The Cornell squad of thirty-five players, three full teams and two to spare, will entrain for New York City to play Dartmouth on the Polo Grounds Saturday. Hundreds of Cornell students will also journey to New York to give the team royal support in its first big battle of the season.

In the best physical condition of the year and keen to maintain the fine record that they have set so far the players are also stimulated by a lively rivalry among themselves for the honor of making the original lineup against the Green. Coach Dobie announced early this week that every place on the team was open to the man who "showed the most stuff" in the four days of practice, and as a consequence there is the keenest competition.

Interest centres in the probable selections for the backfield. It is generally conceded that Eddie Kaw and Clyde Mayer, the fast, hard-hitting halfbacks who have done such yeoman service for the Ithacans this year, are sure of their positions, but the choice of quarterback and fullback remains open. In the last two games Eddie Hoff, a New York boy, has piloted the eleven through the greater part of the contests, and his cool-headed handling of the team has won the commendation of Coach Dobie.

On the other hand, Bill Carey, an expert passer, punter and drop kicker, is a formidable rival for the place and in some quarters it is predicted that if Hoff should finally be chosen, Dobie will start Carey at fullback. If he does not adopt that policy, but keeps one of the quarterbacks in reserve, then it is likely that Jewett will play fullback instead of Olney or Baugher, who were tried last week against Rutgers. Another view of the backfield selection is that Dobie may hold Carey back as an emergency kicker.

NEBRASKA MAY BE BACK.

Cornhuskers Dickering for Game with "Big College" in Year or Two.

Before leaving last night for State College, Pa., where his team of Cornhuskers will prepare to meet Penn State on Saturday, Fred W. Luehring, the director of athletics at Nebraska University and formerly on the athletic staff at Princeton, let loose an announcement of interest. Through a Lincoln newspaperman traveling with the team, it was stated that Nebraska would play one of the largest universities in the East either next Autumn or in 1922." It was emphasized that no reflection on the size of Rutgers or Penn State was intended, but it was indicated that a deal was pending with one of the "big three" of Eastern football, namely, Princeton, Harvard or Yale.

Nebraska, this year is claiming one unique honor. Because it has a scheduled game for Thanksgiving Day at Lincoln with the Washington State College eleven of Pullman, Wash., it is advertising itself as the only team from the Middle West which will meet opponents from both the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards. Nebraska hopes to make these appearances in inter-sectional contests annual events. The start was made last year when in a post-season game Syracuse University was defeated by 3 to 0.

The Nebraska management announced last night that it regretted exceedingly that Tuesday's game with Rutgers at the Polo Grounds should have been marred by the inaccurate scoreboard. But it added that it was entirely blameless of the hoax which misled so many of the spectators. It was said that a week ago the correct list of numbers for the Nebraska players was mailed to the Penn State authorities for Saturday's game and that on Oct. 23 the same list was handed in person to a Rutgers scout who saw Nebraska play at Lincoln. Whether this list in the possession of the Rutgers staff ever reached the publishers of the inaccurate scorecard was not known by the Nebraska management, it was said.

GIVE OUT NAVY'S TICKETS.

Distribution of Pasteboards for Army Game Has Begun.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 3.—The distribution of Navy's quota of the tickets for the Army-Navy football game at New York on Nov. 27 has begun. The tickets are being distributed by a clerical force directed by Commander D. L. Howard, Secretary of the Navy Athletic Association.

As the demand for tickets is greater than ever the number assigned to each of the members of the association must be smaller. Each member will receive two tickets and may purchase two more at the price of $3.50 each. Before Oct. 15 application had been made for more than twice the number of tickets available, so that there will be none for general distribution.

ARMY PREPARES FOR NAVY.

Coach Daly Displeased with Work of Eleven in Hard Drill.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 3.—The Army's drive for the Navy game was launched in earnest today. The 'Varsity men were sent through an intensive scrimmage with the scrubs which lasted for thirty-five minutes. Head Coach Charley Daly was severe in his criticism of the work. Speed and more fight was the cry.

An effort to speed up the backfield brought every ball-carrying back the Army has into action today. French, Ebersole, Lawrence, Asher, Richards, Terry, Smythe and Bennett were all sent crashing into the scrub line. One touchdown was credited to the 'Varsity. Smythe scored it.

The tackling was miserable again today. Daly sent his tacklers after a dozen backs in his efforts to improve this feature of the Army's game. Ogden drove the team at quarter during most of the practice. Wilhide was used but little in the position. Breidster was out on crutches for the first time since the Notre Dame contest. The Cadets drilled even after darkness set in, a searchlight aiding them in the final stages of the workout.

FISHER TO START HUBBARD AT TACKLE

Faxon Also Selected for Position in Harvard Line Against Princeton.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 3.—There no longer seems any doubt in the mind of Head Coach Bob Fisher of the Harvard eleven regarding the lineup he will enter against the Princeton Tigers on Saturday. He has decided to send Hubbard in at right tackle, notwithstanding that this heavy player has done no scrimmaging with his lame leg since the Centre College game. It also is announced that Harvard's left tackle will be Faxon, the man who has been in Sedgwick's position most of the season. Sedgwick yesterday and again today scrimmaged with the substitutes against the scrubs, wearing a heavy harness for his neck. The doctors say he can play but admit that it will be a matter of good luck if he is able to go along for any great distance. Unless he gets a severe blow on the head or shoulders he will be regarded as reliable.

The 'Varsity today again spent all its time getting plays in smooth running order and having the usual long defensive drill. Today also the kickers, Owen, Fitts, Churchill and Stillman, worked with the rush lines. Owen's work continues to improve, and now that Fitts is ready again, Harvard has two first-class punters. Fitts, so Coach Fisher said tonight, will doubtless be used in the Princeton game, although not to start. His leg has been protected by special guards and just now the slight lameness in his kicking leg is more bothersome than the injury which has kept him on the sidelines for the greater part of the season.

The substitutes were not handled as easily as the 'Varsity players were today. They scrimmaged for twenty minutes against the scrubs. The second team was unable to make gains with the Tiger attack, while the 'Varsity team scored two touchdowns, both being made by Rouillard. One was the result of Rouillard's drive through the middle of the scrub line for thirty yards and the other was on the completion of a forward pass from Buell.

Captain Horween worked with the first string backfield again and also got into the middle of the substitute line to play centre. Kuhnhardt was the first man, but Horween is now doubtless the man who will be sent in to snap the ball and pass for kicks in event of an injury to Havemeyer. If at any time in the Princeton game Horween should have to go in to play centre Hamilton would probably be the first man sent into the backfield.

Lothrop Withington, Harvard's 1910 captain, was out working with the line again today.

SCRIMMAGE FOR COLUMBIA.

'Varsity Meets Freshmen in Long Drill—Calciums Light Field.

With the Swarthmore game looming up on the horizon, the Columbia football team toiled away long after dark on South Field yesterday. The earlier hours of daylight were utilized for a brisk scrimmage with the freshman eleven, and after darkness had come the 'Varsity was sent through a signal drill. Much of the workout took place in the glare of searchlights strategically situated on the corner of nearby dormitories and recitation halls. The lights on Hamilton Hall and the Journalism building illuminated the north side of the field, and it was here that most of the signal exercise was staged.

O'Neill was still any some of his first string players in the scrimmage. The notable absentees were Canapary, Modarelli and Scovil. Canapary was bumped somewhat in the Williams game and will take it easy until the Swarthmore tussle on Saturday. Scovil's leg is slightly stiff and Modarelli has a stiff shoulder. Both, however, are expected to be fit to face Swarthmore. With the pair of tackles out of action, Calloway was moved over from guard, and his running mate was Lovell, a second string man. The team lined up in the scrimmage as follows: Forsythe and Pulleyn, ends; Calloway and Lovell, tackles; Herman and Walder, guards; Brodil, centre; Harris, quarterback; Applebaum and Thornton, halfbacks, and Moscicenski, fullback.

The 'Varsity concentrated its efforts chiefly on the forward pass in the scrimmage. The freshmen put up a stiff fight in the early stages of the battle, but finally gave way before the steady attack. Steele was substituted in the backfield later and distinguished himself by getting away for two long runs for touchdowns. All the forward pass [illegible] were worked over with painstaking care and yielded satisfactory results. It is not likely that the aerial attack will be used to any extent against Swarthmore, and O'Neill will have ten days before the Cornell game in which to smooth out the rough spots.

Another capacity crowd is forecast for Saturday's game, in which there is an unusually great amount of interest. It will be Swarthmore's first visit to South Field in several years. On their last trip here the little Quakers inflicted a severe drubbing on the Morningside eleven, and the Blue and White is out for revenge. Despite the Pennsylvania eleven's mediocre record this year, there is no disposition to take it lightly, and O'Neill is especially on the lookout for the same over-confidence that resulted in the unexpected defeat at the hands of Wesleyan ten days ago. If the Quakers should not prove formidable, however, it is probable that the regulars will be withdrawn wherever possible and rested for the hard test against Cornell on the following Saturday.

Plans were practically completed yesterday for a delegation to accompany the Blue and White eleven to Ithaca on Nov. 6. The original goal of 100 set by the student committee has been reached and inquiries are still coming in from graduates. The next sale for the Penn contest at the Polo Grounds on Nov. 20 is well under way and a flood of applications has come into the athletic offices. Reservations are being accepted through the mails and large blocks are being taken by fraternities and other organizations among the undergraduates. The capacity of the Harlem baseball park will be in the neighborhood of 40,000.

It was announced yesterday that the game on Saturday will begin at 2 o'clock, instead of 2:30, because of the loss of one hour through the end of daylight saving.

W. AND J. AT FULL STRENGTH

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 3.—Washington and Jefferson will be ready for Syracuse Saturday afternoon. Every man on the squad has come through two days of gruelling scrimmage in tiptop shape and will enter the fray eager for a second victory over the Orange.

Although the team is admittedly being pointed for Pitt on Nov. 13, its supporters will only be satisfied with a clean sweep in the remainder of the schedule. In the scrimmage session on Tuesday afternoon the scrubs waded through the 'Varsity for four touchdowns on Syracuse plays, in which they had been instructed by the scouts. Today they were not so successful, despite the urging of the whole coaching staff, for the 'Varsity men, after Tuesday's experience and a blackboard session in the evening, were on their toes for Anderson and Foster and Cowell as the scrub backs were dubbed.

Coach Morrow is confident of the ability of his defense, but realizes that it takes touchdowns to win football games. Backfield Coaches Thomas and Miller have been working overtime to develop an irresistible attack which will utilize to its fullest extent the combined weight and speed of the Red and Black backfield. McLaughlin at quarter with Brekert chiefly in fullback in place of Smith, will be the only change in the backfield over last year's lineup at Syracuse.

Race of Fishermen May Be Made Annual Event

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—It is regarded as almost a certainty in marine circles here that next year will see another international match between the fishermen of Gloucester and the Canadian fishermen. The recent races between the Esperanto and the Delawana off Halifax for a fisheries cup, which the Gloucestermen won, was a hastily arranged affair that many Americans as well as Canadians, felt to be far from conclusive. The seiners of both nations would like to see the contest for honors fought out under the stress of more severe weather than prevailed last week. It is further gossip along the Boston waterfront and about the wharves of Halifax and Gloucester, that the international fishermen's competition is to become an annual event.

SECRET DRILL FOR PRINCETON 'VARSITY

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 3.—Princeton's 'Varsity was held to a scoreless tie by Nat Poe's omelettes today in the last hard workout before the Harvard game. Roper characterized the scrimmage as poor, but said after the men had left for the dressing rooms that the 'Varsity had improved somewhat during the week.

Today's practice, which was held in the Palmer Stadium, was closed to the public and the undergraduates. Only a few old Tiger football stars who got special permission from Roper to attend were permitted to see the regulars in their final tryout in the big concrete arena.

The Tiger coach unlimbered his heavy artillery early in the afternoon and lined up the regulars and the scrubs after a short warming up period. All of the 'Varsity players who are likely to get in the game on Saturday were tried out and none of the men remained long in the fray. Roper started Captain Mike Callahan at centre and McManmon and Dickinson drew the initial guard positions. Keck and Hooper were as usual the tackles and Roper's new set of ends, Stinson and Legendre, ousted the veterans, Davis and Raymond. Legendre is certain to start at one end and from all indications of the week Ed Stinson, who started the season in the scrub backfield, will be the Southerner's running mate.

Joe Scheerer was on the field today and was first choice at fullback, where he demonstrated to the scrubs' discomfiture that his toe is as good as ever. Murrey started at quarter and Don Lourie did not get into the scrimmage. Garrity and Gilroy are the halfbacks.

A long signal drill followed the scrimmage, and darkness had fallen before the coaches dismissed the squad. Practice will be held tomorrow but will consist of a light workout only, and the team and coaches will leave for Cambridge after supper.

A huge mass meeting was held in Alexander Hall tonight. All of Princeton's 2,000 undergraduates attended. Among the speakers were Rodman Wanamaker '86, Bill Roper '02, Keene Fitzpatrick and Hack McGraw, captain of the 1919 team. Captain Mike Callahan drew a big cheer from the packed hall when he told the undergraduates that his team is going up to Harvard to win.

President Hibben presented the Poe Memorial Cup for 1919 to Maury Trimble of last year's team, who is now helping the backfield coaches at Princeton. The cup is given annually for the best man on the squad, from the viewpoint of football and character, and Trimble is its first recipient. The cup is in memory of John Prentiss Poe, Jr., who was killed in Flanders as a member of the famous Black Watch.

HAINES DOES GOOD WORK.

Goes Through Penn State Scrubs for Lengthy Gains.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 3.—Hinkle Haines, hero of the victory over Penn last Saturday, featured the Penn State practice this afternoon when he ran through the scrub defense time and again for lengthy gains. His dashes off tackle and around end were irresistible and he gained whenever he was given the ball. Haines and Snell were the only regulars in the 'Varsity backfield today, for Killinger and Way are both nursing their injuries. Buck Williams was at quarterback again and his work is steadily improving.

Coach Bezdek is counting on Haines to do the bulk of the gaining against Nebraska on Saturday, for it is hardly probable that either Way or Killinger will get into action. Haines's work in the Penn game stamps him as one of the greatest halfbacks of the year and, together with Charlie Way, gives Bezdek a pair of all-American backs. Both men are streaks in a broken field and each has a wonderful change of pace. Because of his thirty pounds of so more weight, Haines is better able to stand the knocks of the game, but Way is the type of player who is apt to break up a game at any minute. Trainer Bill Martin hopes to have the diminutive marvel back in shape in time for the Lehigh game and with Way and Haines both in the game, the State backfield is one to be feared.

WILLIAMS LINE UNCERTAIN.

Coach Brooks Still Experimenting with Guard Candidates.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Nov. 3.—Although the outcome of the Columbia game was something of a disappointment to followers of the Williams eleven, new determination has been shown by the Purple in practice this week preparing for Hamilton, which plays here Saturday, after which the only contests which remain on the slate are the battles with Wesleyan and Amherst. If there was any sign of overconfidence in the Williams camp early in the year, the defeats suffered at the hands of Harvard and Columbia have tended to remove it and all hands admit that Coach Brooks's charges will have their hands full disposing of Wesleyan and Amherst.

The guard positions, which have caused trouble on the Williams eleven all season, continue to be the source of experimenting by Coach Brooks. In Saturday's game, he took Smith from center and put him at one of these berths. Whether this combination proves a permanent one remains to be seen. Thus far Laws, Humes and Shuttleworth have all had a chance, but none seem to fill the bill.

WET FIELD CURBS PRACTICE.

Special to The New York Times.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 3.—When the West Virginia University football team held its last hard workout today before the game with Washington and Lee at Charleston the swampy condition of the field did not prevent the players showing more pep than they had for weeks. For more than an hour Coach McIntire ran his men up and down the field.

No scrimmage was held because of the muddy field, so the Mountaineers will enter Saturday's game without having faced real opposition since the game with Princeton. Joe Harrick, Sam Emsweiler and Russ Meredith, all regulars, who are suffering from injuries, were not in uniform today and only one, Harrick, made his appearance at the field. Johnson's kicking of field goals was the feature of the practice.

FRESHMEN BEATEN BY YALE'S 'VARSITY

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 3.—Yale's 'Varsity football eleven this afternoon engaged in a strenuous practice game with the freshmen, who have been ably coached this Fall by Chester Laroche, the former Eli quarterback, and who have defeated Hotchkiss, Andover, Exeter and the Princeton freshmen in quick succession.

After forty minutes of scrimmaging the 'Varsity succeeded in defeating the cubs by a 21 to 9 score. In doing this the 'Varsity was ably assisted by Referee Sidcos, who gave the big team the advantage of declaring a free fumble at the goal line, and who had the 'Varsity kick goals after touchdowns, while the freshmen didn't try for one after their touchdown. The freshmen scored on the second play after the kickoff, when Lincoln, the freshman left end, took a beautiful long forward pass from Charlie O'Hearn, the quarterback, and romped 50 yards for a touchdown.

The ball was then put in play in the centre of the field and, using straight rushing, the 'Varsity made three touchdowns. Jordan took the ball over each time. On the second offensive there was a free fumble by Jordan at the goal line recovered by Campbell, and in the four tries which followed it the 'Varsity finally took the ball over from the 20-yard line. Herr kicked the goal after each of the three touchdowns. The freshmen made another score when Ode kicked a drop kick from the 35-yard line.

By rushing and two forward passes they later got the ball within the 'Varsity's 5-yard line, but were held for downs. The Freshmen played without Neidlinger. Late in the scrimmage Thorne Murphy replaced Kempton at quarterback, and after the practice game was really over he kicked several field goals from behind the scrimmage line, kicking from the 30 and 35 yard lines. The 'Varsity lined up as follows: Cutler and Dilworth, ends; Walker and McKay, tackles; Herr and Quaille, guards; Galvin, centre; Kempton, quarterback; Campbell and Kelley, halfbacks; Jordan, fullback.

NO DISSENSION AT N. Y. U.

Authorities Discredit Reports of Bad Feeling—Weinheimer Back.

New York University's football team had only a light workout yesterday afternoon on Ohio Field, as Coach Gargan wanted the men to rest after their struggle on Tuesday against Trinity. He will give them a stiff drill today to get them in shape for the Union game on Saturday.

The showing of the Violet against Trinity was not as good as Gargan expected and he will push his charges as hard as possible from now until the Stevens game. He was much pleased, however, with the showing of some of his second string backs and may shift one or two of them into the 'Varsity lineup.

All reports of dissension in the N. Y. U. ranks were discredited by authorities at the University Heights institution. That such reports are false was also proved by the fine spirit exhibited by the team in Tuesday's contest. There is the best of feeling among the men, it was said, and there has been no friction with the management. Gargan is getting the best of co-operation from the college authorities and is not in the least discouraged by his team's showing.

He devoted yesterday to signal drill and the rehearsal of formations. He also gave the men a talk in the gym after the session, pointing out the faults displayed by each individual player as well as in the team play.

Captain Weinheimer was in uniform and took a light workout. The injured ankle that kept him on the bench on Election Day is healing nicely and he will be in shape for the Union game. This practically does away with a hospital list at the uptown school. Ryan, Adams, and Levin were all in the Trinity game for part of the time so Gargan will be able to start his regular team on Saturday.

RUTGERS SQUAD RESTS.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 3.—The Rutgers football squad was given a chance to rest up today after the hard games with Cornell and Nebraska and there was no active practice on the field, though Sanford got his men together and went over with them the New York game in detail. Though disappointed at the score, he felt that Rutgers made a good showing in view of its crippled condition.

Redmond, Kleb and Winner are all in bad shape, while Gardner has not yet recovered from the injury to his knee. Duffy is not expected back in practice for another week. Hilliard and Schaeffer, who were used against Nebraska, appeared then for the first time in a Varsity game.

Rutgers will rest this Saturday and a week later will attack the West Virginia Mountaineers. The team will conclude the season on Thanksgiving Day by invading the West to play Detroit University.

STEVENS DRIVEN HARD.

The Stevens Tech football machine lumbered out on the field from the gymnasium at 2:30 o'clock yesterday and started in on the longest drill of the season. The last man did not get to the showers until 6 o'clock. With the change of the clock and the extra hour of darkness the team has been forced to use a whitewashed ball.

With Delaware but two more practices off and the team depleted somewhat on account of injuries, Coach Durborow forced his men to the limit, taking advantage of the cool spell.

A mass meeting was held yesterday afternoon, at which time the songs and yells were practiced under Cheer Leader Kelsey. Manager Barker is making negotiations for a game on Nov. 13, the only open date on the schedule, and expects to announce the opponent as soon as completed.

Durborow drew on a new man yesterday for centre. He sent Eppler in at that position, to alternate with Ferrari. Brune and Benjamin alternated at quarter back.

LEHIGH LINE IMPROVES.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 3.—The cold snap today injected a lot of pep into the workout of the Lehigh 'Varsity and the coaches took advantage of the change in the weather and put the players through a long scrimmage as a closing to the day's work.

The 'Varsity line showed a decided improvement over its display against Carnegie Tech last Saturday and seems to have found itself. The 'Varsity line with Larkin, Gulick, Maginnes, McCarthy, Good, Cusick and Goldman remained intact throughout the scrimmage.

It was plainly evident, however, that Coach Keady is not satisfied with his backfield. He made frequent changes in an effort to strengthen the offensive. Harry Rote and Linzie each had a try at quarterback, while at times Captain Herrington called the signals from his halfback position. Douglas, Savaria, Harper and Hanselman were all pressed into service.

Sale of Silk Neckwear

$1, $1.50 and $2 were the original prices of these scarfs.

THE old adage about it being "an ill wind that blows no one any good" is reaffirmed—you may now have at 65c the very scarfs for which you would have paid $1 to $2 if the silk market hadn't collapsed. The sale price is less than the cost of the silk and is possible only because of the large losses taken by our manufacturers to meet the condition. So, with extreme value thus conclusively shown, we direct attention to these additional features of interest: Shapes are our own Metropolitan ideas, all made by our regular sources of supply to our own specifications, vast assortments of stripes, figures and plain colors. The record of neckwear achievement with which these stores are credited will be given further prestige by this event.

$3.50 to $5 Silk Knitted Scarfs, heather mixtures, stripes, plain colors, are now on sale at $2.65.

To Give the Hair a Naturally Wavy Effect

Ever since the virtues of the silmerine hair-curling method first became known in this country, many druggists here have been having a great demand for liquid silmerine. Its effectiveness, its convenience and its entire harmlessness doubtless have been responsible for its increasing use among well-groomed women.

One need only apply a little of the liquid with a clean tooth brush before doing up the hair in curlers, and the tresses will have a beautiful wavy and glossy appearance which bears no marks of artificiality. The best way is to divide the hair into strands and moisten each of them from root to tip. There is no discoloration, no sticky, streaky or other unpleasant feature. Liquid silmerine is fine also as an aid in shaping "wax snuffs" and in keeping them in place over the ears.

MURDERED IN HOTEL BY YOUTH WITH CANE

CRIMINAL ELUDES PURSUIT

Victim's $2,000 Ring Not Taken by Slayer Who Went to Room with Him at 6 A. M.

Leeds Vaughan Waters, 40 years old, a cousin of Horace Waters, piano manufacturer and member of a wealthy Rhode Island family, was murdered in a room at the Hotel Plymouth, 257 West Thirty-eighth Street, at 7 o'clock yesterday morning by a young man with whom he had registered an hour before. The murderer, carrying Waters's gold-topped cane, ran out of the hotel and disappeared before the night clerk discovered that the struggle he had heard in room 805 had resulted in the death of one of the men. No motive for the crime was revealed.

Detectives of the Homicide Squad and of the West Thirty-seventh street station had an accurate description of the tall youth who struck Waters down, probably with the cane. The detectives have the fugitive's fingerprints, several articles, including a suit of underwear he had left behind, and said they looked for an arrest.

Waters, a globe-trotter, it was learned, came to this country from England in August and took up residence at the Hotel Gramatan, Bronxville. His mother, Mrs. Fannie L. Waters, with whom he had lived in England for son years, arrived in this country a week later and joined her son. She is a stockholder in the Waters Piano Company and is well off. Her son, it was said, had never had an occupation.

At 6 o'clock yesterday morning Waters, accompanied by a younger man, walked up to John Carney, night clerk at the Plymouth, and asked for a room. He paid for it in advance and left a call for 7:45 o'clock. Waters was well dressed. He wore a soft hat, a light gray overcoat, a blue suit and patent leather shoes, and carried a gold-topped cane. The man with him was of a lower station in life than Waters, the night clerk judged. The spokesman for the two registered as "J. Talbot, Milwaukee," and his companion as James Dunn of the same city.

Struggle Heard in Room.

At 6:55 an elevator boy told Carney that a violent struggle was going on in the room he had assigned the newcomers. The night clerk told the new guests to stop the noise. A few minutes later the struggle was resumed, Carney reported, and when he returned to admonish the men he found the room door ajar. As he approached the man who had registered as "Dunn" darted out of the room and ran down the backstairs of the hotel. Carney followed, but "Dunn" was in the street and running rapidly toward Seventh Avenue by the time pursuit was organized. He disappeared around the corner.

Waters's body was found lying partly on the bed, the head resting on the floor. His skull had been fractured and the marks of a beating were upon his shoulders and chest. He had been instantly killed, apparently, by a blow upon the left temple with a blunt instrument. The room was disordered.

Returning from the chase, Carney summoned several policemen, and a description of James Dunn soon was obtained. The identification of Waters was made through letters and papers in his pocket. The body was positively identified by a cousin of the dead man, E. A. Vaughan of Crestwood, Westchester County, and George J. Weed of 25 Fourth Avenue.

Weed said that Waters had spent the greater part of election night in the Alpha Delta Phi Club, in West Forty-fourth Street. Waters left the club in a taxi about 1 o'clock, Weed said. He had not told his plans to any one in the club as far as Weed knew.

In the opinion of the police robbery was not the motive for the crime. Although Waters had only 70 cents in change in his pockets after he had paid for the room, he wore much valuable jewelry, including a gold wrist watch, a gold cigarette case, diamond studded links, a silver match safe, a gold pencil and a wallet decorated with rhinestones and trimmed with gold, and a diamond ring valued at $2,000. None of this was taken by the murderer.

The police also found a pawn ticket showing that he had pawned a diamond pin for $300 on Oct. 27. A bank book showed that Waters had deposited $300 in the Fifth Avenue Bank two days later. Captain of Detectives Patrick J. Randall said he was led to assume that Waters was in need of funds and had carried little money with him on Tuesday night.

"Dunn" was said to be about 25 years old. He is six feet tall and weighs 150 pounds. He was roughly attired and wore a cap pulled down over his eyes.

A friend of the dead man who asked that his name be withheld said last night that it was his opinion that Waters, who took a drink occasionally, had fallen a victim to bad whisky and a chance companion whose motive was robbery.

"He went out to spend election night, and may have taken a drink or two," this man said. "I knew him to be a cultured gentleman at all times. He was a member of a very wealthy family of Providence, R. I., where he was born. He was graduated from Columbia. I met Mrs. Waters in London recently and she told me that she and her son planned to spend the Winter at the Madeira Islands and would like to know of a quiet place to spend a few weeks in America before her departure. I recommended a hotel in Bronxville. I don't see any other motive but robbery. Leeds always carried considerable money and wore valuable jewelry. The murderer probably attempted to take what he could but did not get away with it."

The Waters family home is at East Greenwich, R. I., near Providence. Mrs. Waters and her son Leeds have been constantly traveling. The police learned that Waters was active in English society, and was a member of the Devonshire Club of London. He also was a member of the Beach Club of Palm Beach and several similar clubs in this country. He was an expert bridge player.

Horace Waters said yesterday that he had not met his cousin since the latter was a small boy and knew very little about him.

Herman Winter Sails Today.

Herman Winter, who was recently appointed general manager of the International Mercantile Marine Company's offices at Hamburg, will sail today on the liner Mongolia. He is one of the best-known steamship passenger traffic experts in this city, having had thirty years' experience in the Atlantic trade, including five years with the Cunard Steamship Company. Mr. Winter will relieve J. J. McGlone, who went to Hamburg last December to open the offices.

CHESS PRODIGY OF 8 ARRIVES FROM POLAND

Samuel Rzeszewski Easily Defeats 10 Best Players on Olympic —To Tour Chief Cities.

One of the most interesting passengers who arrived yesterday from England on the White Star liner Olympic was Samuel Rzeszewski, the eight-year-old Polish chess prodigy, who has amazed the devotees of the game in Europe by the ease with which he defeated first class players in simultaneous play in London, Paris, The Hague, Warsaw, Berlin, Brussels and other cities.

At the Paris Chess Club the youthful Rzeszewski played against twenty-one opponents, moving rapidly from table to table, and in one case, it was said, kept his eyes averted from the player throughout the game.

He gave an exhibition of his skill on board the Olympic on Tuesday evening when he easily defeated ten chess players selected from the 1,300 cabin passengers.

The new prodigy from Poland, who seemed preoccupied when he reached the pier, speaks a few words of English and can say "check" and "checkmate" very clearly.

He was born in Lodz, Poland, the son of a well to do linen merchant, who gave him his first lesson in chess when Samuel was 6 years old. Two days later he beat his father in the second game so decisively that the latter invited the best players in the city to play with his son. Finally the youthful player went to Warsaw, then under German rule, and conquered every opponent brought to play against him.

He was accompanied by his father and his physician and was met at the pier by his American manager, Max Rosenthal, who has arranged a tour for him to the principal cities in the United States to meet all comers. His rapid moves in simultaneous playing have already been shown in the "movies" in America.

P. P. C. Printing Facts

No printed job is better than the cuts which go into it. If the engravings do not come out right the first time, it probably will be cheaper in the end to throw them away and to start fresh. Very, very seldom can plates be fixed up so as to print well. When the engraver has to re-prove, he is usually solicitous that his new proofs will pass muster. Do not deceive yourself in believing that any printer can equal the engraver's Art Proofs.

The best results are generally secured by having the printer make the cuts. Then he assumes responsibility for their printing qualities.

INSPECTOR GENERAL QUITS

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, Nov. 3.—Another series of outrages is reported today from various parts of Ireland. At Clough-Jordan, in the northern district of Tipperary, a police constable was shot dead last night.

In the neighboring town of Nenagh a constable was fired at and seriously wounded. After the latter occurrence a number of shots were discharged in the town and several business establishments were set on fire and gutted.

From Killybegs, County Donegal, it is reported that armed men, alleged to be wearing uniforms of the Crown forces, fired shots indiscriminately there on Sunday night. A man was proceeding along the street with a friend when he was shot through the body and mortally wounded. Another young man was dragged from his house and taken some distance out of town, where he was questioned about an ambush and threatened that if he did not before noon next day disclose the names of the ambushing party he would be shot. The house of another man was smashed and an attack was then made on the premises of John Ward & Co., which was set on fire.

Further reports which reached here today state that a constable of Granard, while on leave, was shot dead on Monday.

A police constable who left the Druff Barracks last night was found dead in a drain today.

In consequence of outrages committed in Tralee on Sunday night by Sinn Feiners, and reprisals which followed, the military have taken over control of the town, with the result that quiet again prevails and business had partially resumed this morning.

Between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning at Athlone, the printing works, which employed 300 work people, were completely destroyed by fire. It is alleged that incendiaries went to the place in a motor car, using bombs, petrol and tar in the work of destruction. The Westmeath Independent was printed there and the damage is estimated at £100,000.

Inspector General Resigns.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Sir Thomas James Smith, Inspector General of the Irish Constabulary, has resigned, says a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Dublin.

His resignation is attributed to "disapproval of undisciplined action and destruction of property by armed forces of the Crown, which are now virtually all controlled by the military."

Sir Thomas, who was only recently knighted, was Commissioner of Police in Belfast. He was transferred to Dublin when General Byrne was removed from the Inspector Generalship of the Constabulary.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, in explaining to the House of Commons today why the body of the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork had been diverted from Dublin and sent direct to Cork, said the Government, late on the day of the departure of the body from London, had decided to obviate the chance of a demonstration in Dublin. This decision was reached, he declared, owing to reports from Dublin that a funeral there would be likely to result in the loss of innocent lives.

Questioned regarding a story from a staff correspondent in Ireland of The Daily News to the effect that the correspondent's life was in danger from "Black and Tans" because he wrote the "truth," Sir Hamar told the Commons that the Government had not been informed that the correspondent had been threatened. He said he had instructed the District Inspector at Tralee, where the threat was alleged to have been made, to give all newspaper correspondents protection and every facility to move about.

MASS FOR MACSWINEY.

Archbishop Hayes Presides at Service in St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes presided yesterday in St. Patrick's Cathedral at a solemn requiem mass for the repose of the soul of Terence MacSwiney, late Lord Mayor of Cork. Eamonn de Valera, "President of the Irish Republic," sat in a front pew. After the mass he had a short talk with the Archbishop.

The Cathedral was a little more than half filled. Mgr. Joseph F. Mooney, Vicar General of the archdiocese, preached the sermon. The text was "For I know that my Redeemer liveth and that He will not allow His holy ones to see corruption." Mgr. Mooney said that from the solemn moment when the feet of St. Patrick first touched the shores of "the isle of destiny" it has had a providential rôle and singular mission among the nations of the earth.

A requiem mass was offered for Mayor MacSwiney yesterday in the Church of St. Paul the Apostle, Columbus Avenue and Sixtieth Street. The celebrant of the mass was the Rev. Thomas F. Burke, superior of the Paulist Fathers, and the preacher was the Rev. James F. Cronin. After the mass the Rev. William J. Finn, the organist, played "The Wearing of the Green." An American flag and the flag of "the Irish Republic" were wrapped about the pulpit.

Syndicalists in Spain Order a General Strike

SALAMANCA, Spain, Nov. 3.—A general strike has been ordered by the Syndicalists as a result of the employers refusing to give increased wages. The newspapers will cease publication tonight. The authorities have taken extensive precautions against disturbances.

SARAGOSSA, Spain, Nov. 3.—The employers today declared the general lockout against the workmen to be at an end. The Governor, on the discovery of an alleged terrorist plot, has ordered the arrest of the Presidents of all the workers' syndicates.

DASH FOR MOSCOW, BALAKOVITCH'S PLAN

IS MODERN ROBIN HOOD

Had Yudenitch Seized in Reval for Ransom, but Was Thwarted by British and Americans.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—General Balakhovitch is reported to be striking direct at Smolensk and Moscow. The news reaches Paris the same day as the announcement of the disaster to General Wrangel, which it is now impossible to conceal from the French public.

Balakhovitch was last heard of two weeks ago as having captured the important junction of Gomel, 200 kilometers due north of Kiev and fully 300 deep in Bolshevist territory. At that time he had the alternative of pushing boldly southeast to join Wrangel or southward against the rear of the Red forces opposing the Ukrainian Nationalist army under Pavlenko.

Now Wrangel will be lucky if he can prevent the greater part of his army being cut off by the Reds at Perekop, where they are attacking that all important isthmus with heavy forces from Kherson. Pavlenko and the Ukrainians made a truce with the Reds a few days ago so that there is no hope for Kalakhovitch in that direction either.

By race this general is a White Russian or Ruthenian, and as long as he operates in the White Russian area around Minsk, Bobruisk and Mohilev he is certain of sympathy and support from the population. The White Russians are not ethnically Slavs but an Aryan people akin to the Letts and Lithuanians, and throughout the past year their leaders have been trying to form an independent State under allied auspices similar to the States of the Baltic.

Meanwhile Balakhovitch was careering about the country behind the Bolshevist lines around Pskoff with a few hundred devoted adherents in the style of a modern Robin Hood with his hand against every one save the poor and needy. Early this year he sent a handful of stalwarts to a hotel in Reval where General Yudenitch was staying, dragged him out of bed at 3 o'clock in the morning and hurried him away in Villa's best manner with the announcement that the sooner he produced $5,000,000 from the money lying to his credit in a Stockholm bank the better it would be for him. Unfortunately British and Americans heard the news immediately and before breakfast were protesting at the Esthonian War Office with the result that Yudenitch was rescued before his captors were able to cross the Esthonian frontier.

After Esthonia and Latvia made peace with the Bolshevist Balakhovitch, who told the NEW YORK TIMES correspondent last January that he would never lay aside the sword till Russia was freed from Red tyranny, moved down to the Polish front and continued guerilla warfare against the Red communications.

When the Bolsheviki were at the gates of Warsaw he withdrew into the forests of White Russia and thanks to information from friendly inhabitants managed to escape capture. When the tide turned he effected a union with the Poles in the region of Minsk and got his army refitted and equipped with munitions. His forces swelled to around 20,000 to 25,000 men and when the Poles signed the armistice with the Reds he was reported to have taken over Minsk and to be intending to set up a White Russian Government.

Whether he seriously proposes a drive at Moscow is open to question, but if he can capture the important junction of Smolensk he might raise enough recruits from the peasantry to make a dash at the Kremlin feasible. The mass of the Red forces have been concentrated against Wrangel, and a sudden, swift stroke at the head of the Red hydra might be very difficult to parry. It looks like madness, but in Russia anything is possible.

WRANGEL USES SHIPS IN ARMY'S RETREAT

General Admits Loss of Perekop, but Says He Will Fight to the End.

SEBASTOPOL, Nov. 2.—General Wrangel's cavalry still is engaged in an attempt to stem the tide of the Bolshevist offensive in Southern Russia. Red airplanes are bombing the narrow railway trestle running from Perekop into the Crimea.

Taurida is overrun with Red armies. The Second, Sixth and Thirteenth Armies are in the line, in addition to four divisions of cavalry and other corps of the host of the Red troops.

If General Wrangel is able to hold off the Bolsheviki at the Perekop isthmus, he has food enough to last him throughout the Winter.

Some of the Wrangel troops are being removed by transports on the Sea of Azov from Taurida Province into the Crimea.

General Wrangel admits the loss of Perekop, at the entrance to the narrow neck of land giving access to the main Crimean peninsula, but declares he will fight to the end.

EXPECT THE LEAGUE TO INVITE MEXICO

SUMMERLIN RESUMING POST

Federal Garrison Revolts in Vera Cruz State—Foresee Election Troubles There.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—George T. Summerlin, who was recently summoned from the American Embassy at Mexico City, where he has been Chargé d'Affaires since the recall and, later, resignation of Ambassador Fletcher, will return to Mexico City next Friday night.

Mr. Summerlin's departure is believed to reflect the confidence of the State Department in the early resumption of diplomatic relations with the Mexican Government.

Certain foreign Governments have let their gratification at this Government's recent pronouncement on Mexico be known to the State Department, it was learned today. Only differences which Mexico's representatives assert are easily adjustable are holding the two countries apart. It also appears to be recognized that the adjustments fall to Mexico's part, and processes are understood to be in operation in Mexico City to clear the way quickly for American recognition.

It is considered certain that if there is enough expedition in Mexico an invitation will be extended to Mexico to join the League of Nations and to have representatives at the Geneva meeting of the Assembly of the League.

The text of the agreement between the Mexican and British Governments, signed by Dr. Cuthberto Hidalgo, of the Mexican Foreign Office, and H. A. Cunard Cummins, in charge of the British Legation at Mexico City, settling the famous Benton murder case, reached Washington today. It is as follows:

"1. The Government of Mexico, while maintaining the principle that the nation is not and cannot be held responsible for acts of revolutionists or riotous mobs, save in such excepted cases as prescribed in international law, among which the Government of Mexico does not consider the case of the British subject, William S. Benton, to be included, nevertheless, the said Government is disposed voluntarily and graciously to indemnify the widow of the said Benton as hereinafter provided, and on the understanding that this action does not establish a precedent.

"2. The Government of Mexico hereby delivers to Mr. H. A. Cunard Cummins, in charge of the British Legation, the sum of 20,000 pesos, Mexican currency, by way of indemnification in favor of the widow of the British subject, William S. Benton.

"3. The Mexican Government further binds itself to deliver to the widow of the said British subject, William S. Benton, a life pension of five pesos, Mexican currency, per day, as long as she maintains her present status of widowhood.

"4. By virtue of the delivery of the sum of 20,000 pesos, and of the obligation hereby contracted to pay the life pension as provided in the foregoing article, Mr. H. A. Cunard Cummins hereby declares the claim of his Government formulated against the Government of Mexico growing out of the death of the British subject, William S. Benton, to be satisfied, and this incident between the two Governments closed.

"5. For purposes of record, the receipt extended by the British Legation to the widow of the British subject, William S. Benton, for the sum of 20,000 pesos, Mexican currency, to which Article 2 of this agreement refers, is attached to this agreement and made a part of it."

Benton's widow is a Mexican and his properties in the State of Chihuahua were unmolested by order of Francisco Villa after Benton's murder.

Troops Revolt in Vera Cruz State.

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 3.—Military forces forming the garrison of the town of Coatepec, near Jalapa, the capital of the State of Vera Cruz, have revolted, as a result of announced plans by the Federal War Department to dispose the troops in opposition to the wishes of their commanders, Generals Ricardo Morales and Alejandro Kurzain. The rebels have taken possession of nearly 100,000 pesos in the hands of the garrison paymaster and about 50,000 pesos which was being sent to the business men of Coatepec.

Three columns of Government troops located in this city have been ordered to Coatepec to subdue the rebels. It is expected that the revolt will have an influence in the dispute which arose some time ago over the Governorship of the State. Elections will be held in the near future, and it is believed that two Legislatures will be chosen, each of which will probably nominate a different Governor.

MONEY SMUGGLERS CAUGHT IN AUSTRIA

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Nov. 2.—Viennese detectives put a stop yesterday to the work of a gang of so-called Valuta smugglers who recently smuggled no less than 30,000,000 kronen across the frontiers. Valuta smuggling consists of taking currency across the frontiers to use it speculatively in foreign countries, this being in flagrant contravention of the law.

The gang in question already was seated in a train yesterday which was to leave Vienna for Triest when detectives noticed a trunk being removed from one compartment to the dining car. No trace of the trunk was found in the dining car and the attendant denied all knowledge of it. The detectives threatened to have the dining car uncoupled and detained, whereupon the attendant produced the trunk, which was found to contain kronen notes amounting to about $900,000 in nominal value. A further search produced still another trunk and a rucksack, these being both filled with kronen and Keremsky ruble notes.

Inquiries made on the spot elicited the fact that the attendant was the accomplice of the gang and these as well as the attendant were duly arrested. They immediately offered half a million kronen if the detectives would allow them to continue their journey with the smuggled money. The offer rose to 1,000,000, and then finding a greater gesture was needed the chief of the gang said the detectives could keep all if only they would release the prisoners.

The detectives not only persevered in the arrest, but insisted upon searching the business premises of the gang. Their books show they had been engaged in this smuggling business for three months, using the dining car as a cover when the compartments were searched at the various frontiers. During this short period the profits show the respectable total of well over $3,000,000.

Prohibition Makes Headway in Scotland, 'Wets' Generally Win in Local Option Vote

GLASGOW, Nov. 3.—Incomplete returns of the voting on the liquor question in Scotland yesterday show that thirty-six towns desire no change in the present law which permits the sale of liquor. One town voted in favor of a reduction in licenses while ten towns voted dry.

Official results in Glasgow show a victory for the "wets." Four wards voted "dry," nine for limited licenses and twenty-four for no change, which means that ninety-four licenses will be canceled throughout the city out of a total of 1,000. In Dennistoun prohibition was defeated by four votes. Virtually all the working-class areas remain "wet" and also the central city districts. Aberdeen voted "wet" by two to one. Other towns voting "no change" were Hawick, Dalkeith, Auchtermuchty, Falkland, Arbroath, Montrose, Tayport, Kerriemuir, St. Andrews, Alloa, Garvan and Stonehaven.

LONDON, Nov. 3 (Canadian Press).—Returns up to midnight showed three areas in Scotland in which voting took place yesterday on local option as having polled dry—Sanquhar, a rural constituency, and Kilsyth and Kirkintilloch, mining centres.

Fourteen other sections voted for no change from the present license status. They included Grangemouth, Bridge of Allan, Dunoon, Lanark, Helensburgh, Barr Head, Bonnybrigg, Loanhead and Stirling.

GERMAN BANKS IN A BIG MERGER

Deutsche Bank Increases Its Capital and Will Take Over Other Institutions.

WAS GREAT PRE-WAR POWER

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—By an increase of its capital announced today from 275,000,000 marks to 400,000,000 the Deutsche Bank again becomes the bank with the biggest capital in Germany.

Sixty-eight and three-quarter millions will be offered to present shareholders at a premium of 120 per cent., so that the bank will obtain for that portion 151,250,000 marks. The remainder additional capital will mainly consist of shares given in exchange for those of three other banking concerns, the Hanoverian Bank, a Brunswick private bank, and a private bank of Gotha, which the Deutsche Bank, already possessing most of their stock, will now buy up.

In addition working arrangements will be concluded with a Würtemberg banking company and the Hildesheim Bank.

Of the Deutsche Bank in pre-war times it might be said it represented more than any other institution old Imperial Germany. It built the Bagdad Railway and its interests in England and France, Argentina and Czarist Russia were alike enormous. It was and is behind such firms as Siemens & Halske and Mannesmann Brotfers. It controlled the Rumanian oil fields till old Germany went down. Today the cigarette trade of Germany is in its hands.

"The greatest industrial magnates in Germany would be but reeds were it not for the support of the Deutsche Bank. It superintended nine German war loans, and wherever the challenging mailed fist went the Deutsche Bank was not far behind with its commercial gauntlet.

AUTOMOBILES KILL THREE MORE PERSONS

Francis Haggerty, 28 years old, of 257 East Forty-eighth Street, was arrested yesterday charged with driving the automobile that struck and killed James N. Noske, 27 years old, of 603 Baker Avenue, Bronx, Tuesday night. Noske was lighting the rear lights of his own automobile at East Forty-sixth Street and Third Avenue when he was killed. The automobile that struck him escaped, but witnesses, the police say, furnished the number of the machine and on this information Haggerty was arrested. Magistrate Cobb, in the Yorkville Court, held him without bail for an examination on Friday.

An unidentified man about 50 years old was instantly killed yesterday morning at Grand and Atlantic Avenues, Brooklyn, when he stepped from the curb directly in front of an automobile operated by Henry H. Brandt of 371 Madison Street, Brooklyn. An accusticon was found in the man's pocket and the police believe he was deaf and did not hear the siren of the approaching machine. Brandt was not detained. The man was dressed in a brown suit and wore a black fedora hat and a black overcoat.

Joseph Cassitino, 9 years old, of 200 Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn, playing in front of his home last night, was knocked down and killed by an automobile driven by Isidore Lass, of 1,721 Forty-ninth Street. Lass put the boy into his car and hurried him to the Samaritan Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. Lass was not arrested.

In the Traffic Court yesterday six chauffeurs, arraigned for speeding, were sentenced to ten days in jail by Magistrate House and fifteen other speeders went to jail for from ten to fifteen days in default of fines.

COAL SHORTAGE ACUTE, PRIORITY TO BE ASKED

Real Estate Board Sends Representative to Washington to Get Relief.

The shortage of the fuel supply for apartment houses and office buildings has become so acute that the Real Estate Board announced last night that it would ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to establish priorities for the shipment of anthracite to New York for two weeks. Edward F. Doyle, representing the 1,700 members of the board, left last night for Washington, where he will appear before the commission.

"If the commission will give us a priority," Mr. Doyle said, "we hope to get 2,000,000 tons of anthracite here in two weeks, which will be sufficient for our immediate needs. New York requires an average of 360,000 tons weekly the year around. During the Summer there were virtually no shipments, and last week the total of anthracite received here was less than 250,000 tons."

Mr. Doyle said that the city's supply had been curtailed by virtue of priorities for New England and other sections.

Holdup Victim Dies.

Abraham Markowitz, 45 years old, of 216 East Ninety-ninth Street died yesterday in Harlem Hospital of wounds received Tuesday night when he was shot by two of six holdup men in the saloon of Morris Poland at 1,917 Second Avenue.

300 Rubles For An Egg

H. G. Wells, one of the two or three most distinguished writers in England, who has just returned from Petrograd, will tell, in a series of articles in The New York Times, what he saw in Russia.

In the first article (next Sunday) Mr. Wells says that in Petrograd eggs cost 300 rubles apiece and even in the hospitals no nourishing food can be obtained. Drugs are rarely procurable. The aspect of the city and its inhabitants is one of slow death.

BRITISH GUARANTEE FOR GERMANY URGED

TO BE DISCUSSED AT GENEVA

Proposal to be Made to Lloyd George If, as Is Hoped, He Attends the League Congress.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Nov. 3.—Although officially the British Prime Minister is not on the list of delegates who will attend the League of Nations Congress here, I learn on excellent authority that if the coal strike ends satisfactorily, Mr. Lloyd George will not only be present at the opening of the Congress, Nov. 15, but will take part in the special conference concerning reconciliation between France and Germany.

In League of Nations circles it is felt that, now that the war has been over for two years, it is time that Europe had peace, and that, if France is ever to receive fair compensation from Germany, Germany must be allowed to work and live and feel that she is not working for France alone.

A proposal likely to be made at the conference is that Germany pay France sums proportioned to her budget, her volume of exports and her national wealth generally, and that England act as guarantor for Germany's fulfilling her obligations. The rehabilitation of Germany is held to be as urgently necessary for France's 30,000,000 population as for Germany's 60,000,000.

Representatives of neutral countries in the League of Nations go further and urge that England is stronger than France and could, if she would, insist upon this solution of what is really the most pressing problem in Europe, namely, how to rehabilitate Germany and enable her and France to begin work again. As one commercial delegate to the League Congress said:

"At present France is keeping tens of thousands of her strongest sons patrolling German occupied territory, while her fields and factories lack labor. Europe has not forgotten the Thirty Years' and the Napoleonic wars, and at the coming Congress we shall insist that there must be no repetition of that period. Remember, I am not speaking as an opponent, but as a friend of France. From the outset of the Congress we shall also insist on Germany being admitted to membership in the League. France insists that the League of Nations has nothing to do with her relations with Germany, these being regulated by the Treaty of Versailles. But this is nonsense, for the League is not going to allow French chauvinism to destroy the whole European future. The point is not so much what reparation is owing to France, but what reparation Germany can make. If Germany could again feel not at the mercy of France, this alone would deal a severe blow to German extremists on both sides and in every way stimulate the German people."

ROOSEVELT CALLS FOR SUPPORT FOR VICTORS

Says Duty to Join Other Nations for World Betterment Still Holds —Congratulates Coolidge.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, defeated Democratic candidate for Vice President, in a statement from his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., made public through the Democratic National Committee yesterday, expressed hope that Americans of all parties would give whole-hearted support to the new Administration.

"The result of the election in no way changes the duty of this country to join with other nations in the splendid effort to solve international difficulties, to end militarism and to avoid future wars for all time," Mr. Roosevelt said.

"A general awakening among the voters of the country as to the need of an immediate and broad reorganization of the archaic administrative machinery of the Government and business methods of the Congress afford an opportunity to Senator Harding and Governor Coolidge for constructive leadership. They occupy a strategic position never in modern times accorded to an Administration, for they combine a Senate and House apparently of the same political faith, with a demand on the part of the public that action be taken for the national rather than for the partisan good.

"Furthermore, the new Administration will have for the first time the political power of the women of the country to support them in the reforms affecting education, hygiene and welfare of our children, which political leaders have so often neglected as being peculiarly within the province of the home rather than of the State.

"In all honest and continuing effort in these directions the new Government will, of course, have my hearty support."

Mr. Roosevelt sent the following telegram to Governor Calvin Coolidge, his successful opponent, at Boston:

"My sincere congratulations to you. I trust that under the Administration of Mr. Harding and yourself the nation will grow in prosperity and in the unselfish ideals of Americanism which unprejudiced citizens of all parties desire."

BELGIAN CABINET RESIGNS.

Delacroix Makes Formal Announcement to the King on His Return.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 3.—The cabinet of Premier Delacroix resigned today, M. Delacroix delivering the resignation to King Albert at 2 o'clock this afternoon on the King's return to Brussels after his visit to Brazil. King Albert reached this city by airplane from Tours, France, at 12:35 o'clock this afternoon.

MADRID, Nov. 3.—Albert, King of the Belgians, interviewed last night on the train carrying him through Spain to France, expressed the highest satisfaction with the results of his voyage to Brazil. He said he would come to Spain again soon in response to the invitation of King Alfonso, at which time he would take the opportunity to express his gratitude to the Spanish nation and King for their work in alleviating the sufferings of the Belgian wounded and prisoners during the war.

A Brussels dispatch of Oct. 25 announced that the Belgian Council of Ministers had met and drafted the text of the Cabinet's resignation. Previous dispatches had stated that Premier Delacroix's retirement was understood to be due to overwork and attacks upon him from all quarters because of his conciliatory policy.

Finds Farming Recovering in France

PARIS, Nov. 3.—A representative of the United States Department of Agriculture who arrived in Paris today after a visit to the Somme and Pas de Calais Departments devastated during the war, said that he was very favorably impressed with the fine results obtained in agricultural reconstruction in the two departments.

END BRITISH STRIKE IN SPITE OF VOTE

Miners' Leaders Advise Men to Resume Work, Not Heeding the Poll.

MAJORITY WAS TOO SMALL

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The Executive Committee of the Miners' Federation this afternoon announced the result of the miners' ballot on the provisional settlement of the strike arrived at between the federation executives and the Government. There was a majority against acceptance of the settlement, but this was so small—8,450 out of nearly 700,000 voters—that the miners' executives are issuing notices urging the men to return to work with the least possible delay.

Under the rules of the federation, a two-thirds majority would have been necessary for continuance of the strike.

Only about 75 per cent. of the members of the federation voted. Sixteen districts out of twenty gave majorities for peace, but there were majorities against in Lancashire, South Wales, Nottinghamshire and the Forest of Dean, which more than wiped out the balance of votes in the sixteen areas.

At a meeting of the miners' executives the South Wales and Lancashire delegates maintained that the two-thirds majority did not apply to the present ballot, but they received little support from the others.

LONDON, Nov. 3 (Associated Press).—One immediate result of the settlement of the coal strike will be the resumption of horse racing on Friday. It is expected that the railways will resume full services next Monday.

The coal miners' strike, involving more than 1,000,000 workers in various parts of Great Britain, was begun on Oct. 16. The consequent interruption of the coal supply has caused widespread cessation of industry throughout the United Kingdom. On Oct. 28, after an agreement by the Government to reopen negotiations had resulted in the halting of sympathetic strike movements by the railway men and transport workers, it was announced that the strike had been provisionally settled by an agreement to advance the miners' wages, as they demanded, the permanency of the increase, however, to be contingent upon a sustained volume of production.

This settlement agreement, made by the miners' executive officers with the Government and mine owners, had to be submitted to the miners themselves for approval, and advices show that this approval was not forthcoming by a majority vote, the negative margin, however, being a comparatively narrow one.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 2.—The threatened strike of miners in the Charleroi coal fields became effective this afternoon. No disturbances have been reported.

JOINT ARBITRAGE DEPENDS ON LONDON

Operations to be Resumed Dec. 1 if British Exchange Lifts Restrictions.

Joint account arbitrage with London will be resumed by the New York Stock Exchange on Dec. 1 provided the British Treasury ruling against arbitrage is rescinded by that date. The New York Stock Exchange has been in communication with London on this subject for a considerable time and has made certain recommendations as to restriction under which arbitrage could be reestablished. The report of a special committee dealing with the subject was adopted on Sept. 23 and the committee's recommendations were sent to London with the result that a favorable answer was received.

The temporary regulations under which the London Stock Exchange was opened provided that "arbitrage business is until further notice prohibited" and it is this regulation which it is hoped the Treasury will rescind. The New York Stock Exchange in discussing the proposal says:

"Arbitrage operations between markets particularly under a joint account arrangement tend to the equalization of prices and the better handling of international transactions and a balancing of markets not otherwise obtainable. This increased liberty of action, should in addition tend to produce greater market activity."

The restrictions under which arbitrage can be resumed read as follows:

"Members operating in the joint account arbitrage shall be taken from the Exchange and foreign cities shall file with the Secretary of the Exchange a statement giving the names and addresses of all parties to the joint account, with a copy of all agreements bearing thereon.

"Monthly accounts of both parties, and all orders, reports, documents, daily rates of exchange and original cables pertaining to the joint account shall be kept on file in the office of the New York member separately and distinctly from all other business.

"That any transaction once originated for the joint account shall not be canceled or assumed for any other account or principal. The arbitrage will shall not be established on the floor of the Stock Exchange."

WOULD BAR JAPANESE.

Frank A. Vanderlip Says Question Should Be Handled Tactfully.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 3.—In an interview in the Harvard Crimson Frank A. Vanderlip, the New York banker, who is a lecturer in the Harvard Graduate School of Business, foresees trouble in the immigration problem.

"The situation is grave now," he said. "It will become critical when peace-time laws prevail. It is most serious to have increasing immigration at a time when there is bound to be industrial depression, for the result is an extensive unemployment of labor. This leads to dissatisfaction, plotting, and possibly revolution. It brings misery and suffering to untold thousands. It undermines the sound economic conditions of the country.

"Personally I believe that three-quarters of the bad feeling that has arisen between Japan and this country is due to the undiplomatic way in which we have handled the immigration question on the west coast. Politicians, merely trying to get votes, have voiced sentiments which are narrow-minded and unfair. While entirely unrepresentative of the feelings in this country, the utterances of these men have created almost unbelievable bitterness in the Orient.

"If in the future, there is a concerted effort not only by the Government but also by the people of this nation to explain our views of why we want to keep the Japanese out in a frank, courteous manner, we shall, in my opinion, eliminate a great deal of this ill-feeling.

"Although I am very sympathetic with the Japanese and hope every one to do his share to help them solve their perplexing difficulty, I do not believe that this country can permit them to enter in large numbers if the present citizens of the land are going to maintain their supremacy in industry because these Orientals are so much more frugal and conscientious and hard-working, than the average American."

KING SHOWS FRENCH HOW HE CAN HUSTLE

FINDS EXPRESS TOO SLOW

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—The King of the Belgians is too much of a hustler for French officials. Silk-hatted and frock-coated, they awaited him this morning at 11:30 at Quai d'Orsay Station to welcome him on his way home from Brazil.

The warship on which he was sailing not being fast enough he quitted it at Lisbon, and left that town yesterday morning to complete the journey overland. Paris was advised of this fact and official Paris duly presented itself at the southern railroad terminal to escort him over to the Gare du Nord.

Punctually at 11.30 the train steamed in and there was a general standing to attention of all the silk-hatted officials. But the King never appeared. The special coach which had been attached was empty except for a valet in charge of the baggage.

For a minute wild speculation began as to whether the King had fallen from the train in the manner of former President Deschanel. But it developed that at the moment when he should have been received in Paris the King was already well on his way to the frontier of his own country.

The express had been going too slow for him. At 8:30 he had quitted it near Tours in response to an invitation to visit the aviation ground there and had taken an airplane which landed him at Le Bourget, outside of Paris, a full hour before the train was due.

There he and his aid, General Du Jardin, took two more airplanes and started at once for Brussels to get to work and straighten out the Cabinet crisis which has arisen during his two months' absence.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, defeated Democratic candidate for Vice President, in a statement from his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., made public through the Democratic National Committee yesterday, expressed hope that Americans of all parties would give whole-hearted support to the new Administration.

"The result of the election in no way changes the duty of this country to join with other nations in the splendid effort to solve international difficulties, to end militarism and to avoid future wars for all time," Mr. Roosevelt said.

"A general awakening among the voters of the country as to the need of an immediate and broad reorganization of the archaic administrative machinery of the Government and business methods of the Congress afford an opportunity to Senator Harding and Governor Coolidge for constructive leadership. They occupy a strategic position never in modern times accorded to an Administration, for they combine a Senate and House apparently of the same political faith, with a demand on the part of the public that action be taken for the national rather than for the partisan good.

"Furthermore, the new Administration will have for the first time the political power of the women of the country to support them in the reforms affecting education, hygiene and welfare of our children, which political leaders have so often neglected as being peculiarly within the province of the home rather than of the State.

"In all honest and continuing effort in these directions the new Government will, of course, have my hearty support."

"My sincere congratulations to you. I trust that under the Administration of Mr. Harding and yourself the nation will grow in prosperity and in the unselfish ideals of Americanism which unprejudiced citizens of all parties desire."

BELGIAN CABINET RESIGNS.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 3.—The cabinet of Premier Delacroix resigned today, M. Delacroix delivering the resignation to King Albert at 2 o'clock this afternoon on the King's return to Brussels after his visit to Brazil. King Albert reached this city by airplane from Tours, France, at 12:35 o'clock this afternoon.

MADRID, Nov. 3.—Albert, King of the Belgians, interviewed last night on the train carrying him through Spain to France, expressed the highest satisfaction with the results of his voyage to Brazil. He said he would come to Spain again soon in response to the invitation of King Alfonso, at which time he would take the opportunity to express his gratitude to the Spanish nation and King for their work in alleviating the sufferings of the Belgian wounded and prisoners during the war.

A Brussels dispatch of Oct. 25 announced that the Belgian Council of Ministers had met and drafted the text of the Cabinet's resignation. Previous dispatches had stated that Premier Delacroix's retirement was understood to be due to overwork and attacks upon him from all quarters because of his conciliatory policy.

Finds Farming Recovering in France

PARIS, Nov. 3.—A representative of the United States Department of Agriculture who arrived in Paris today after a visit to the Somme and Pas de Calais Departments devastated during the war, said that he was very favorably impressed with the fine results obtained in agricultural reconstruction in the two departments.

JAPAN DISCOUNTS CALIFORNIA VOTE

PARLEY WILL CONTINUE

NEW TREATY TO BE DRAWN

President May Submit It to Senate When That Body Reassembles Next Month.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The Japanese situation will not become tense as the result of the adoption of the referendum in California on the alien land ownership directed against the large Japanese colony in that State. It was learned upon high authority today that the State Department had anticipated the vote in California by reaching a tentative agreement with the Japanese Ambassador as to what action should be taken to satisfy the residents of California.

It is understood that Japan is not unwilling to enact a law prohibiting Japanese immigration to the United States, and that in turn for this the Japanese now in California will receive full civil and property rights. Such an agreement has been arrived at, it is understood, but, of course, has to be accepted by the Japanese Government before it becomes operative as well as by the United States Senate. It is understood that if Japan agrees to this solution a treaty will be sent to the Senate which will cover this and other matters in dispute.

Secretary of State Colby himself dictated the statement on the alien land ownership question in California that was issued by the State Department in the name of Under Secretary of State Davis on Monday, it was learned authoritatively today.

Neither the department nor the Japanese Embassy, pending further developments over the question of the rights of Japanese subjects in the United States, is prepared to make any more extensive or comprehensive statement relative to the negotiations, but it is known that no obstruction has been reached in the negotiations and that they are progressing satisfactorily both for this country and Japan.

It is believed that the stage has been reached where both in Washington and in Tokio tentative drafts of the proposed new treaty and of the modified gentlemen's agreement are being prepared, and it is possible that the present situation will continue for some weeks while the two parties are reaching an agreement upon the exact phraseology.

It could not be learned today whether the State Department contemplates any action on the issuance of an additional statement on account of the adoption by California of the new Alien Land Ownership law. The statement by Secretary Colby given out by Mr. Davis on Monday was so worded as not to declare the proposed California act to be in conflict with existing Federal laws or treaties, although such was the implication.

It is a question whether the State Department could nullify the California legislation by declaring it to be at variance with the commercial treaty with Japan, and again it is understood, had no intention of carrying the question to the courts for judicial determination, and it is this consideration that, it is believed, will hasten the negotiations to a conclusion so that the new treaty may be sent to the Senate by President Wilson at the December session.

The next Administration, in the opinion of Washington observers, will be called upon to consider the most far-reaching questions, both domestic and international, that have come before the United States in the last f

REPORT 45,000 IDLE IN CLOTHING TRADE

MANY PLANTS SHUT DOWN

According to I. Monness of H. Monness & Sons, 628 Broadway, and other large manufacturers here of men's clothing, the industry in New York City is about at a standstill, due to a failure of manufacturers and the union to negotiate a new contract. It was asserted yesterday that 45,000 of the 60,000 workers in the trade here are idle. According to a manufacturer, the idleness is due to a shutdown of the plants rather than to a strike of the workers.

The shutdown, it was asserted, was to force a readjustment, to increase the output, speed up work and give more authority to the employer. It was also said that the manufacturers find themselves virtually without orders, as the buying public refuses to buy from retailers at the existing figures.

Mr. Monness, whose seven plants, employing 600 workers, have just been added to the list of those that have closed, said yesterday that clothing workers here receive from $55 to $85 a week, while those in smaller cities, such as Rochester, get $25 to $30 a week and produce a better grade of work.

Other manufacturers declared that the limit has been reached and that the manufacturers, in order to continue in business, must have sole authority regarding their employes.

Conferences between officials of the union and the manufacturers have not been discontinued, it was said yesterday. The demands of the manufacturers include piecework; wages based on the scale prevailing in other markets; cooperation of workers in maintaining individual records in shops; individual standards of production for week workers; right of manufacturers to change contractors; adequate freedom to discipline and hire workers and to introduce improved machinery.

HYLAN OPPOSES PAY FOR SACRED HOLIDAYS

Declares Teachers Excused for Religious Observances Should Meet the Expenses.

Mayor Hylan made public yesterday a letter written to Anning S. Prall, President of the Board of Education, in which he holds that any member of the school system is justified in absenting himself from school in the observance of religious holidays, but that the city should not be expected to pay for such lost time.

"This city has been administered for many years without finding it necessary to mix religious matters and municipal business," the Mayor says. "The city must continue to be administered in the same manner in the interest of all its citizens, irrespective of race, color or creed. There is no need, if, indeed, there be not danger of establishing new precedents involving special privileges for particular religious denominations. The effective functioning of the municipal service demands that this be so.

"My thought is to extend every possible consideration without discrimination to the members of all religious denominations. I do not believe it is the part of wisdom to excuse members of a particular faith to observe religious holidays and to obligate the city to pay for such absences from duty.

"If there are some who regard the observance of a religious holiday as transcending every other consideration, I am quite sure that such persons will readily appreciate that this is a personal matter with themselves in which the city has no concern and should not be required to participate financially.

"Those of any denomination who find it necessary to observe their religious holidays at times which necessitate absence from their duties must not expect the city to pay for the loss of time incurred.

"Department heads should see to it that employes, so far as it may be possible, are excused to attend to religious duties, but the absence occasioned thereby to be without pay.

"Religious zeal should not be measured in dollars and cents and sacrifices incident thereto should be borne personally."

Two Men Accused of Trying to Exploit Inventors.

The Federal Grand Jury yesterday indicted Thomas Howard, of the National Institute of Inventors, and George J. Mountain, a lawyer, on charges of using the mails to defraud. It is alleged that the defendants sought to induce inventors to join the institute by statements that it was organized as a fraternal and co-operative brotherhood and that its purpose was to protect persons having inventions or ideas that might be turned to financial advantage.

Other alleged false statements made by the defendants were that the institute had a large membership, that inventions would be purchased and inventors protected, that the earnings of the sales corporation aggregated $90,000 a year and that investors could be assured of handsome returns.

RETAIN ACCUSED OFFICER.

Kearny Voters Re-elect Tax Collector Calthness, Charged with Embezzlement.

KEARNY, N. J., Nov. 3.—Harry B. Calthness, under bail of $30,000 on the charge of embezzling from the town funds, was re-elected as Tax Collector yesterday. Calthness, who is a Republican, defeated Thomas E. Halpin, Democrat, receiving 2,708 votes to Halpin's 2,151. Calthness, with Helen Grant Warshalsy, a clerk in his office, who is under the same bail, is held for the Grand Jury.

When the charge was made in September, the Town Council took the contract of the office away from Calthness, although it could not remove him. Calthness said today the assertion that he sought re-election as vindication was false. He added that he would accept the office.

Ousted Officials to Answer Nov. 18.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 3.—The four members of the Public Utility Board ousted by Governor Edwards appeared in the Supreme Court today in answer to the summons obtained by Attorney General McCan. Nov. 18 was set as the date for the filing of their answer to the charge that they are illegally continuing in office. The proceedings were purely formal.

Crane Left $9,000,000.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Nov. 3.—Judge Edward T. Slocum in probate court today allowed the will of Winthrop Murray Crane of Dalton. The bond shows personal property of $9,000,000 and real estate of $180,000.

REPLACES BRITISH ENSIGN.

American Flag Hoisted on Atlantic Transport Liner Minnekahda.

At noon yesterday the British ensign which has flown at the stern of the Atlantic Transport liner Minnekahda since she was built at Belfast in 1917 was hauled down for the last time and the Stars and Stripes hoisted in its place to signify that the vessel had been duly transferred to American registry.

P. A. S. Franklin, President of the International Mercantile Marine Company, hoisted the American ensign while two bluejackets sounded "Colors" on their bugles. Captain Thomas Gates, who has been an American citizen for thirty years in the Atlantic Transport Line and commander of the Minnekahda, will retain his position when she enters the American Line passenger service between New York and Hamburg.

The Captains of the company's ships in port were present yesterday, including Herbert Hartley of the Mongolia, Henry Candy of the Finland and John Jensen of the Montana and the shore staffs.

The Minnekahda is of 17,221 gross tonnage and 620 feet 5 inches long. She will be fitted to accommodate 2,000 third-class passengers and carry 16,000 tons of freight.

DR. RUMELY'S TRIAL OPENS.

The long-delayed trial of Dr. Edward A. Rumely, S. Walter Kaufmann and Nervin R. Lindheim on an indictment charging conspiracy by refraining to report to the Alien Property Custodian the alleged German ownership of The Evening Mail was begun yesterday before Federal Judge Grubb.

The day was spent in efforts to get a jury. Veniremen were questioned concerning their place of birth and whether they were acquainted with Dr. Dernberg, Count von Bernstorff and others notorious for efforts in behalf of Germany during the war. One was excused because he was born in Germany. At the close of the day six tentative jurymen were in the box.

Harold Harper is conducting the prosecution and the defendants are represented by Stephen C. Baldwin, Fred J. Powell, Max D. Steuer and William M. Wemple.

ABANDONS LONDON SEASON.

Metropolitan Opera Plans to Visit American Cities Next Spring.

The Metropolitan Opera Company is considering plans for a visit to some of the principal cities of this country next Spring after the close of the New York season, according to a statement from its executive offices yesterday, which announced that a proposed European tour had been definitely abandoned. After careful investigation, and with full appreciation for the friendly spirit of the recent invitation from Covent Garden, the statement said, it had been decided that the company could not see its way to undertake an operatic season in London next year.

Among the chief considerations which caused the Board of Directors and the management to arrive at this conclusion, the announcement added, was the thought that if the Metropolitan should find it practicable to prolong its activities after the regular season it ought to do so in this country rather than abroad.

JACQUES PINTEL HEARD.

French Pianist Makes His American Debut in Carnegie Hall.

Jacques Pintel, heard as pianist at Carnegie Hall last night for the first time in this country, was born in Odessa, of French parents, who took him as a six-year-old child to Rubinstein. Later making his way to Paris, he was a Conservatoire prize man as early as 1900, it is said. He chose to introduce himself here in Chopin's B minor sonata, for which his constant search after a ball-like tone was effective at times and only palled for lack of variety, of rhythmic contrast, poetic and emotional content, that ars Chopin's hallmark sterling. In smaller pieces arrangements by Tausig from both Bach and Schubert, an "Idylle" of Chabrier and "Maseppa" of Liszt, the player found range for his swift, shy, oddly even manner of expression, especially in the piano versions of Schubert's songs.

OLGA BIBOR TO MARRY.

Actress and Musician Gets License to Wed Julius Stern, Motor Cyclist.

Olga Bibor, actress appearing in "The Gold Diggers" at the Lyceum Theatre and who has also appeared on the concert stage as a musician, obtained a marriage license from City Clerk Scully in the Municipal Building yesterday to marry Julius Stern, a champion motorcyclist of 445 East Eighty-fourth street.

The bride-elect, who in May, 1917, obtained a divorce from John Munkacsky, a Hungarian violinist, gave her address as 112 West 108d Street and her age as 30. Mr. Stern is of the same age.

Miss Bibor, in the performance in which she is appearing at present, plays a piano solo and is accompanied for a song and dance by Ina Claire. She has previously appeared in "Daddies" and "Polly With a Past."

Jacques Jolas, Pianist, Makes Debut

Jacques Jolas, a pianist of this city, made his first appearance yesterday at Aeolian Hall in a matinee of more than usual interest, displaying a striking individuality of style ranging from the merely heavy-handed in a Bach-Tausig D minor fugue and a group from Brahms to something more nearly "sculpturesque" in his massive treatment of MacDowell's "Keltic" sonata, thrice heard this week, and Balakirev's "Islamey." A pupil of the famous Carreno, he also gave two pieces by his later master, Howard Brockway, which he refused to encore, and others by Albeniz, followed on recall by one more in the manner of present-day art in Spain.

STABS SCHOOLGIRL OUTSIDE WALDORF

Cook, Out of Work and Hungry, Says He Did It Out of Rage.

POLICE DIDN'T BELIEVE HIM

As Miss Dorothy Stauffer, a twenty-year-old schoolgirl of Scottdale, Pa., stepped from a taxicab outside the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Thirty-fourth Street entrance, soon after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a shabbily dressed man rushed at her from the sidewalk, brandishing a fourteen-inch carving knife. Before she could avoid him he stabbed her in the breast, and as she fell forward he slashed at her, wounding her again.

Her mother, who was accompanying her on a shopping trip to New York, flung herself at the man, at the same time screaming for help. A crowd came to her aid, and after a brief struggle overpowered the assailant and disarmed him. Patrolman Doyle of Traffic B arrested the man. To Detectives Ford and Phelan of the West Thirtieth Street Station the man said that he was Liberi Mariciori, aged 30, of 221 West Thirty-third Street, and that he was a cook, out of work. He said that he had never seen the girl before. He was hungry, and he said that he stabbed Miss Stauffer out of rage. He had the knife stuck in between his waistcoat and his shirt, and he had no idea whom he was going to attack.

The police do not believe that he is insane, and think that possibly this is a new form of holdup. The man was held without bail on a charge of felonious assault.

Dr. Waterman of the New York Hospital ordered Miss Stauffer taken to the hospital where her wounds were dressed. Later she was removed to Miss Alston's Sanatorium, 26 West Sixty-first Street. She underwent an operation by Dr. Burton J. Lee at 5:30 in the evening, and when she left the operating theatre some time afterward, still under the anaesthetic, it was stated that her injuries were severe, but not dangerous.

MUSIC NOTES.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra will be heard at Carnegie Hall tonight for the first time this season, which marks the fortieth year of the organization founded by Major Higginson.

Geraldine Farrar will open this evening a series of "world-famous artists' concerts" in the First Regiment Armory at Newark, N. J.

Rosa Raisa, who sings tomorrow at the first of the Biltmore morning musicales, will also appear Saturday at the Waldorf for the Ruinstein Club.

Duci de Kerekjarto, who made his debut as violinist on election night, will be heard again at Carnegie Hall on Saturday evening, Nov. 20.

Mischa Elman is to make a tour of the Orient, starting next Feb. 1, under the direction of S. Hurok of this city and A. Strok of Shanghai, China.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Daniel Frohman will sail for the West Indies on Saturday. On his return he will arrange a series of benefits, in aid of the Actors' Fund, in seven cities.

APPLE WEEK STORE CLOSED BY POLICE

1,000 WOMEN IN CONTEST

More than a thousand women in a contest in Fifth Avenue, not far from the Waldorf, yesterday, each trying to get into the building at 311 Fifth Avenue, in which an apple sale was being conducted by the Consumers' Food Committee under the auspices of the State Division of Foods and Markets. The crowds extended for blocks in each direction.

Merchants in the vicinity objected to the jam in front of their places of business, their customers finding it impossible to get in and out of their stores, and a telephone message was sent to the police. After viewing the situation, the police decided to close the store. The owner of the building, who had given permission for free use of the building all week, asked that the sale be not continued because of the interference to the business of other merchants.

The crowd was dispersed and the women were allowed to dispose of the stock they then had in the store, but no additional apples were brought out.

Herschel H. Jones, Director of the New York office of the State Division of Foods and Markets, said last night that through the courtesy of Edwin J. O'Malley, Commissioner of Public Markets, arrangements had been made to reopen the sales at noon today in Jefferson Market, Sixth Avenue and Eighth Street. Mr. Jones renewed the offer to any organizations who desire to sell apples in their respective neighborhoods to see that they were able to purchase them at cost.

It was announced by Joseph Sicker, Chairman of the Committee of the International Apple Shippers' Association, which inaugurated Apple Week, that apples at wholesale continue to increase. It was said at his office that they had learned of the commotion on Fifth Avenue and were convinced that more places were needed where apples could be sold at retail at almost cost. Arrangements will be made to open stores in one or two Fifth Avenue buildings.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The disturbance that was central over Ontario Tuesday night passed rapidly eastward to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, followed by clearing and cooler weather Wednesday, generally throughout the Eastern States. There were rains, however, Tuesday night in the Atlantic States and local rains and snows in the region of the Great Lakes. Another disturbance was central Wednesday night near Winnipeg and moving eastward. This storm will likely increase in intensity and move eastward and southwest. Storm warnings have been ordered for Lake Superior.

There has been a general reaction to higher temperatures in the Mississippi Valley, the Plains States and the Rocky Mountain region.

The outlook is for fair weather Thursday and Friday in the States east of the Mississippi River except along the northern border, where it will be unsettled.

Temperatures will rise Thursday in the Middle Atlantic, South Atlantic and East Gulf States, Tennessee and the Ohio Valley. It will fall Friday in the region of the Great Lakes and in the States immediately north of the Ohio River.

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND FRIDAY.

North New England—Fair Thursday; Friday cloudy and unsettled, not much change in temperature.

3 A. M.	51	39	4 P. M.	55	50
6 A. M.	45	37	6 P. M.	52	49
9 A. M.	45	41	9 P. M.	48	47
12 M.	53	45	11 P. M.	46	46

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 50; for the corresponding date last year it was 44; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 48.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 44; at 8 P. M. it was 48. Maximum temperature, 57 degrees at 2:45 P. M.; minimum, 43 degrees at 7 A. M. Humidity, 56 per cent. at 8 P. M., 64 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 29.82 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 29.87 inches.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stock Exchange Uninfluenced by Election Results—Industrials Down, Railways Up.

Although it was pretty well understood beforehand in Wall Street that the result of Tuesday's election, having been fully anticipated in the financial mind, would hardly affect the markets to any purpose, nevertheless the amazing rise of the State pluralities led some people to believe that the Stock Exchange could not help making some response. They were mistaken, however. Taken as a whole, yesterday's stock market opened as uncertain in tendency as on the days before the election. During the day there were declines as well as advances, and in some of the industrial shares the declines ran to 2 points or more.

The movement of the market was, in fact, altogether irregular. So far from reflecting any supposed inferences from the new political situation, its course really emphasized (what had already become a recognized fact in the investment position) that manufacturing and producing enterprises have their best days behind them while the brighter days for the railways are ahead. In several of the railway shares advances occurred ranging from 2 points upward. But the extreme gains of 6¾ in Reading and 11¼ in Southern Pacific were mostly a consequence of the violent rise in Southern Pacific because of the oil-land "segregation" announcement of Monday evening. It is impossible to measure the exact significance of this plan, which is not a new proposal, until it is known by more thorough evidence than is now available what are the actual possibilities and earning power of a company formed to operate the oil properties.

Money on call relaxed a trifle yesterday, but only to the extent that 9 per cent. was quoted all day. Grain and cotton prices declined, though with partial recovery later. Exchange on London, Paris and Rome went still lower.

Mid-week reviews of the steel and iron trade show that, although the industry is still feeling the pressure of trade reaction in other industries, it is yielding to it only irregularly and spasmodically. The independent mills are on the one hand cutting prices, but on the other hand production is being held down. "There is no disposition by producers," the Iron Age observes, "to accumulate either iron or steel at the present high costs," and at various independent plants "considerable numbers of men are idle." All this is in a way the penalty which the independent mills are suffering for their policy of forcing prices far above the Steel Corporation's level in the year's earlier months.

Yet the curtailment of output may create a somewhat interesting situation. The Iron Age foresees large production of railway material in 1921, noting that one large mill is already booked for practically the entire year. The monthly production figures of iron for the whole country indicate the suddenness with which trade reaction has spread this Autumn. Output of the iron foundries, which had decreased in September, was reported yesterday by the Iron Age as having risen in October to the largest figure of any month but one since January of 1919. Yet the same trade review states that the total number of furnaces in blast has now been reduced by 32 as compared with Oct. 1; "a falling-off that has few parallels."

The Government's figures of our September foreign trade by countries of origin and destination, published in THE TIMES yesterday morning, are interesting especially for the light they throw on that month's very large decrease of $149,800,000 in our imports as compared with August. The greatest reduction was in imports from Asia; in view of the season's market in the United States for products of those countries it is not perhaps surprising that our September imports from India have been $9,000,000 less than in August, from China $10,000,000 less and from Japan $13,700,000 less. But that imports from England, France and Italy combined should have decreased $12,500,000 as compared with August and our total imports from Europe $22,700,000—this, notwithstanding the great inducement of the foreign exchange rates and the international debt of Europe to increase such shipments to us progressively—is at least an interesting occurrence.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Sterling Recedes as Cotton Bills Are Offered—Lire at New Low Record.

The European exchanges receded yesterday, Italian rates displaying relatively greater weakness than the others. Lire established a new low record with a quotation of 3.62 cents each for transfers by check. On Monday the final quotation was 3.86½ cents. Sterling declined 1¼ cents net, the highest rate being 3.44 cents and the lowest 3.42½ cents. Franc checks reacted from Monday's final rate of 6.22½ cents to 6.22½ cents. With the exception of extensive offerings of lire exchange, the market was only moderately active. The growth of cotton exports during the last fortnight, in contrast with the moderate outflow of September, is bringing larger sales of sterling bills.

$3,500,000 Notes Offered.

Montgomery & Co., Field, Richards & Co. and the Herrick Company are offering $3,500,000 Hydraulic Steel Company 8 per cent. 10-year sinking fund notes at 99½ and interest. These are part of an authorized issue of $4,000,000 and mature Nov. 1, 1930. Interest is payable without deduction for Federal income tax up to 2 per cent. and the notes are callable in whole or in part on thirty days' notice at 107½ and interest.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Money and Policies.

So far as the more responsible bankers go it is believed that a great majority of them hope there will be no change in the policies of the Federal Reserve Board and the Treasury Department with regard to the credit situation. Both Mr. Houston and Mr. Harding—W. P. G., not W. G.—won the approval and the backing of leading bankers in their recent dispute with the agricultural interests, in which the latter demanded cheaper money and more of it.

Yesterday's Rate.

Call money yesterday ruled at 9 per cent. throughout. There was no paucity and none of the belated borrowing at 10 per cent., a fact which may or may not be significant. As for the immediate future, there is a belief that the rate will work lower in a very few days, or as soon as funds begin to get back after the Nov. 1 payments. The Government's operations, which have been an important factor in the call money rate's fluctuations of late, contemplate the withdrawal of $4,187,000 today, which, when added to what was taken out yesterday, makes a total of $14,440,000 for the week and will leave only about $14,000,000 in the local banks on this account.

Local Tractions.

Local tractions were hard put yesterday in deciding whether to go up or go down on the election news. This condition applied both to bonds and to stocks, and the result was a lot of backing and filling as the election returns on the Smith-Miller contest blew hot or cold. If one lot of reports favored Governor Smith these securities went down fractionally, and when the next lot came along and indicated a gain for Judge Miller they would go up. On the day they lost ground, not much but some, and, as one observer put it, this probably was in compliment to Governor Smith's remarkable showing and the "municipal ownership" indorsement he received a few days ago.

Treasury Certificates.

There is a belief in well informed banking and investment circles that the next issue of Treasury certificates of indebtedness, which probably will be dated Nov. 15, will bear interest at the rate of 5½ per cent., as against the 5¾ per cent. rate of the last issue. If this proves to be the case the Street should accept it as a bull argument, for the Street has been anxiously waiting for months for a sign of easier money and if the Treasury gives the signal, or takes action which may be interpreted as a signal, of the approach of easier money there should be rejoicing all along the line.

The Cuban Situation.

The matter of floating a big Cuban loan in this market, one of $50,000,000 to $100,000,000, is still being considered by bankers and it is likely that an announcement will be made of the consummation of the plan within a few days. Distributing bankers entertain no doubts as to the way a Cuban loan would go. They are convinced that a ready market would be found for the securities and say that no question exists as to the success of the operation. But the details take time and with an election in Cuba and one here, there are delays which have to be reckoned with. Incidentally, the delays may not be bad, for private advices from the island say that conditions have improved notably there within the last two or three days and that the outlook is for further improvement.

Some Short Covering.

With a pronounced upturn in the rail stocks yesterday there was also an advance in the industrials, brought about largely by short covering. The unfavorable news which has been constantly coming to light as to the industrial group has undoubtedly been overplayed marketwise. Evidence of this has not been lacking in certain instances, as for example the copper issues. Therefore when the rails began to climb to substantially higher levels, led by Southern Pacific and Reading, there was a bit of fear engendered in the minds of the more timid shorts and they proceeded to buy in and cover their commitments. In the main, however, it may be said that the industrial market was a disappointment in view of the sweeping Republican victory, the shares not responding in the manner which was to be expected.

Petroleum Production Increases.

The American Petroleum Institute estimates that the daily average gross production of oil in the United States during the week ended Oct. 23 was 3,312,425 barrels. On the basis of recent daily averages it is stated that production is running at the annual rate of 475,000,000 barrels, or 100,000,000 barrels in excess of the production for last year. This does not mean, however, that production this year will necessarily reach the 475,000,000 barrel total since the output of petroleum was not at such a high daily average early in the year as now obtains.

Copper More Active.

Some slight improvement in demand was to be noted in the copper market yesterday. While some big offerings of copper are being made below the 15-cent level the big producers are reported to be less inclined to sell the metal under 15 cents than several days ago. French interests are reported to have bought some 4,000,000 pounds of copper. This is no indication, however, that other foreign buying will come into the market at this time.

Traction Outlook Improved.

While there was little in the stock market to indicate that there had been any substantial degree of improvement in sentiment regarding the outlook for local traction companies as the result of the State election, it was apparent in public utility circles that the general feeling was better. It is the belief in these circles that at the first opportunity local traction companies will be allowed to increase their fares as the result of legislation which will be put through after the turn of the year. In their campaigns the traction companies have asserted repeatedly that they could not continue to run on a five-cent fare and in the case of the Interborough Company semi-annual interest has been met twice by scraping the bottom of the company's security box and by the sale of real estate.

Southern Pacific Oil Properties.

Southern Pacific Company shares were easily the feature of the day's trading and the price ran up to a new high at 116¼, or more than 11 points higher than the last quotation on Monday. The speculative element used the estimates of the value of the company's oil lands as an argument for higher prices for the stock should the land be sold outright when the plan for the separation of the oil properties from the railroad properties is made public. But in more conservative quarters attention was called to the fact that the value of oil lands is based upon the production therefrom and consequently is an uncertain thing. In the absence of definite news from the company itself—Southern Pacific officials declined to discuss the matter—the more conservative element expressed the opinion that the company probably would reach some kind of an agreement either with the Associated Oil Company, which it controls, or with other big oil producers, now established in the California fields, which would give to the Southern Pacific a royalty on all oil produced. It is not expected that the Executive Committee, which will frame a plan for the separation of the oil from the railroad properties, will be ready to report for some time.

The Term Public Utility

too often confuses the investor who does not take time to discriminate. The many Electrical Power properties whose financial structures are sound and whose earnings show good increases from year to year should not be discriminated against, because of the peculiar situation surrounding street railways. May we send you data and statistics on several Electric issues, which we believe are particularly attractive at this time?

RAILS IN HALF YEAR SHORT $206,000,000

First Six Months of Private Operation Will Cost Federal Government $656,000,000.

EXPENSES WERE INCREASED

Part of Deficit Charged to Increased Pay Granted to Workers by Railroad Labor Board.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Private operation of the railroads for the first six months after the end of Federal control will cost the Federal Government a total of $656,000,000, according to figures made public today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The railroads suffered a new deficit of $206,000,000 during the six months' period and besides this sum the Treasury must pay them $450,000,000, the amount of the guarantees provided in the Transportation act. Part of the deficit is charged to increased pay granted to the railroad workers by the Railroad Labor Board.

When the period of Federal guarantee of earnings to the roads ended on Sept. 1, the increased passenger and freight rates granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission were in effect. These are designed to increase the gross revenue of the carriers by $1,500,000,000 annually.

Operating revenues of the roads for August, according to the commission's figures, increased by only about $83,000,000 as compared with August of 1919, while operating expenses advanced more than $300,000,000.

The net revenue from operations for August, 1919, was $112,000,000, compared with a deficit of nearly $124,000,000 for the month this year. To this deficit is added tax accruals of $25,000,000, and debits to equipment and joint facility rents of over $5,000,000, leaving a net loss for the month of more than $155,000,000. The net operating income for the same month last year was $92,000,000.

The August expenses, however, included increased wage accruals of $79,000,000 and war taxes amounting to more than $3,000,000.

For the eight months ended with August operating revenues amounted to $3,822,000,000, compared with $3,283,000,000 in 1919, while operating expenses amounted to $3,768,000,000 as against $2,808,000,000 for the first eight months last year.

The western district showed the highest net operating income for the eight months with $13,000,000, compared with $163,000,000 for the first eight months last year, and the southern district was next with a net operating income for the period of $2,000,000 as against $30,000,000 for the corresponding period the year before.

The eastern district operated at a loss of $176,000,000 for the first eight months of the year, compared with a net income of $113,000,000 for the same months last year, while the Pocahontas district showed a net income of $6,000,000 against $19,000,000 for the first eight months of 1919.

ELECTION RESULT SUITS FINANCIERS

Business Will Be Stimulated by Victory of the Republicans, They Believe.

GARY SEES RAPID PROGRESS

There was elation in the financial district yesterday over the sweeping victory of the Republican Party. The sentiment was general that the election of Harding would have a stimulating effect on business, although it was realized that there were many responsibilities to be shouldered and problems to be solved.

Bankers were outspoken in their praise of the President-elect. Judge Elbert H. Gary, Chairman of the Board of the United States Steel Corporation, predicted an eight-year term for the incoming Administration.

"I am, of course, very much pleased by the result of the election," said Judge Gary. "The Republican Party has great opportunities and equally great responsibilities. If it measures up to the situation we will experience in the future more rapid progress and larger prosperity than ever before. There is much to do, and every one should do his full share in bringing about normal conditions. With a strong Cabinet and appropriate appointments the new Administration is certain of an eight year term and a record of achievement which will have a decided influence on the welfare of the people in this country and other countries as well.

"Yesterday was a great day for civilization. President Harding and Vice President Coolidge will have the cordial support of the financial, commercial and industrial interests of the country, and, in turn, will render every proper and practicable aid toward the attainment of economy, efficiency and happiness of all who are deserving.

"The election demonstrated very forcibly one thing: the women are fully capable of exercising the right of franchise. The country is safer because of their right and willingness to vote."

Looks for Good Effect.

Paul M. Warburg had this to say:

"I am gratified at the outcome of the election. I am sure the effect on business, general conditions and the public mind will be good in due time. I am hopeful that the United States will now take such a place as a great nation should in finding a solution for the many serious problems which confront us, not alone here but throughout the world. The entire world is hoping that we take this great place of leadership. The outcome of the elections will instill confidence everywhere."

E. V. R. Thayer, President of the Chase National Bank, said:

"The result of the election will have a good effect upon business. It will have a stabilizing tendency. People may now look forward with some assurance of steady conditions and may know pretty well what to expect for a considerable time to come. Irrespective of political opinion, people are glad to have the future clearly mapped out."

Mortimer Schiff of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. said:

"I am very much gratified over the election of Senator Harding. I have every confidence in Mr. Harding's ability to discharge the duties of the Presidential office."

Walter E. Frew, President of the Corn Exchange Bank, said:

"I believe the election of Warren G. Harding will have a stimulating effect on all business. The Republican Party has always been a constructive organization."

Pleased With Result.

A. Barton Hepburn, Chairman of the Advisory Board of the Chase National Bank, commented: "I am greatly pleased with the result. Harding's majority was much larger than expected."

Lewis L. Clarke, President of the American Exchange National Bank, said:

"On the whole, the result of the election cannot be otherwise than satisfactory to the business interests of the country. It will restore a feeling of confidence, something which has been sadly lacking, and is bound to have a helpful effect when considering the many problems now facing the country.

"The good effect of the election will not show itself at once. I do not believe that we are justified in looking for any 'blaze of glory.' There are many weighty problems awaiting solution in the nature of money, credit and commodities, and no matter which party might have been successful these questions could not be solved without a great deal of thought and deliberation. We are a great country and a great people and if given a chance can demonstrate our ability to the world. The election will doubtless give added confidence to the entire industrial world and in that alone is a factor of optimism, and together with the fact that President-elect Harding is sane and clear on the tax question, and with this given proper consideration we should have a decidedly bright outlook for business."

Tame Reception in Stock Market.

The Republican victory had rather a tame reception in the stock market yesterday, quite contrary to what had been expected. The railroads, led by Southern Pacific and Reading, moved forward substantially, but the rest of the list was not responsive. The firming up in the industrials was largely attributable to short covering rather than to any display of enthusiasm over the election outcome. Then, too, there were special considerations which worked to bring about the advance in the rails, so that the forward movement in that field was not influenced entirely by the election.

When no substantial rise developed the opinion was expressed that the market had discounted the news, which is the Wall Street way of wriggling out of a false position. However, it is probable that the apathy was due in large part to the fact that the financial district had been unable to see anything but a big Republican victory for many weeks.

The position of the market also was such as to militate against a display of the upward side. The public is not participating and the professionals are ruling as they please over the course of prices.

Bankers Trust Company, New York, Trustee

A letter from Mr. Arthur V. Davis, President of the Company, copies of which will be supplied on request, is summarized as follows:

The business conducted by the Company—and by Company is meant Aluminum Company of America together with subsidiaries all of whose stock it owns—was established in 1888 and consists of the mining of ore of aluminum, smelting of aluminum therefrom, and its fabrication.

EARNINGS

In no year since 1915 have the Company's net earnings, after payment of interest, taxes and other charges, been less than $10,000,000, and in the current year such earnings are in excess of $10,000,000. In no year has the Company paid out more than $2,350,000 in cash dividends, all surplus earnings having been retained in the business.

PROVISIONS OF ISSUE

The Notes will be direct obligations of the Aluminum Company of America and will be issued under a Trust Indenture which will provide, among other things, substantially that so long as any of the Notes are outstanding and unpaid, the Aluminum Company of America shall not create or permit to exist any secured indebtedness upon or against its properties (including the properties of subsidiary companies but excepting the present funded debt of subsidiaries amounting to $858,000); also that the current assets of the Company and its subsidiaries shall at all times be at least equal to the aggregate amount of their indebtedness, including the amount of these Notes then outstanding.

FINANCIAL

The Company has current assets in excess of $50,000,000 and its total liabilities (including this $12,000,000 Note issue and all other funded debt) will, upon completion of this financing, be less than $32,000,000.

EQUITY

Aluminum Company of America has outstanding $18,729,600 par value Capital Stock, which, at recent quoted prices, indicates an equity of over $110,000,000 behind these Notes. The value of the net assets of the Company is in excess of this amount, without including any good will, patents or other intangible items.

Do You Check the Investment Situation as this Investor Did?

A few weeks ago, an investor asked us to analyze his $50,000 list of securities and submit our recommendations. We advised immediate sale of a majority of his holdings and the purchase of long term railroad bonds. Prompt action—at the psychological moment—has since brought him profits equivalent to a year's interest on his principal.

Your list may also need checking with a view to possible profits.

Timely recommendations will be submitted promptly, without obligation, upon receipt of your list of holdings. When writing, ask for Letter T-52.

What a Big Detroit Bank Thinks of Credit Insurance—

A well-known bank of Detroit, Mich., has just written the American Credit-Indemnity Co. as follows:

"In our judgment, the matter of insuring open credits by business men has been a subject of growing importance for some years, and particularly at this time when there are so many problems confronting the country, the solution of which is difficult.

"The more conservative houses are taking every precaution to keep their affairs in a liquid shape, and the conditions under which the better grade of credit insurance policies are written, we believe constitute a contingent asset to any business man, the advantages of which should not be overlooked."

Bankers appreciate that it takes more skill to do business successfully when prices are falling, as now, than when prices were increasing. And they therefore endorse precautions that prevent, else pay, bad debt losses beyond the normal, which the American's "Unlimited-Interim-Payment" Policy does.

SLACK STEEL TRADE SHUTS 35 FURNACES

PIG IRON SALES ARE FEW

Basic Declines $1.50, Bessemer $3 in Pittsburgh District—Big Rail Orders for 1921.

Slackening business in the steel trade is finding reflection in the closing down of numerous blast furnaces, and pig iron prices continued to decline in the last week. However, most of the furnaces blown out were active until the last ten days of October, and in consequence, earlier expectations that the month would bring one of the largest iron outputs of the year were borne out in reports on production. The output of October, according to the Iron Age, was 3,278,104 tons, or an average of 105,745 tons per day, compared with 3,129,323 tons in September, at the rate of 104,810 tons daily.

The best month of the year to date in point of iron output was March with 3,375,907 tons. The lowest was April with 2,739,797 tons. January was the only month of 1919 to exceed the results of the month just passed, the production then being 3,302,260 tons.

Thirty-five furnaces were closed last month and three were "blown in," the total of 287 being active on Nov. 1, compared with 319 a month previous. The Iron Trade Review reports the net decline of active furnaces as twenty-eight in the month and emphasizes in this week's issue the rapid reduction of iron and steel operations in the last week or two.

"In leading iron centres," the Iron Age says, "particularly in the East and in the Chicago district, furnaces are showing a disposition to allow resellers of pig iron to have the market to themselves until conditions become more settled. Almost no furnace sales are reported except in the Pittsburgh district, where basic has declined $1.50, Bessemer $3, while lower prices are being made on foundry grades. In the Chicago district, resale Northern iron is obtainable at $6 below recent furnace prices and Southern at $4 below the $42, Alabama furnace quotation, which has long prevailed. Low phosphorus iron has sold at $7 below the furnace price.

"Further indication that 1921 will be marked by large rail production is the fact that the Chicago district mill is now booked for almost the entire year. The St. Paul order is for 30,000 tons and that of the Rock Island for 40,000 tons."

W. PACIFIC TO ISSUE STOCK.

Increase of $25,000,000 Common and Preferred Proposed.

Stockholders of the Western Pacific Railway have received notification of a special meeting on Nov. 18 when a vote will be taken to approve an increase in the common stock of the company from $47,500,000 to $60,000,000 and an increase in the preferred from $27,500,000 to $40,000,000. This increase is in anticipation of the sale of the property of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad on Nov. 20 next to satisfy a judgment for $36,000,000 secured some years ago by bondholders of the Western Pacific Company.

The increase in the stock will, it is understood, provide for a distribution of the new shares to both preferred and common holders of Western Pacific stock in the ratio of one share of new for each six shares of old stock held, and constitutes what is in effect a distribution of Western Pacific's interest in D. & R. G.

The judgment secured by Western Pacific came after the Denver & Rio Grande, which had guaranteed the interest on Western Pacific bonds, defaulted in the payment of such interest. Since it became evident that action would be taken to satisfy Western Pacific's judgment a Denver & Rio Grande Stockholders' Protective Committee has grown up and is doing what it can to bring about a postponement of the date set by a Western court for the sale of the Denver properties.

The most recent move it has made has been to file a bill of intervention. The bill charges manipulation by Denver Directors, who were also Western Pacific Directors, and the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which were prejudicial to their own interests and the interests of Denver stockholders. It holds in addition that the case should have been tried before a jury and asks for a postponement of the sale of Denver property for two months. The bill will be heard in the Federal Court at Omaha Nov. 15.

D. & H. Bond Issue Authorized.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized the Delaware and Hudson Railroad to issue first and refunding mortgage 4 per cent. gold bonds to the amount of $3,475,000 and to pledge $1,700,000 of these with the Treasury as security for a loan of $1,125,000 from the Government.

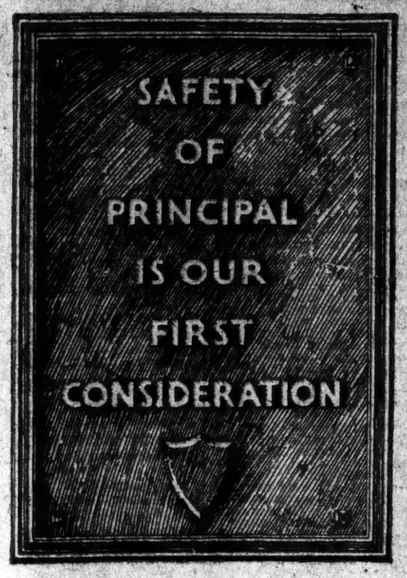
Responsibility



The protection afforded the investor by the services of an investment banking house may be measured by the bankers' conception of their responsibility to the investor. Do they interpret it merely in terms of buyer and seller, or do they conceive it as an intimate relationship between client and banker—a trust based on confidence never to be shaken? Every recommendation of Ames, Emerich & Co. is made with this sense of deep obligation and responsibility to the investor.

Steady Pressure Undermines Quotations in Flat Session—Export Shipments Expand.

The weak undertone and the generally uncertain position of the cotton market were again demonstrated yesterday when the list took up from where it had left off on Monday. The news accumulation over the holiday, to be sure, contained mostly unfavorable items, but the items were not aggressively unfavorable and most of them, as a matter of fact, amounted to little. The Liverpool market, for example, was heavy and lower than due and there was some rather poor news concerning the labor situation in England. At home, the trade reports continued to voice the same unsatisfactory tone they have had for the last months; certainly they were no worse.

But the market for contracts started very poorly. It opened down 32 to 40 points and then proceeded to work lower, getting down as much as 90 to 105 points for the active months just before noon. It was not a sharp break, but a steady and depressing decline. It was the sort of decline that is most discouraging, for it was not hysterical in the least, but simply the sort which comes from sullen offerings and no buying power.

In the afternoon, when word was received that the British strikers had decided to go back to work the market displayed more life than at any other time of the day, rallying 60 or 70 points quickly, but the fine edge was taken off this by the supplemental news that the vote to reject the British Government's proposal had been a majority vote, but lacking the necessary two-thirds for complete rejection. In the final trading some of the afternoon recovery was lost and the market ended at net declines from Monday of 34 points for December and January, 45 points for March and May, and 50 to 60 points for the later months.

The spot market here was very quiet and 40 points lower to 22.10. In the South also the spot markets were quiet and while prices generally were unchanged from Monday, there were losses recorded at Augusta, Houston and one or two other places. The export movement continues to gain in volume, with 77,251 bales going out on Tuesday and 22,099 yesterday, making the total for the week to date 191,164 bales. This total very nearly equals the arrivals at the ports, which for the week to date have amounted to 198,584 bales.

COMMODITY PRICES

There seemed to be particular weakness in grains in Wednesday's wholesale cash markets, due perhaps to declining price level in the futures market in Chicago. Cash wheat was off 2c, corn 1c, and flour ¼c. Eggs continued to advance, registering a 2c gain to 72 cents. Spot cotton declined 40 points to $22.10. Provisions and metals were unchanged over Monday's closing.

Following are the cash prices of the principal commodities in the wholesale market at the close of business Wednesday a week ago and a year ago:

Does Your Advertising Reflect You?

TAKE out your name and substitute that of one of your competitors in your advertising. Will the change be noticeable—will your copy fit him as well as you?

Advertising is simply talking to your customers and possible customers on paper, telling them what you would tell them in person if you could reach them. And just as your sales talk must be personal and individually you, so must your advertising reflect and radiate your personality and the individuality of your organization, if it is to be truly successful.

For that reason it is absolutely essential that your agency which writes and handles your advertising be taken into your confidence and be considered an integral part of your organization—to make your copy truly representative and personal to you.

Most agencies are worthy of this confidence.

CHEMICAL CONSOLIDATION
Extension of Period for Deposits to Nov. 30, 1920

To Stockholders of
GENERAL CHEMICAL COMPANY,
THE SOLVAY PROCESS COMPANY,
SEMET-SOLVAY COMPANY,
THE BARRETT COMPANY AND NATIONAL ANILINE & CHEMICAL COMPANY, Inc.,
including holders of Voting Trust Certificates for stock of the Company last mentioned:

A large majority of the outstanding shares of the above mentioned companies has been deposited under the Plan and Agreement for their consolidation, published early in October, 1920, under date of September 9, 1920.

In certain cases, however, (foreign holdings, estates and the like) stockholders have found it physically impossible to arrange for deposit of their shares by November 1, 1920, as required. It has therefore been determined to afford to these stockholders (and voting trust certificate holders), as welll as to others who have not already deposited their holdings, a further opportunity to take advantage of the Plan. For this purpose the undersigned Committee, acting under and pursuant to said Agreement, has extended until and including November 30, 1920, the period within which such holders may become parties to said Plan and Agreement by depositing their holdings as therein provided.

Accordingly, holders of preferred and common stocks of the above mentioned companies, who desire to participate in the plan but have not yet deposited their holdings, should deposit their stock certificates (or voting trust certificates), in negotiable form, on or before November 30, 1920, with Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Depositary, at its office, No. 140 Broadway, New York City, which will issue transferable Deposit Certificates therefor. After said date no deposits will be received by the Depositary except with the express consent of the Committee and upon such terms as it may prescribe.

No transfer tax stamps need be provided by depositing stockholders except when Deposit Certificates are to be issued in some name other than that in which the deposited stock is registered.

Until the Plan is declared operative, all cash dividends paid on all shares of stock, preferred and common, deposited under the Plan, will be promptly paid over to the holders of the Deposit Certificates representing such shares.

Deposit Certificates representing stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange are also listed on said Exchange.

Copies of the Plan, Agreement and accompanying circular may be obtained from the Depositary or the Secretary of the Committee.

Dated, October 30, 1920.

OCTOBER FAILURES TOTAL $38,914,659

DEBTS HIGHEST SINCE 1915

Business Reaction and Decline in Commodity Prices Reported as Causes.

The reaction of business and the downward course of commodity prices carried in their trail an expansion of commercial fatalities during October. Reports made to R. G. Dun & Co., show that the number of failures was 923 with liabilities amounting to $38,914,659. The number was 240 larger than in September and liabilities disclosed an increase of 31 per cent. In October, 1919, failures numbered 463 and liabilities were $6,871,006 and that month was noteworthy because insolvencies were nearly the smallest for any month on record.

The failures in October this year exceeded in number those of any preceding month since March, 1918, when the total was above 1,100 and the total of indebtedness involved in October was the heaviest since April, 1915. In that month liabilities were in excess of $43,500,000. However, the October failures were fewer than in the same month of the eleven years between 1907 to 1917 and were also below the totals of October, 1903, 1902, 1896, 1895 and 1894, but owing to several important bankruptcies the liabilities were larger than in October of any of the years mentioned.

Twenty-eight failures last month, accounting for an aggregate of $12,786,325, were in manufacturing lines, twenty for $4,484,765 among traders and six, with debts of $8,297,077 were among agents, brokers, &c. Altogether there were 327 manufacturing insolvencies in October with liabilities of $19,173,090; the number being the largest reported in any month since June, 1917, and the indebtedness exceeding that of all months back to January, 1915.

	Number.
February	492	602	980	1,465	1,688
May	547	531	880	1,206	1,482
June	674	485	804	1,186	1,227
July	681	452	786	1,137	1,207
September	677	473	674	963	1,454
October	923	463	660	1,083	1,240
November		551	570	951	1,251

The October defaults of trading concerns, including stores and hotels, numbered 534 with $10,505,115, the liabilities being larger than in any month since the beginning of 1916.

BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday .....6 per cent. for the best names
Monday .....6 per cent. for the best names
The quotations are for six months' paper.

Gray Goods Recover Slowly.

The local gray goods market was slow to recover yesterday from the trade-retarding effects of the elections, with the result that very little business was done. Buyers paid 15 cents for some prompt 39-inch 64-108, 4.30-yard sateens, but that was about all the interesting business put through in the clothing styles during the day. Spot sales of 5.50-yard sheetings were made at 7¾ cents. In the printcloth end of the market about the only sales worth recording consisted of spot 39½-inch 64-60s, Southern, at 10 cents.

What Cash Can Obtain.

There is a marked price difference in what regular and net terms will secure in the woolen market. An offer was heard yesterday where the difference was fully one-third. In other words, the saving in a purchase for cash was 33 1-3 per cent. The two quotations were submitted by a leading mill which is ordinarily considered to be well supplied with ready capital. Wages, it was explained, cannot be paid in anything but money, and interest rates are so high, even where the banks are willing to make loans, as to make it necessary for the manufacturers to yield very large concessions for quick payments.

Rushing the Seasons Wrong.

In connection with the effort which will be made by millinery wholesalers to keep the sale of straw hats within the proper season, it was pointed out yesterday that any rushing of the seasons is more harmful than beneficial to the retail trade in the present condition of business. While sales were not difficult to make and people were spending money lavishly, novelties had a much larger appeal than they have at present, it was said, and the public was willing to buy goods ahead of their proper season. It is explained that the present character of the demand puts the chief call down for staples and articles sold at the proper time.

More Southern Cottons Cut.

Additional brands of Southern-made dickings, chambrays, and plaids were reduced in price yesterday, when announcement was made by the Cone Export & Commission Company of revisions on the lines of these goods sold through it. Because the prices made by the company are net, they were not given out for publication, but it was said of them by an executive of the concern that they had been "cut right to the bone." No price changes in denims were announced yesterday by the company, which is by far the largest producer of indigo goods of this kind in the country.

Seek "Real" Reductions.

The sentiment among large garment buyers is that prices on the better grades of merchandise ought to show further reductions. They count on receiving these revisions when Spring buying starts. Not only are buyers after greater bargains, but they look for some "real" reductions, rather than the adjustment concessions of $15 a garment in place of values that are only some $2 or $3 lower. It is pointed out that the principal drawback to lower prices mentioned by manufacturers is that of high labor cost. Retail opinion is that lower prices should not be obtained through reduced wages, but through increased efficiency and smaller profit margins.

Desire Sounder Basis.

Although the constant readjustment of woolen prices operates in favor of buyers, the latter are not so satisfied with the frequent price fluctuations. Some of the largest cutters-up believe that, if the woolen market was on a firmer basis, their own business would benefit. Thus, it was pointed out by one representative garment manufacturer that price readjustments in woolens upset the trade so that the retail buyers keep constantly asking for lower values. He explained that the mills which have not received sufficient business to operate even part of their machinery are quoting new prices that must be met by the rest of the market.

Must Not Look for Profits.

A representative resident buyer stated yesterday that the retail concern looking for a profit during the present year is making a mistake that may react to its future prosperity. He explained that great care should be taken in looking into sales that are missed, because a lost sale is now equivalent to three sales actually made. "The greatest effort," he said, "should now be made to keep prices so low that the public will be forced to make purchases. In this way an increased volume will make up for any capital loss that is suffered in marking goods on a replacement basis. It seems quite certain that the store which gets customers during this critical period will hold them when times become improved."

Act Quickly on Post Complaints.

Quick action has been taken by the Post Office authorities on the complaint registered recently by the Associated Dress Industries of America regarding improper handling of parcel post packages, which was said to have caused considerable loss to the dress manufacturing trade. In reply to the association's complaint, Post Office officials promised action that would assure the proper delivery of parcel post packages in the future, and explained that a careful investigation of the matter had brought out the fact that the deliveries complained of, in most cases, were chargeable to employes temporarily assigned to assist in the work. The association has promised its co-operation in the elimination of the evil.

Big Rug Auction Next Week.

Between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 worth of rugs and carpetings manufactured by the Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet Company will be sold at auction here next week through Wilmerding, Morris & Mitchell in the company's salesrooms at 105 and 107 Fifth Avenue. The offering will include about 45,000 bales of various qualities and sizes of Axminster, velvet and tapestry goods, most of which were sold yesterday to be now in stock. The sale will begin on Tuesday at 10 A. M. and will continue on the following days at the same hour. Samples will be ready for inspection on Monday. Terms of sale are 4 per cent., sixty days from Jan. 1, 1921, and anticipation will be permitted at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum. Payments will be made in New York funds. All goods will be sold free on board mills, and bill of lading will constitute delivery.

May Change Selling Methods.

The lateness with which jobbers' Spring buying is getting under way, particularly in the case of underwear and staple hosiery, led to the suggestion here yesterday that a new way of doing business may result. In other words, if the season "pulls out," both for the wholesalers and retailers, in spite of the delay it was predicted that the practice of first-hands of pricing goods long periods in advance of the time they are sold to the consumer would probably be relegated to the background. This practice is charged with causing loss to manufacturers, in the past, when unforeseen happenings forced raw materials or labor up between the time prices were made and the time of delivery. It was retained because no other way of doing business was thought possible. The coming season is expected to show whether that belief is right or not.

BUSINESS NOTES.

On Monday, Stix, Baer & Fuller of St. Louis will hold a formal opening of new sections of the store opened to the public. Through the expansion of existing departments, the floor space occupied has been increased to 300,000 square feet. The concern was started in 1892.

William D. Harvey for thirty-four years with Foster, Harvey & Co., wholesale dry goods, has retired and the present concern will be dissolved, to be followed by the incorporation of the business under the same name.

MORTGAGE OUTLOOK GROWING BRIGHTER

LARGE FIFTH AVENUE LOAN

Evidences of additional activity in the mortgage market were shown yesterday in the recording of the mortgage building loan of $5,000,000 made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company on the twenty-two-story Cunard building, now nearing completion at the southwest corner of Broadway and Morris Street; and the placing by Lawrence, Blake & Jewell for the 845 Fifth Avenue Corporation of a first mortgage of $1,100,000, on the recently completed eleven-story apartment house at the southeast corner of Sixty-sixth Street and Fifth Avenue. The structure has a frontage of 50 feet on the avenue and 160 feet on the street. It overlaps the Vincent Astor home on the Sixty-fifth Street corner. The corporation is headed by William Henry Barnum and eight apartments have been rented. There is only one apartment to a floor of nineteen rooms, with the exception of the ground floor.

The Cunard building mortgage, made to the Twenty-five Broadway Corporation, will run to May 1, 1931, bearing interest at 6 per cent. outside the completion of the building and thereafter 5½ per cent.

An announcement by William A. White & Sons showed that the firm has placed within the last two months forty mortgage loans aggregating nearly $3,500,000. They were all placed at 6 per cent. interest and eleven of them were made to complete new buildings. Twenty-nine of the loans were placed with savings banks, three with life insurance companies and the balance with estates, mortgage companies, and private individuals.

Among the more important were: $600,000 to Rogers, Peet Company on 542-46 Broadway, through to Fourth Avenue, recently purchased from the Astor estate. $170,000 on 126-130 East Fifty-ninth Street through to 127 East Fifty-eighth Street. $115,000 to Tams Music Library on its new building, 318-20 West Forty-sixth Street. $125,000 to complete a new garage at 4350 Broadway. $160,000 to the Dose Engineering Company for its new service station at 529-33 West Fifty-fifth Street through to 524-28 West Fifty-sixth Street. $300,000 on the Hamilton building, 125 Greenwich Street. $160,000 on the new building at 92-96 Gold Street. $130,000 on 28 West Fortieth Street. $170,000 to Samuel Peck on 130-32 West Thirty-fourth Street, and $125,000 to the Lewis estate on 23 West Fifty-second Street.

In discussing mortgage conditions E. C. Benedict of the Charles F. Noyes Company said:

"The recent advance in the price of Government bonds and high-class municipal and railroad bonds is having a salutary effect on the supply of money available for mortgages. For some months past the highest grades of securities have been selling on an attractive basis and it has been difficult to interest investors in real estate mortgages, as they could secure from bond investments a greater rate than can legally be paid on mortgages.

"With this situation changed, substantial sums are coming in the market and prospects for further large offerings at an early date are excellent. We need not expect to see at present any loans made at less than 6 per cent. interest. What the new year will bring forth it is difficult to foretell, but there is every indication of marked improvement.

"Such funds as have been invested the last few months have been very largely by savings banks and life insurance companies. Funds are available for mercantile and business properties and we have more money to loan on first-class applications than has been the case for many months."

DISCUSS HOUSING PLANS.

Long Island Realty Men Doubt Any Great Impetus.

The Long Island Real Estate Board had as the chief topic of discussion at its weekly luncheon yesterday at the Café Boulevard the legislation recently enacted whereby buildings for dwelling purposes erected within the next two years may be exempt from taxation for a period of ten years.

It was announced that the sentiment on the question was divided, but that a majority of members appeared to favor the bill as it appears on the statute books, believing, it was said, that it would afford additional housing accommodations, provided there is a substantial reduction in the cost of labor and materials. With building costs as now prevailing the members did not consider that there would be any substantial increase in the number of apartments built for the family of average means.

The majority of the members were of the opinion that this law will not bring about the construction of any apartment houses at less than $25 a room." It was also said that the only solution of the housing problem in New York City is decreased cost of labor and materials.

Stephen Yates, President of the organization, read a letter which he had received from the Lockwood Investigating Committee, indorsing the organization for its promised support in the revelations of the building scandal.

Spruce Street Corner Sale.

William H. Whiting & Co. sold for Oscar and Charles Jeffery to an investing client the five-story building located on the northwest corner of Spruce Street and 83 Gold Street.

Commercial Lease.

Focher & Co. leased for the Chain Shirt Shops the two stores at 786-788 Seventh Avenue to Floyd Grant Auction Rooms. The Floyd Grant Company was forced to seek new quarters on account of fire which recently destroyed their place where they had been located for the last ten years.

James E. Barry leased for the estate of Thomas Lenane for a term of years the old buildings on the east side of St. Nicholas Avenue, 45 feet north of 171st Street. The lessee will renovate them.

The Biltmore Realty Corporation leased for the 114 West Forty-Fourth Street Corporation the entire fifth floor in the building at 114 West Forty-fourth Street to Lockhead Dental Laboratory for a term of years.

Louis Schrag has leased the store at 228 West Twenty-Third Street in the Chelsea Hotel to the Greater Engineering Company, and for Ritchle & Cornell the store at 140 West Twenty-Third Street to Saul Becker.

The Chain

"BUSINESS thru repeat orders" is the slogan of progressive firms today. And what is true of the development of a mercantile establishment, is equally as true of the growth of a service-rendering organization such as our own.

It was the comprehensive tax and accounting service of our organization that formed the first link in the chain of its business friends.

These friends have in turn been responsible for others, until today our extensive clientele is a fitting tribute to the principles by which this organization is guided.

BROOKLYN GAS CO. PUTS RATE AT $1.50

Increase for Kings County Announced as Result of Federal Decision.

O'BRIEN TO APPEAL CASE

Public Service Commission's Counsel Says Rise Cannot Become Effective for 30 Days.

Ralph Elsman, Vice President and General Manager of the Kings County Lighting Company, announced yesterday that the company would increase its charge for gas to $1.50 a thousand cubic feet. The present rate is 95 cents, 15 cents more than the statutory rate. Recently Special Master Gordon Auchincloss, named to take testimony in the suit of the company to have the statutory rate declared unconstitutional, reported in favor of the company. He said the present cost of making and distributing gas was $1.20.

In approving the report the Federal Court put the making of a higher rate up to the company with the statement that if the new price was unreasonable the court would hear an application from the defendants for the annulment of the injunction restraining the county, city and State authorities from attempting to enforce the 80-cent law.

Terence Farley, chief counsel of the Public Service Commission, said the new rate could not become effective for thirty days, that the company would have to file a schedule with the commission, and that while the commission has no power to suspend the tariff, it has the right to appeal to the court if the rate is unreasonable. He said an appeal would be immediately taken to the United States Supreme Court.

Corporation Counsel John P. O'Brien denounced the proposed rate as unreasonable and extortionate. "Prices are beginning to crumble," he said. "There are 3,500,000 men out of work in the United States, the cost of coal and coal oil is coming down and will soon reach a low figure. I stated in reference to the suit of the Consolidated Gas Company that that company could earn 11 per cent. on its investment at the 80-cent rate, and the situation of the Kings County Lighting Company is practically the same. I feel certain that a way will be found to prevent the company from imposing this heavy load upon its consumers."

Mr. Elsman said the $1.50 rate was fixed under a decree of the Federal Court which declared the old rate unconstitutional and confiscatory.

"The new rate is as low," he said, "as the company can possibly make it and continue to supply gas."

Federal Judge Mayer yesterday approved the report of the special master which sustained the contention of the New York and Queens Gas Company that the law restraining it from charging more than $1 per thousand cubic feet for gas was confiscatory and unconstitutional, and that the county, city and State authorities should be restrained from attempting to enforce it. He said the evidence showed it cost the company more than $1 to make and distribute gas, and that while the court was not a rate-making tribunal, it was its duty to determine whether an act was constitutional.

MISS PANKHURST GETS BAIL.

Must Drop Revolutionary Activity Pending Appeal of Sentence.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Sylvia Pankhurst, who was sentenced to six months' imprisonment Oct. 28 on being adjudged guilty of attempting to cause sedition in the navy, was released today on £2,000 bail pending an appeal.

Miss Pankhurst signed an undertaking to sever her connection with the newspaper, The Workers' Dreadnought, an article in which, entitled "Discontent on the Lower Deck," figured in the charges against her. The undertaking also pledged her to abstain from attending public meetings pending the hearing of the case in January.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS ON VIEW.

Flowers, Fruits and Vegetables Are Shown at American Institute Fair.

A fine display of flowers, fruits and vegetables and a chrysanthemum exhibition opened the eighty-ninth annual fair of the American Institute of the City of New York in the Engineering Building, 25 West Thirty-ninth Street, last evening. This has been a bad season for chrysanthemums and there are fewer of the beautiful Fall blossoms than usual, but those shown are fine in color and quality. There is a large showing of dahlias, roses and carnations, pears, apples and grapes and vegetables. Preserved in alcohol is a single strawberry plant which has yielded nearly two quarts of berries. Black strawberries also are shown.

Among the private exhibitors are Mrs. Payne Whitney, Mrs. H. McK. Twombley, Convent, N. J.; Howard Cole, Madison, N. J.; Oliver Jennings and the Countess Mildred Holstein of Edgehill, Pa. The exhibition is free to the public and will continue today and tomorrow from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M.

QUICK VERDICT BY WOMEN.

A jury of women for the second time in the history of New Jersey, brought in a verdict yesterday. This jury served in the Bayonne District Court before Judge Peter L. Stillwell and it took just 11 minutes to come to a decision.

The case was a suit brought by Samuel Lichtenstein of 131 West Twenty-second Street, Bayonne, to recover $40 he claimed as a month's rent from Mrs. Sarah Bennett of 72 West Fifty-second Street. In November, 1919, Mrs. Bennett rented an apartment at 29 East Twenty-ninth Street from Philip Mandell. She said she had an agreement not to pay rent until the furnace was fixed. Before this was done Lichtenstein bought the house and Mrs. Bennett moved. It took nearly three hours to hear the case. Mrs. Mary Angel of 11 West Twenty-ninth Street, was the foreman. The verdict was for the defendant.
